

Labor Party Increases Pressure On Macmillan

LONDON (UPI) — The Labor party increased its pressure on Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today for his handling of the Profumo case which threatens to become an international sex-and-spy scandal.

Imanuel Shinwell, labor member of Parliament, said he would ask the government why jailed osteopath Dr. Stephen Ward had not been allowed to identify some of his paintings so he can sell them to pay his lawyers. Ward is being held without bail

Condemned Vet Appeal Shakes 'Bama Governor

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Both men were visibly shaken: the ex-GI who had stormed the rocky beaches of Normandy and the little governor who had defied the U.S. government on the school integration issue.

His eyes moist, the husky combat veteran, now in prison stripes, timidly touched the shoulder of Gov. George Wallace. "Thank you governor, please spare my life," he said.

Wallace grasped the hand of James W. Coburn and quickly turned away, obviously emotional.

"It is a sad and solemn duty the governor must perform," he said later. "I, like many other governors before me, wish this cup would pass from me."

Wallace, a former judge, has until shortly after midnight Thursday to decide whether Coburn will die in the electric chair for the robbery-slaying of Mamie Belle Walker, 35, a tavern operator, in December, 1959.

The white itinerant handyman made a final plea for his life at a hearing Tuesday before Wallace, Coburn, 39, begged Wallace, hearing his first evidence case, to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment so he could "work with Christ."

"I understand the evidence points against me, but in my heart I don't know everything that happened that night," he said. "Give me a chance to prove I'm not the type person people think I am."

Coburn had pleaded innocent at his trial by reason of temporary insanity. His attorney, Mortimer P. Ames, told Wallace that Coburn deserved mercy because of his combat record in World War II. Ames said Coburn was wounded three times and was awarded three Bronze Stars for bravery.

for trial Friday on charges of living off the earnings of prostitutes. The osteopath, who has sketched several members of the Royal family, is a key figure in the Profumo scandal that has shaken Macmillan's government.

Ward introduced call girl Christine Keeler to resigned War Minister John Profumo and former Russian assistant naval attache Eugene Ivanov.

The London Daily Sketch said today British and U.S. security officials believe secret agents from Soviet bloc countries have been using an international call girl ring to obtain secrets from Western diplomats and politicians.

The newspaper, in a front-page article, said evidence on their operations is building up in London, Washington and United Nations headquarters in New York.

Close Cooperation
The Sketch said Britain's counter intelligence organization MI5, working closely with the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) is investigating the possibility that Profumo may have been one of the ring's prime targets.

Two Youths Admit $1,000 Theft Here

Cooperation between a local equipment supply house and police agencies has resulted in recovery of equipment valued at more than $1,000 and the taking into custody of two boys, ages 16 and 17 years.

The property, consisting of three 18-inch blocks, was reported taken from the Roseburg Lumber Co.'s shop at 2031 NE Diamond Lake Blvd., last week.

Saturday, two boys came into the Flury Supply Co. business and offered the blocks, valued at about $500 each, for $35. Henry Flury, suspecting the property might have been stolen, told the boys to leave the blocks and he would have a check for them Monday morning on their return. He notified the sheriff's office instead.

The boys admitted their participation on questioning and were referred to juvenile authorities.

Trial Postponed In Caudill Case

Motion of John Aaron Caudill, 24, of Roseburg to have his trial on a Grand Jury indictment charging assault with intent to commit rape postponed from July 17 was approved by Circuit Court Judge Charles S. Woodrich Tuesday. Another case charging him with burglary was set for that date.

Caudill was indicted on two separate cases of assault to commit rape allegedly involving two different girls, and burglary in each case for alleged entry of the rooms of the girls.

However, on trial in one case he was acquitted of the assault charge. He was allowed to enter a plea to former jeopardy in the burglary case which was reset for July 17, but the judge stated he would not rule on this plea until just prior to trial.

Double Jeopardy Claimed
Caudill contended that since he had been acquitted on the one assault charge, that he would be placed in double jeopardy if tried for the same case on the burglary count.

He asked, in the motion filed by his attorney, that the second assault case be postponed because he does not believe he could obtain a fair trial from the same jury panel from which jurors were picked for the first case. He asked either that the case be postponed, or an entire new jury panel be chosen. The postponement was allowed, and the burglary case substituted.

In other cases before Judge Don H. Sanders Tuesday, Lawrence Joseph Heidenreich, 18, of Idlewild Route, Roseburg, was allowed to plead to a lesser charge of petty larceny for the theft of a clock. He previously had been charged with burglarizing the Deer Creek School on May 8. He was sentenced to one year in the county jail, but placed on probation. He was arrested by a sheriff's deputy.

Probation Ordered
A. F. Harris, 28, Central Point, who pleaded guilty to obtaining money by false pretenses involving a worthless $10 check passed at the Royal Coachman at Glendale April 28, 1962, was placed on probation. Harris already is on probation from Jackson County for 2 1/2 years. Terms of his new probation are that he comply with the rules and regulations as laid down by the Jackson County circuit court.

Donald Lee Clarke, 21, Myrtle Creek, was bound over to Circuit Court from the Justice of Peace Court of Nina Pietzold, Canyonville, following a preliminary hearing on a charge of obtaining property by false pretenses. He was accused of passing a worthless check for $20 at the Sportsman's Club & Cafe and receiving merchandise worth 60 cents and cash from the check.

Heavy Grass Danger, Says W-D Fire Chief

Property owners in the Winston-Dillard area are being urged to cut the grass on their lots before it becomes a fire hazard.

Chief Mike Neeley of the Winston-Dillard Fire Department says the grass is extra heavy and tall this year, and as the season becomes dryer, it will constitute a real danger.

A general cleanup of the area would also help the fire situation, said Neeley.

High Court Upholds Conviction Of Former Winchester Resident

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court has upheld the 25-year robbery conviction of former Winchester resident, Rodger Hall, in connection with the 1959 hold-up-slaying of an Oregon doctor near Gooding.

Hall was convicted on a robbery charge in a Gooding court after first having been acquitted for the fatal shooting of Dr. John Hunt Jr.

Hall lived at Winchester and attended Roseburg High School in the early 1950's.

Hunt was traveling alone in his car from Oregon to visit in the east when he was accosted on U.S. Highway 30 near Gooding.

Hall was traveling in a car with Emmett Spencer and Mary Katherine Hampton, who turned state's witness and was never prosecuted.

"The three," the court said, "after passing Hunt's car and assuring themselves that he was alone, stopped ahead of Hunt. Spencer flagged him to a stop with a road map as a ruse, ostensibly to ask directions."

"He then approached Hunt's car with a gun concealed under the map, forced himself into the car and at gunpoint ordered Hunt to drive off the highway, where he ordered Hunt to deliver his wallet to Hall, which he did."

"Then Spencer shot and wounded Hunt and moved him from under the wheel, drove Hunt's car to a more secluded spot, where his car and belongings were ransacked, and where Hunt was fatally shot by Spencer and left in his car, where he was subsequently found by officers."

The court said Spencer was never apprehended and returned to Idaho.

"It has recently been learned that he is in prison in Florida," the court said, "convicted and awaiting the death penalty for murder committed there."

Justice C. J. Taylor wrote the unanimous opinion.

Man Walks Off Jail Work Gang

Police agencies were on the alert today for a Douglas County jail inmate who walked off a work gang Tuesday.

He is Lloyd DeVere Otterson, 19, of Artesia, Calif., who was serving a six-month jail sentence for taking and using a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

Otterson is described as five feet, 10 1/2 inches tall, weighing 135 pounds, and wearing blue and white clothing, the sheriff's office reports. An all-points bulletin has been issued for his apprehension.

Otterson had pleaded guilty to the charge, which had been reduced from auto theft charge by the district attorney.

Wayne Woodall Powell, 25, Canyonville, has been booked at the Douglas County jail to face a charge of non-support. Bail is set at $1,500.

Beckwith Held Without Bond For Grand Jury

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Former Marine Byron De La Beckwith was held without bond today for grand jury action on a charge that he was the ambush slayer of Negro leader, Medgar Evers.

Municipal Judge James L. Spencer ordered Beckwith held Tuesday after a two-hour hearing at which the slender fertilizer salesman pleaded innocent to the murder charge.

"There is no doubt that the evidence presented in this preliminary hearing should be presented to the grand jury," Spencer said. "We do not decide the guilt or innocence at this preliminary hearing. . . . It is my opinion that the defendant should be bound over without bail."

The grand jury is scheduled to meet Monday, and Dist. Atty. William Waller has said he will present the evidence to the panel at that time. If Beckwith is indicted, Waller said, he would seek the death penalty.

"I submit we came very, very close to proving this man guilty beyond a reasonable doubt," Waller told Spencer.

Defense attorney Hugh Cunningham argued, however, that the evidence was all circumstantial and failed to "incriminate this defendant of any wrongdoing."

The evidence centered around a 30-caliber Enfield rifle found in a vacant lot across from the home of Evers, state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), who was shot down in his driveway June 12 as he returned from a civil rights rally.

LDS Church Sets Building Benefit

An unusual entertainment feature is coming up for the Roseburg area on July 5.

A prominent Hawaiian group will present a colorful program of island song and dance in the Community Building at the Fairgrounds. Their appearance is sponsored by the Roseburg LDS Church as a fund-raising activity for a church building program.

Nineteen native Hawaiians are included in the group. Featured will be a musical menu in the Hawaiian, Tahitian, Samoan and Maori styles, according to a local committee making arrangements.

Show theme will be "A Night in Hawaii." Show time is 8 p.m. Tickets will be on sale at a booth to be set up soon at a downtown location and at Ricketts Music Store.

A special feature of the program will be a dance presentation by Anitra Kuulei Kahanani, 15-year-old. She will do a gourd dance.

The visiting Hawaiians plan to present a special benefit show at the U. S. Veterans Administration Hospital in Roseburg on the afternoon of July 5. They will also do a specialty number during the Fourth of July fireworks display planned at the fairgrounds.

Traffic Court Busy

A total of 39 cases was handled in Roseburg Municipal Court Tuesday night. Seventeen cases were for basic rule violations, seven for non-stop compliance and seven for no operator's licenses. The others were miscellaneous traffic offenses.

House Moves Toward Passage Of $47 Billion Defense Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House moved today toward passage of a $47 billion defense money bill, but members were riled at reports the administration is preparing to cut military strength over the next two years.

Lawmakers who had been assured by the bill's backers that its funds would support maintenance of present forces, and in some cases bolster them, were demanding a fresh explanation from the administration.

Although the bill was trimmed $1.9 billion by the House Appropriations Committee, members told the House the cuts were calculated to effect routine economies, not reduce manpower or other armed might.

But just as debate on the measure ended Tuesday, members read a news dispatch saying the administration was preparing to reduce its overseas military deployments and cut the size of the armed forces over a period of two years.

One Of Several

A military manpower slash of about 60,000—perhaps more—is one of several drastic moves now in prospect as the Kennedy administration seeks to reverse the upward spiral of defense spending and achieve large economies, the dispatch said.

The first reaction of key House members was shocked disbelief. "This is no time for a general slash in our defense program," Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., told a reporter. "I, for one, would certainly go slow in placing an endorsement on changing of our military picture at this time."

Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., a member of the subcommittee, had just told the House to look for some anonymous Pentagon source to report that an unidentified plane had been sighted over Alaska or an unidentified submarine off the Florida coast.

He said that was a standard

Defense Department gimmick whenever its budget was trimmed a little by Congress.

Discounts Report
Flood told the news of a pending cutback as just a new variation of the same old theme, and was inclined to discount it. Moreover, he thought it was "not only bad judgment but stupid" to talk about cutting support forces in Europe even as President Kennedy toured Europe trying to give the NATO alliance a needed shot in the arm.

The reshaping of the defense program, including the manpower cuts, will be reflected in the budget that will be sent to Congress next January. It is expected to end the upward trend in defense outlays.

Criminal Attorney Indicted For 'Hire' Slaying Of Wife

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — A rising young criminal attorney was under indictment for first-degree murder today in the "murder for hire" killing of his heavily insured wife.

A Ramsey County grand jury heard 19 witnesses Tuesday, then returned an indictment at 10:35 p.m. EDT against T. Eugene Thompson, 25, who had insured his wife, Carol, an heiress in her own right, for $1,061,000.

Two other men also have been charged with murder in the clubbing and stabbing of Mrs. Thompson, 24, and mother of four, in the Thompsons' fashionable suburban home March 6.

County Atty. William Randall said Thompson hired Norman Mastrian, 35, Minneapolis, an ex-convict and one-time client, to carry out the slaying. Mastrian, police said, in turn contacted Dick W.C. Anderson, 35, decorated Marine combat veteran and unemployed roofing salesman, to do the actual killing.

It was Anderson's detailed statement Thursday that led police to arrest Thompson at his summer cottage at Forest Lake early Friday. He has been held under $109,000 bond.

The first witnesses before the grand jury were Harry Hushley, one of the first St. Paul policemen to arrive at the Thompson house after the slaying; Dr. Kevin Lawler, pathologist who performed the autopsy on Mrs. Thompson; and Theodore Elzerman, St. Paul police criminologist who examined a pistol used to beat her.

Also testifying were Lt. George Barkley, head of the St. Paul police homicide division; Richard Sharp, a burglary suspect whose statement linked Anderson to the crime; and Lawrence McMullen, Hennepin (Minneapolis) County sheriff's detective.

It was not expected that the case would go to trial before fall. Thompson took out Jan. 15 a 60-day term policy for $50,000. Another policy, with Lloyd's of London, was for $250,000 in travel and accident insurance. Thompson said he carried about $469,000 in insurance on himself.

Hatfield Keynotes Young GOP Confab

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon warned the Young Republican National convention today against "favorite son" campaigns that are carried to the point of "fratricide."

"It's the Democrats we're warming up for," the Republican governor said in his keynote address.

Favorite son presidential candidates are "as natural and as old as political parties themselves," Hatfield said.

But, he said, "the distinction you will have to make is that fine line when individuality becomes fragmentation, when initiative becomes fratricide."

Hatfield said the unrest of Negroes, the Cuban situation, a worsening of the youth employment picture, the stalemate in Laos, squabbles over defense contracts and other items presented the GOP with ammunition for next year.
