the deuce of trumps after West played low, ruffed dummy's last diamond high, led his last trump overtaking in dummy, cashed dummy's last trump and paused while East considered a discard. At this point East was in a squeeze. He was down to six cards and had to jettison a spade in order to hang on to the ace of clubs. This made all dummy's spades good and gave South his slam.

A—Bid six spades. Your partner has placed the slam in club but you should overrule him.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding four no-trump over your four spades, your partner bids five hearts. What do you do in this case?
Answer Tomorrow

jump right to six in the suit that shows the exact number of aces you hold unless you are afraid that your void suit is one in which your partner is strong. In that case you merely show how many aces you hold.

North's jump to six hearts showed two aces and a void suit. South assumed that the void suit would be clubs. It did not seem likely that it would be diamonds and obviously it wasn't spades.

A conservative South would probably have settled for the small slam on the theory that if East held the club ace there would be no real play for seven, but this particular South was an optimist. He believed that aces were always where they should be in this best of all possible worlds so South went right to seven hearts.

He did not like it when the king of diamonds was opened, but everything worked out nicely. South took dummy's ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond high, led a heart to dummy's eight, ruffed another diamond high, led the king of clubs just to see if the ace would cover and ruffed with
