

Cardinals Start Selection Of New Church Head Today

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Roman Catholic College of Cardinals held a final Mass and consultations today, preparatory to entering a secret conclave for the most important papal election of modern times.

The 80 princes of the church present for the election of Pope John's successor were scheduled to enter the sealed-off conclave area of the Vatican's apostolic palace at 6 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT). They will not come out until they choose a new leader of the world's half billion Catholics.

Actual balloting does not begin until Thursday morning. After entering the conclave area this evening, the cardinals will spend their time getting settled in their "cells."

The day's schedule called for the cardinals to celebrate Mass this morning in St. Peter's Basilica, hold the last of a series of daily meetings that began on June 4, the day after Pope John XXIII died, and then proceed in procession into the Sistine Chapel, cutting off contact with the outside world.

Church circles in Rome said the election is the most important in modern times. The choice of the next Pope will determine whether John's bold church reforms and drive toward Christian unity will be continued.

The two cardinals not attending the conclave were Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty, who has been in the U.S. legation in Budapest since the Hungarian revolt was crushed in 1956, and Carlos Maria Cardinal De La Torre, 66, of Quito, Ecuador, who is ill.

More cardinals from more nations were participating in this conclave than any previous papal election. In the 1958 conclave which elected John to succeed the late Pius XII, 51 cardinals took part.

Doomed Film Star, Pedro Armendariz, Claims Own Life

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Film star Pedro Armendariz, knowing he would die of cancer within a year, shot and killed himself Tuesday in his hospital room at the UCLA Medical Center.

He was found by his wife, Carmen, when she returned from lunch. The bullet of a .357 Colt Magnum from his personal gun collection had gone through his chest and spent itself against a door.

Mrs. Armendariz said her 51-year-old husband had appeared to be in good spirits although he had been in considerable pain the night before. She said she knew the gun was in his luggage but had thought nothing of it because he usually carried one with him when he traveled.

Armendariz, who appeared in such films as "St. Francis of Assisi," "The Littlest Outlaw" and "Tulsa," was suffering from cancer of the lymph gland. He had been told earlier he "probably only had about a year to live," a medical center spokesman said.

In the past few years, Armendariz divided his time between Europe and North America although he achieved his greatest fame in Mexico where he won the equivalent to the Academy Award for "Border River" in 1952.

He made 42 films in Mexico from 1935 to 1944 before coming to the United States for his first film, "The Fugitive," directed by John Ford and also starring Henry Fonda.

Armendariz was a close friend of actor John Wayne and appeared with him in many of the 135 motion pictures he made during his career.

Favorite is Montini

The top favorite as next pontiff was Giovanni Battista Cardinal Montini, 65, the "liberal" archbishop of Milan. He was a close friend of Pope John and was a top contender to succeed Pius XII in 1958.

Other leading candidates included Gregory Peter Cardinal Agagianian, 67, the Armenian who heads the church's missionary services; Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro, 71, the archbishop of Bologna; Ernesto Cardinal Ruffini, 75, archbishop of Palermo; Giovanni Cardinal Urbani, 63, Patriarch of Venice, and Carlo Cardinal Confaloniere, 69, a curia member.

More often than not, however, the College of Cardinals has not named a favorite. Pope John, then Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, was relatively unknown when he was elected in 1958.

Election requires a two-thirds majority of the cardinals present.

F. Kennaday New Juvenile Council Head

Forrest Kennaday of Glide was elected unanimously Tuesday night to serve as chairman of the Douglas County Juvenile Advisory Council.

His vice chairman will be John Seasons of Riddle.

The election took place at the last fiscal year meeting of the group, but it was decided that since it is strongly possible a youth work camp will get under way this summer, the council should meet during the summer.

The youth camp establishment depends on approval by the Douglas County Court and budget committee. This decision on the budget item will be made about July 1.

Circuit Court Judge Charles Woodrich said at the meeting Tuesday that if the budget committee does give its approval after the public hearing, it might take time to find a supervisor.

The plan is to start the youth camp for delinquents with about seven or eight boys this summer. The boys would live at the Winchester Wayside Park at least for the next year. The park will not be open for public use while a new bridge for the Interstate 5 freeway is being built.

Kennaday suggested that if the camp is operating, the July 16 meeting should be held at the camp itself.

Retiring Chairman Ralph Peterson reported on the last state advisory board meeting at which plans were laid for the annual workshop at Klamath Falls Oct. 18 and 19.

ON THE CAMPUS at Oregon State University at Corvallis were these 73 Douglas County 4-Hers who attended 4-H Summer School last week. The participants, 1,800 in all, were recipients of scholarships from farm organizations, service clubs, home extension units, and PTA's, as well as banks and other institutions. Classes and activities included agricultural and home economics training, leadership, economics and other related subjects. (Photo by Hise Studio, Corvallis)

County Youth Chosen At OSU 4-H Summer School

Toni Ollivant of Lookingglass and Robert Mill of Yoncalla were elected as officers by Douglas County 4-Hers to represent the county contingent (some 73 boys and girls in all) which attended the recent 4-H Summer School held on the campus of Oregon State University at Corvallis.

Other areas from the county were represented when the choice was made for officers of the various living groups at the week-long session attended by 4-Hers from all over the state.

Those named for office in their respective quarters were Vicki Ruppert, Days Creek, and Marie Melsker, Reedsport, vice presidents; Alan Young, Melrose, president; Colleen Martin, Days Creek, Laurey Hansen, Oakland, Georgianna Sanders, Elgarose, and Joe Brumbach, Dixonville, all elected social chairmen; Alan Brandon, Reedsport, and Gary Daneer, Myrtle Creek, secretary-treasurer; and Judy Abraham, Elkton, song leader.

All of the above served as part of the student governing bodies for their various groups. The young people, all 4-H scholarship recipients, are bringing back glowing reports of their experiences at the school.

Kennedy Planning European Junket Despite Objections

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's controversial European trip shaped up today as a sentimental pilgrimage to the Old Sod sandwiched between critical cold war talks with troubled Allies.

New political uncertainties in Italy appeared to strengthen rather than diminish the President's determination to go through with the 12-day odyssey, despite advice at home and abroad that the trip was ill-starred and should be postponed.

Highlights of his tour of Germany, which begins Sunday, include visits to two points on the Communist-built wall dividing Berlin and an address to 15,000 American combat troops massed at a U.S. base 15 miles east of Frankfurt.

Kennedy's major address during four days in Germany will be made in Frankfurt at the Paulskirche (St. Paul's Church), where the first all-German parliament was convened in 1848.

He will talk with a number of German officials, including outgoing Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Socialist Mayor Willy Brandt of Berlin.

After Germany, the President has scheduled three days in Ireland for trips to the ancestral home at Dunganstown and other points reputed to be connected with the Kennedys who came to America.

Kennedy is expected to address the Irish Parliament, an honor never before accorded a foreigner.

From Ireland Kennedy flies to England and a one-day visit with beleaguered Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at his private country home at Birch Grove, far from London's current sin and security scandal.

The next stop still is listed as Italy, where the White House says Kennedy will spend July 1 and 2 conferring with Italian President Antonio Segni, and "other Italian leaders."

City Near Goal In Bond Drive

Roseburg banks reported the city's goal in the current Freedom Bond drive is growing closer, with two weeks left to go to the deadline.

During the week ending last Friday, $5,287.50 worth of bonds were sold. This raised the drive sales since the beginning of the drive May 1 to $48,810. The goal, which local leaders hope to see reached by July 4 is $57,000.

Local Banker Named

W. E. Garrison of Roseburg has been named to the executive council of the Oregon Bankers Association.

He was elected to the post during the association's 58th annual convention which ended Tuesday in Portland. S. J. Gjerde of Portland was elected president of the association.

Administration Report Says Many Russian Troops Are Out Of Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — High administration officials said today they had evidence that many more Soviet troops had been removed from Cuba than had been publicly known.

They said intelligence information also indicated that Russia's four groups of combat troops in Cuba—previously totaling 5,000 to 6,000 men—had either been partially removed or dispersed into other units.

But the administration is not sure of its information. There are disputes among U.S. experts how to evaluate it. Some officials, concerned daily with Cuban policy, appear not to have been given all the information known to the White House.

The first official report of the new information came from accounts of a private "background" briefing that Secretary of State Dean Rusk gave a group of newsmen, who invited him to dinner Monday night.

Rusk's report has now been leaked through a number of channels and essentially confirmed by several administration officials. Rusk gave no numbers. But he said there was evidence of a "substantial sending out" of Soviet forces in Cuba to a greater extent than the public has been told.

The last public report in any detail by the administration on Soviet military strength in Cuba was made by President Kennedy at a news conference April 3. Kennedy said the "rough calculation" of the number of Russian troops in Cuba at the height of the October missile crisis was 21,000 to 22,000. He said an estimated 5,000 were withdrawn in November when the Russians pulled their long range missiles out of Cuba, and an estimated 4,000 more were withdrawn by April.

At another news conference April 24, Kennedy said 4,000 or 5,000 had left since January. The figures, depending on which ones are used, indicated 11,000 to 13,000 troops remained in April. At that time administration officials also told newsmen there was no evidence any of the 5,000 to 6,000 combat troops included in the totals had left.

Roseburg Police Flush Youngsters From Beach

Roseburg city police Monday night flushed out a party of young folks at Templin Beach on the South Umpqua River.

They report, a couple of car loads of the young people were preparing to leave, and did so after their identifications had been checked, but four others still there ran, when the officers called to them.

An officer ran in pursuit and overtook two 18-year-old boys and a 17-year-old boy and a 12-year-old girl. They denied drinking, but a later search of the beach revealed six cans and a bottle of beer buried in the sand at the scene.

Nazarenes Announce Activities For Summer

Swimming, athletics, conventions, rallies and Vacation Bible school will complete this summer's activities at the Roseburg Nazarene Church.

Bible School, which began June 10, will continue through Friday. The annual Bible school program will be held on Thursday of this week. Children from all the classes will participate.

Softball, archery, volleyball, swimming, athletics, and crafts are part of a daily camp program at the Nazarene campground in Clackamas. The summer camp, lasting from June 17 to June 29, is for 8 through 11-year-old boys and girls.

The Oregon Pacific District Camp meeting will be held July 21-28 at the district center near Portland. The camp meeting (educational services, dinners, prayer hours, children's services, missionary meetings, and preaching) is for the older members of the church. Teenagers are invited to sing in the choir during the convention and participate in a recreation hour and a campfire service each day.

A district assembly was held this week, and a missionary society convention is scheduled for July 19-20 at the campground.

7 things to tell your son when he first borrows the family car

1. Remember what you learned to get your driver's license, and you'll be a better driver. Eight out of ten car accidents stem from improper driving practices—such as speeding, failing to yield right-of-way and following other cars too closely. Truck drivers and other professionals have very few accidents—mile for mile, about one-quarter as many as other drivers. The professionals know the rules of good driving—and obey them.
2. If the car won't start, there are a number of simple things worth trying. Use the starter in short bursts. Press accelerator to the floor once, then release it quickly just before you try starter. With manual shift, keep clutch pedal all the way down. With automatic transmission, make sure gear selector is at exactly the right spot.
3. Courtesy is contagious—and adds to everyone's driving pleasure. Nobody ever cured a traffic jam by losing his temper. If you can keep your sense of humor and wait your turn, everyone will probably get where he's going sooner—including you.
4. Cars respond to good care. Have the oil, battery and water checked every time you stop for gasoline. When you're driving, listen for unusual mechanical sounds. If you hear one, have it checked right away. It could save a big repair bill later on.
5. Don't take other drivers for granted. They sometimes do unexpected things. In the U.S. in 1962, they ran into stationary objects more than 164,000 times.

So don't be too optimistic. Cars do sometimes enter intersections carelessly—especially when there's no stop sign. A car coming from the other direction might swing into your lane on a hill or curve.

Your best protection is to drive defensively. The only driver you can really be sure of is yourself.

6. If you're going to be late, call home. And if car trouble is the reason, call the nearest service station, too.

Don't try to make repairs close to a busy road—could be dangerous. Instead, park well off the traffic lanes, put the hood up to show you're disabled—and wait in or near the car until help arrives.

Note from Shell: Thousands of Shell dealers go to special training schools each year. There, they learn how to spot trouble in a hurry. They can be helpful to you in almost any emergency.

7. Have a good time. So far, almost everything you've heard about cars has to do with safety. Now you're about to find out what a pleasure they can be. Here are the keys. Just take your responsibilities in stride. And have fun.

Comforting fact for parents: Drivers with less than three months' experience account for very few serious accidents—a good sign most new drivers do take their responsibilities seriously. So you can relax.

SHELL DEALERS DE-BUNK A MYTH ABOUT CAR CARE

It's a myth that you should let some air out of your tires when traveling on a hot day.

Today's tires are built to take the extra pressure that builds up during hot weather driving. So, don't deflate them on hot days—or you may find them very low the following morning. Do get your Shell dealer to check your tires before you start a long trip. Proper pressure will decrease chances of tire trouble during hot weather highway driving—also lead to longer tire life.

That's the real lowdown. You can count on your local Shell dealer for straight facts and honest work. See him regularly.
