DEAR ABBY: I'm sick of all this talk about helping people to "come back." What about those of us who have always been okay? Who helps us? I was married to an alcoholic for 15 years and finally divorced him. Now another alcoholic is ruining my life. She came to work here three months ago. I was nice to her. She confided that she was an alcoholic and a member of A.A. I told the others in the office because I thought they had a right to know. You should see how they reacted! You'd think she was a saint or something. She started dating an important man in the office. (Divorced). One day in the lounge a girl said to her, "You don't look like you've ever had a drink in your life." It was more than I could stand, so I told her the truth. I said, "You look hard and you've earned it." She ran out crying, and hasn't been to work since. Now to one in the office speaks to me. I was taught to be truthful, Abby. What has happened to the world anyway? I'm for honesty. Am I wrong?

DEAR ABBY: My wife claims she was MISS AMERICA of 1935. I would like to know if she really was. Can you tell me?

DEAR ABBY: If your wife was Henrietta Leaver of Pittsburgh, "The Million Dollar Baby from the Five-and-Ten Cent Store," she was indeed Miss America of 1935. Otherwise, she hasn't a beautiful leg to stand on.
