CARDINAL MONTINI BECOMES POPE PAUL VI

Exiled Commandos Believed Linked With Castro's Foes

MIAMI (UPI)—Exile commandos were believed to have joined up today with anti-Castro forces in Cuba where a multi-point landing successfully penetrated the island's Communist defenses.

Miami's huge Cuban refugee colony, still throbbing with excitement over Thursday's surprise announcement by the Cuban Revolutionary Council, were eagerly waiting radio reports from the commandos.

A radio broadcast from Cuba late Thursday night reported that militiamen fought with a group of eight heavily armed, anti-Castro forces in the vicinity of "El Camino." The broadcast did not say if the rebels were of the invading commandos or guerrillas operating in the mountains of Oriente, Las Villas and Pinar Del Rio provinces.

The broadcast said the anti-Castroists opened fire without warning late Thursday afternoon and were repelled with sub-machine gun fire. There was no report on casualties.

Government radio messages picked up by the UPI monitoring center here announced that three air force jets—presumably Soviet-built—had been ordered into the air and told Cuban military and naval installations to maintain "permanent vigilance."

The State Department, however, announced it had "no confirmation" of the landings and the Pentagon in Washington said it was unable to substantiate the council's communique.

The landings were made in open defiance of:

—The United States' "no-raid" policy on Cuba.

—Soviet warnings against further outside exile activity.

—Premier Fidel Castro's threat to attack any exile bases operating in the Caribbean.

Authoritative council sources emphasized that "relatively few" men were involved in the landings. There is "no truth" to reports that as many as 500 men landed, the sources said.

The landings followed by only 10 days an attack on the northern coast of Cuba by an exile group which captured two Castro militiamen and brought them here. Government authorities are still trying to decide how to return the militiamen to Havana as they have requested.

Steel Factions Reach Accord On Contract

By DICK FONTANA
PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The steel industry and United Steelworkers union stepped forth today as the epitome of collective bargaining.

Climaxing six months of informal negotiations, the parties announced agreement Thursday on a 21-month contract which features a unique extended vacation plan the union says will create up to 25,000 new jobs in the industry.

And for the second consecutive year the steelworkers passed up a straight wage increase for job security.

The contract becomes effective Aug. 1 of this year. It can be reopened upon 120 days' notice anytime after Jan. 1, 1965, thus assuring labor peace in the industry during the presidential year of 1964.

The union said contracts should be signed by next week.

In Washington, White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said President Kennedy was "gratified by the early agreement in steel." He deferred further comment.

The vacation plan will become effective Jan. 1, 1964, for half the industry's 423,000 workers. Under the setup, workers at each of the respective "big 11" steel companies ranked on the upper 50 per cent of the seniority list will receive 13 weeks vacation every five years. This is in addition to their regular vacations.

Those workers will receive a plan that takes effect will receive a comparable cash payoff, a bonus week and their regular vacation time pay.

The other 50 per cent of the workers will also benefit, getting up to three additional weeks of paid vacation in the next five years.

The USW has a similar plan with the can industry which goes into effect at the same time.

The bargaining agent was the Human Relations Committee (HRC), a union-management body appointed following the record 116-day strike in 1959. Its goal was informal periodic negotiations to reach contract accord without deadlines and strike pressures. The successful conclusion marked the first time in the union's history it achieved a contract without formal bargaining or a strike.

British Leader Quells Revolt Over Sex Affair

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today announced a judicial inquiry into the Profumo scandal. Labor leader Harold Wilson called the plan "totally inadequate."

Macmillan, firmly in control of his government again after quelling a revolt in the ranks of the Conservative party over the affair, appointed Jurist Lord Denning to head the inquiry.

War Minister John Profumo resigned June 4 after admitting that 21-year-old playgirl Christine Keeler had been his mistress. She had shared her favors with Capt. Eugene Ivanov, Soviet naval attaché and suspected intelligence agent. Profumo was censured in Parliament Thursday for lying about the affair.

Macmillan said the inquiry would "examine in the light of the circumstances leading to the resignation of Profumo, the operation of the security services and the adequacy or the cooperation with the police in matters of security."

He said it would "consider any evidence there may be for believing that national security has been or could be endangered."

Labor wants more than a judicial investigation. It demands a parliamentary committee with the power to examine all documents and call any witness, even Macmillan.

France Plans Naval Pullout

PARIS (UPI)—France has notified the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) it is pulling some naval units out of the unified NATO command, an American NATO source said today.

The move appeared to be in line with President Charles de Gaulle's policy of increasing French national autonomy. It came as a blow to United States efforts to build a tight-knit NATO force.

The source said French naval units guarding the English Channel and the Bay of Biscay would be removed from the unified command. This will not affect French units serving under unified NATO command in the Atlantic, however, the source said.

The forces involved are reported to include one aircraft carrier, six destroyers and 12 destroyer escorts.

France already keeps large portions of its army and air force tightly under French control and has rejected President Kennedy's proposal for a multi-lateral nuclear striking force.

Neither NATO headquarters nor the French defense ministry would comment on the reports, which said the permanent NATO Council would meet soon to discuss France's stand.

The reports said France's navy would work in cooperation with the NATO forces in case of war but would remain under French leadership.

Forest Fire Doused

A small fire in an old logging operation was discovered Thursday at 11:19 a. m. on the east fork of Willis Creek.

The Douglas Forest Protective Association rushed to the scene of the fire which had been found by an inspector of the DFPFA. No damage was listed and no cause was given for the fire.

Wet Weather Predicted

The five-day weather forecast according to the Weather Bureau station at the Roseburg airport calls for temperatures averaging below normal with recurring showery periods. Amounts of precipitation will be above the seasonal normal.

Lumber Meets Lack New Developments

PORTLAND (UPI)—No new developments in the Northwest's lumber strike were reported Thursday following a meeting between officials of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (LSW) and Georgia-Pacific Corp.

A company spokesman said the meeting was concerned mostly with pensions. A representative of the union said its principle value was in "breaking down the barriers."

The company is continuing to operate on an extension of its contract which expired June 1.

The next meeting between labor and management in the lumber industry is scheduled here Monday when the LSW gets together with officials of the Timber Operators Council, which represents 196 employers from northern California to southeastern Alaska.

Meanwhile, more than 19,000 workers remain idle from a strike by the LSW and the International Woodworkers of America against St. Regis Paper Co. and U.S. Plywood Corp., and a retail store shutdown by Weyerhaeuser, Crown Zellerbach, Rayonier and International Paper.

Treasurer Gets State Funds For Local School Districts

Douglas County Treasurer Bert Lawrence reported today the state Department of Education has forwarded a total of $192,864.57 to his office for distribution to the school districts within the county.

The money came in form of final payment of the fiscal year on the balance due from the basic school support fund. Distribution is handled through L. E. Marschat, director of school finance and statistical services of the Department of Education.

Roseburg's School District 4 received the largest payment in the county, $92,393.32. Smallest payment was $52.02 to the Ash Valley District 125 at Reedsport.

Lawrence released the following list of payments to the Douglas County districts:

Oakland, $2,678.60; Canyonville, $3,437.41; Gardiner, $775.16; Glide, $4,343.97; Days Creek, $1,584.19; Myrtle Creek, $18,270.99; Camas Valley, $706.53; Drain, $9,863.98; Yoncalla, $6,274.86; Elkton, $1,268.10; Umpqua, $443.55; Riddle, $3,220.97; Glendale, $9,889.49; Reedsport, $8,099.14; Winston-Dillard, $7,550.32; Sutherlin, $17,897.45; Reedsport Union High, $2,186.45.

Lawrence said he has received $44,395.96 from the state Department of Motor Vehicles as Douglas County's share of the state trailer house license fees.

The county treasurer has also received $6,163.81 from the state general fund for maintaining county fairs. This appropriation is based on a valuation of taxable property under the equalization formula established in 1957.

Hoover Gets Messages From Three Successors

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former President Herbert C. Hoover, making an "almost miraculous" recovery from a serious illness, has received messages of concern from three of his successors in the White House.

A family spokesman Thursday night said hundreds of "get well" messages had been received since it was revealed last Friday that Hoover, 88, was in serious condition with anemia and intestinal bleeding.

Among them, the spokesman said, was one from President Kennedy. In addition, he said, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had called daily at Hoover's suite in the Waldorf Towers to inquire about his condition and former President Harry S. Truman had asked to be kept informed.

Early in the day, the physicians attending Hoover in his suite said his improvement was "almost miraculous" and that no further medical bulletins would be issued unless his condition warrants it.

New Pontiff Was Elected On 3rd Vote

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Giovanni Battista Cardinal Montini today was elected pope of the Roman Catholic Church. He chose the name Paul VI.

Montini was a favored candidate before the election began. He has been the Archbishop of Milan.

The Sacred College of Cardinals elected Montini on the second day of balloting in their secret conclave inside the 16th-century Vatican Palace.

The new pontiff, a 65-year-old "liberal" intellectual and close friend of the late Pope John, is the 262nd successor to the throne of St. Peter.

Montini is considered forward-looking and Vatican observers believed he would continue supporting the movements started by Pope John toward church reform, Christian unity and improved relations with the Communist governments.

The big bronze bells of St. Peter's Basilica tolled out the joyous news as a vast crowd of more than 60,000 persons raised a cheer of "viva il papa"—long live the pope—in sun-lit St. Peter's Square.

As Pope Paul VI, Montini appeared on the central balcony of the basilica for the first time in the white robes of pontiff at 12:22 p. m. (4:22 a. m. PDT).

Eighty of the 82 living cardinals had entered the conclave. One emerged a pope in the third round of voting.

Montini's election was announced from the main balcony of the basilica by Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, senior cardinal deacon.

For the first time in his reign, the new leader of the world's half billion Catholics gave a stirring benediction "to the city and to the world." A great roar of applause rose from the throngs after the benediction.

Spotless in his white gowns draped with a richly embroidered stole, Pope Paul VI raised both his hands, palms faced towards his gravely etched face, in acknowledgment of the cheers before the benediction.

During his stirring words, his voice broke with emotion.

The successful election was signaled to the waiting crowds in the square by swirls of white smoke from the smokestack atop the Sistine Chapel where the balloting was held. A few minutes later Vatican Radio announced that a Pope had been chosen.

But it was almost an hour later before the name of the pontiff was announced.

People began converging on the square from all over Rome to be on hand when the new pontiff made his first appearance on the balcony.

The coronation of the new Pope probably will be held within the next 10 days.

Pope Paul VI, a slight dark-skinned man who preceded Pope John, as well as of John. The Milan archbishop was considered a likely candidate to succeed Pius in 1958 when John was elected.

Regarded by his colleagues as unusually intelligent and competent, Pope Paul VI has wide experience earned by 30 years with the Vatican secretariat of state and nine years as Archbishop of Milan, a booming industrial city.

He has been active against the Communists in the Milan region, and the Reds consider him so "dangerous" that they have tried to scare him with bombs.

The new Pope was born in Concesio, a small hamlet north of Brescia, and is one of three brothers. He is the son of a crusading lawyer and journalist who died many years ago.

The family was well off, and the new Pope's brothers chose law and medicine as careers. Brother Ludovico, the lawyer, is now a Christian Democratic senator, and Francesco is a surgeon at the Brescia Hospital.

Giovanni Battista Montini was ordained a priest in May, 1920. He was named to his post in Milan on Nov. 3, 1954.

He was not a cardinal when Pope Pius died, but he still was considered a top candidate to succeed him. He was made a prince of the church by Pope John in December, 1958.

C of C Industry Project Popular

Considerable interest has been shown in the Roseburg (area) Chamber of Commerce promotion of the industry of the month, it was reported at a meeting of the chamber's Payroll Development Committee Thursday night.

The chamber, through this committee, has launched a program to recognize an industry with expansion potential each month.

The first selection was Viletta West's decorated china, a small industry started as a hobby in the Jack West home in Laurelwood. It has grown to proportions where the Wests are considering moving the business out of their basement to larger quarters.

Several considerations, however, must be given to such a move, and the chamber committee is working with the Wests in an effort to help them determine the advisability of such a move.

The chamber is seeking to help expand local industries to increase the payroll potential, and thus the community's economy. It takes the stand that the community will best be served by gradual increases in payrolls, rather than sitting back and hoping for some large industry to locate here. However, assistance will be given in obtaining or helping any large industry interested in a site here.

While not overlooking its first industry promotion—the promotion to call public attention to the effort—the committee is preparing to announce its second industry of the month, which will come Saturday, June 29, as a recognition for July.

Still a third industry selection, for August, is being lined up now, and others are being considered for future announcement.

Phil Quisenberry and Donald Dule are co-chairmen of the committee. Bill Salmon, Pacific Power & Light industrial development representative, is working closely with the group.

House Group Grants Approval To JFK's Budget For Defense

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Appropriations Committee approved President Kennedy's record defense spending plans today almost intact. The committee said that if war could be deterred by strength, the power this country had would deter it.

The committee voted $47 billion to support in the year starting July 1 Army, Navy and Air Force functions for which Kennedy had asked $1.9 billion more. But much of the cut reflected bookkeeping transactions which will not save any money.

The rest of the cut was scattered through most major items, and was calculated to back up the committee's insistence on elimination of waste. No major functions were eliminated or even heavily pared.

In approving the bill the House group joined Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara in virtually writing off the controversial 2,000 mile-an-hour RS70 bomber, for which no additional funds were requested or provided by the committee.

SIAC Official Bows To Mark

SALEM (UPI)—Industrial Accident Commission Chairman Sidney B. Lewis bowed to the governor's demands today and resigned from his $11,700 a year position.

Commissioner Emily P. Logan insisted again today that she would not resign.

Gov. Mark Hatfield last week charged both with "inefficiency in office" and demanded their resignations.

Both Lewis and Mrs. Logan initially announced they would not quit, and demanded a public hearing.

Hatfield has scheduled a hearing for next Monday afternoon.

"Will Appear"

Mrs. Logan told UPI today "I will appear at a hearing."

"I didn't say whether I would or would not appear at a hearing scheduled Monday by the governor," she said.

Lewis and Mrs. Logan both said they asked the governor for a bill of particulars as to why he had demanded their resignations.

Lewis told newsmen today he was quitting because the governor refused to outline reasons for the charges.

"My relationship with the governor has been destroyed by this. I can't appear at a hearing if I don't know what the charges will be. It's like running up a blind alley when there are no specific charges to fight."

Lewis submitted his resignation, effective June 24, to Hatfield's office this morning.

He wrote: "Upon careful deliberation I have decided that there is nothing to be gained by my appearance at the scheduled hearing on June 24. As you told me, you are the prosecutor, judge and jury."

Can Get More

McNamara was told, however, that if the $155 million he had left from this year for this project proved insufficient to complete the three test planes being going, he can get additional money by transfer from another project—Dyna-soar—also on McNamara's unfavored list.

That would mean scrapping Dyna-soar, envisioned as a winged space vehicle or orbiting plane, launched on a missile but capable of being piloted back to a landing. Actually the committee's comments, in a report to the House, indicated that both Dyna-soar and RS70 are fated to go down the drain.

The committee's action, despite the bill's nominal cut of $1.9 billion below the budget request, also pretty well wrecked a Re-

Third Budget Vote Set At Sutherlin

Residents of the Sutherlin school district will go to the polls for the third time July 10 to vote on a budget for the 1963-64 school year.

The total being called for is the same expenditure of $759,583 called for in the last election, plus $300 to cover the cost of the new election. A public hearing is scheduled July 8.

Kennedy Gets Mansfield's Backing For Europe Visit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy was said today to feel that his European trip is necessary to reassure American allies of continued U.S. support for the NATO alliance.

High administration sources said Kennedy felt that uncertainty in key nations of the Western alliance made it doubly important that he restate clearly to them the basic aims of U.S. foreign policy.

The President will leave Saturday night on the 12-day tour of Germany, Ireland, England and Italy despite political turmoil in most of those countries.

He won an endorsement of his trip from Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont. Mansfield told the Senate Thursday that domestic problems should not "compel the President to remain entombed in the White House."

Mansfield said that many changes were in the making on the European political scene and "it seems to me precisely the time for a hard working, card-on-the-table journey."
