

THE JAMES B. LIKOWSKI FAMILY has moved to Roseburg and is residing at 343 W. Madrone in Laurelwood as Mr. Likowski will be assistant rector for St. George's Episcopal Church. He will preach his first sermon at St. George's Sunday following his ordination. The coffee hour, after the 11 a.m. service, will be in the form of a reception in the parish house so members of the parish may meet the Likowskis and welcome them officially to St. George's. The Likowskis have two daughters, Ann, 14, and Alice 11, and a son, Boyd, 9. Likowski and his wife, Kathryn, were both graduated from University of California, where he majored in criminology. He served as probation officer for Alameda County and subsequently as superintendent of Lane County Juvenile Detention Home. During his three years in seminary, he worked half-time as playground director for the city of Berkeley. (Picture by Chris.)

Carolyn Wassom Now Mrs. Batsch

Miss Carolyn Anne Wassom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wassom of this city, became the bride of Dennis James Batsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Blosser of Roseburg, at a beautiful candle-light ceremony. The wedding took place Sunday afternoon, June 9, at the First Methodist Church in Roseburg with the Rev. H. James Jenkins officiating at the double ring service.

Peggy Ostrander played the traditional music and marches and accompanied Patricia Blosser, sister of the bridegroom as she sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly."

Baskets of pink peonies, bluebells and yellow iris and the traditional candelabra decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautiful in a street-length dress of white tulle with lace bodice, full skirt and three-quarter lace sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a tiara of pearls and sequins. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Lovely Wedding Held June 15th

At a double ring ceremony in the early evening of June 15, Penelope Sue Ostrander became the bride of Brian Richard Pargeter in a wedding solemnized at the First Presbyterian Church. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charles A. Ostrander; the bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Pargeter, all of Roseburg.

For her wedding Miss Ostrander chose a full-length gown of tulle with a full-length train and a full-length sheer. The simple lines of the gown were richly embellished with Venice lace applique and pearl beadwork at the midriff, with elbow-length sleeves and scoop neckline. The shirt was bell-shaped with controlled fullness in the lines. Her veil was of silk illusion, float length, accented with satin roses and a spray of small, pearl-centered flowers. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried her white Job's Daughter Bible with her bridal bouquet, a cascade of stephanotis with a lovely gold-throated white orchid.

Attending the bride were her sisters, Sharon Lee, maid of honor, and Peggy Jean; and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Myron G. Phillips. Presiding at the guest book was the bride's sister, Miss Susan Ostrander. They were attired in similar fashion in dresses of apple green satin, with bell skirts. The bridesmaids' hair ornaments were rings of daisies in circles of green tulle. Susan wore a band of daisies in her hair. The bridesmaids carried crescent arrangements of daisies and ivy. The small flowergirl, Cari Colleen Phillips, niece of the bridegroom, wore a long, full-skirted dress of daisy sprigged white tulle.

The Rev. John E. Adams read the candlelight ceremony at 7:30 o'clock before an all-white altar of Majestic daisies and Virginia stock, arranged with baby's breath and maidenhair fern. Lighting the cathedral candles in the background was Miss Candy Collins, attired in soft yellow. Sentimental touches were the large white candles at the windows of the sanctuary.

Made by Mrs. T. H. Pargeter for the wedding of the bridegroom's sister, they were lighted by the ushers. Nick Cate of Santa Ana, Calif., served as best man. Roger Johnson of Seattle, Wash., Gary Doyle, cousin of the bridegroom, and George Yost seated the guests. On the piano was the bride's memory candle which she lighted preceding the wedding hour, to burn throughout the ceremony and for future anniversaries. It was decorated in pearls and arranged with white daisies, with accents of green tulle and fern. The candle was a gift from a family friend, Mrs. Jack Chapman.

Baskets of orange blossoms and airy white tulle bows, centered with daisies, graced the nuptial. Sprigs of fern and daisies were used on the white satin bows to mark the center aisle. Arrangements of mixed white flowers in footed milk glass and crystal bowls completed the beauty of the sanctuary.

Prelude music was beautifully played by Mrs. Gordon Stewart, organist. The bride entered on the arm of her uncle, George K. Quine, who with her mother, gave her in marriage. Ernest Shippen sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The newlyweds received more than 200 guests at a reception which followed in the social room of the church. Background music was played by Miss Daphne Phillips. Decorating for the reception were Mrs. Jack Chapman and daughters, Miss Sherrill Chapman and Mrs. Lee Conn; and Mrs. Charles S. Collins and daughter, Mrs. John Edgington of Estacada. Orange blossoms, roses, delphinium, rhododendron and white gladioli were effectively arranged about the room, with accents of daisies, the wedding theme flower. The flowers came from the gardens of Mrs. Gordon Stewart, Mrs. Lou Masters and Mrs. U. F. McLaughlin.

Green tulle over white linen damask graced the two serving tables, caught up at the corners with sprays of fern and daisies. The bride's mother arranged white daisies and baby's breath for the centerpiece of the serving table where Mrs. George K. Quine and Mrs. Eugene McElroy, of Eugene, both aunts of the bride, presided at the coffee and punchbowl. Assisting them was Miss Ginger Harris.

Centering the bride's table in the shape of a Maltese cross was the four-tiered wedding cake, a pedestal design of delicate beauty, iced in white and decorated with a cascade of daisies. The top was a trio of white bells with daisies tucked into the bows of satin and tulle. In the background of the table were floor candelabra, and tall white tapers in silver candlesticks graced the tables. Serving the cake was Mrs. Charles S. Collins, assisted by Mrs. Millard C. Doyle, aunt of the bridegroom.

and Miss Colleen Davis had charge of gifts. Miss Susan Ostrander passed the rice in white net bags, tied with bows of green satin. Assisting with other reception details were Mrs. Elizabeth H. Allen, Mrs. Jack Chapman, Mrs. Franklin Wilson, Mrs. D. F. Saltem, Mrs. Kenneth E. Craig, Mrs. C. L. Do- mas, Mrs. Kenneth L. Rolfe, Mrs. Victor D. Lewis, Miss Marsha Wilson and Miss Joannie Sue Johnson.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a blue ensemble, styled with a short jacket. Her accessories were pale beige and her corsage was of gardenias. For her son's wedding, Mrs. Pargeter chose a rose pink suit with matching accessories in a deeper shade and wore a corsage of gardenias.

The couple left in a shower of rice for their wedding trip to the Oregon coast. Catching the bride's bouquet was her sister, Miss Sharon Lee Ostrander. For traveling attire the new Mrs. Pargeter wore a summer suit of petal pink linen, with short jacket and hand-stitched detail. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet and white accessories.

The couple is now at home at 2571 NE Stephens St. until fall when Mr. Pargeter will transfer from the Colorado School of Mines to Oregon State University as a sophomore in the school of engineering. Mr. Pargeter is employed by Martin Timber Products, Oakland and Mrs. Pargeter will resume employment at the Umpqua Insurance Agency as secretary, following the past year of residing in Eugene where she worked for an insurance firm.

Coming from out of town for the wedding were Miss Sharon Lee Ostrander, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McElroy and daughter, Miss Linda; Mrs. L. W. Michaels, Mr. and Mrs. William Kernan and daughter, Miss Kathy, and son Pat; and Miss Pat Reese, all of Eugene; Glenn W. Wharton, Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chapman, Tacoma, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schneider, Kirkland, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. W. Roger Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Myron G. Phillips and daughter, Cari Colleen, all of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. John R. Edgington, Estacada; Mrs. Larry Rains, Portland; Nick Cate, Santa Ana, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Clark and daughter, Nancy, Grants Pass.

TO BE BRIDE — Mr. and Mrs. Edward Middendorff of Roseburg announce the engagement of their daughter, Lana Louise, to Marlin Burgess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Burgess of Eugene, formerly of this city. Lana was graduated from Roseburg High School and attended southern Oregon College. Marlin was graduated from Roseburg High School and is working for C and J Tire Co. in Springfield. The wedding is planned for Aug. 17 to take place in Eugene. (Picture by Clark's Studio.)

TO HONOLULU for the summer months is Miss Merrie Ellen Boe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boe of this city, who left by Pan American World Airways Jet out of Portland Saturday. Miss Boe, who is teaching in the school system in Portland, will attend summer sessions at the University of Hawaii. (News-Review Photo.)
