

Dear Abby!

And So Will You Always Be

— By ABIGAIL VANBUREN —

DEAR ABBY: I am "the other woman" in an affair. Joe and I are very much in love. We have come together for four years and his wife has known it from the start. I have four small children and I love them. Believe it or not, I am a good mother. I never loved her father. He gave me a divorce so I could marry Joe. The problem is Joe's wife. She will not give him a divorce. He has tried everything to make her leave him. She has a job and can support herself. They have no children. She says she loves him no matter what. I have even told her all about us, but she said she doesn't mind sharing him with me. I think she must be crazy. Please, Abby, tell me what to do.

LOVED
DEAR ABBY: Give up. This woman is crazy like a fox.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both under 30. We love children but have none of our own yet. We both work and have a home every evening. The neighborhood children start ringing our bell, wanting to "visit" us. We eat supper at 7:30 and some evenings we have as many as ten children sitting with us or standing around our table. Don't get me wrong, we love children, but not in groups of ten every evening. Maybe our mistake was in being too hospitable when we first moved in. How can we discourage these youngsters?

Compulsive Spender!

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a woman past 50 who can't resist buying clothes? I am that woman. I buy dresses, hats, shoes, underwear and costume jewelry. I don't need and have no place to wear them. I have a closet full of clothes. I have a very ordinary life. I am married to an average man and we aren't wealthy, but I keep right on buying. I buy things I like to wear, but never will-like big hats, shorty pajamas, bright-colored dresses with low necklines, Bermuda shorts, and spike-heel shoes. I have closets full of clothes-some still in their original boxes-but the next week I'm out shopping again. Is there something the matter with me?

LOVES TO BUY
DEAR ABBY: Offhand I would say yes. Your spending spree is probably symptomatic of a deep-rooted emotional disturbance, and only a psychiatrist can prove it. (Either that, or you hate your husband and are trying to keep him broke.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 24-year-old divorcee with a child. My problem is Bert. I have been going steady with him for almost a year. I am very much in love with him. In all the time I've gone with him, I haven't even looked at another man. He calls me up at work at last twice a day. He sees me every night and on the weekends, too. He knows where I am every minute. Right? Well, so why is it that when he comes over he goes through all my garbage pails and trash trays, to make sure nobody else has been there? I don't mind his being a little jealous. In fact, it's flattering, but this is ridiculous. He has no reason to act like this.

CONFUSED
DEAR ABBY: My husband's faith adores our little girl, and he loves to take her places. This worries me a great deal because Grandpa is a TERRIBLE driver. No one in the family wants their children to ride with him, but sometimes we can't find an excuse. What can we say without hurting Grandpa's feelings? He is not old and feeble (he is 57) but he is a TERRIBLE driver.

NEEDS AN EXCUSE
DEAR ABBY: Why look for an "excuse" when you have a good reason? Tell Grandpa that you love him dearly, but his driving terrifies you. Better to risk hurting Grandpa's feelings than your child's life.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FRANK: When someone says, "Not to change the subject," depend on it. That is exactly what he wants to do.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Nelson have returned to their home on NE Winchester St., following a visit in Portland with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams. Mr. Williams was ordained at St. Stephens Cathedral Monday morning and has been assigned assistant chaplain at Good Samaritan Hospital. Mrs. Williams is the former Norma Nelson of this city.

Mrs. Ralph Patterson of this city is leaving soon to take her son, Ralph M., to San Francisco, where he has received a scholarship to study ballet there this summer. Her other son, David, and daughter, Susan, will accompany her on the trip. Mr. Patterson is remaining in Roseburg to attend to business. His Roseburg School of Dancing is not open during the summer months, however, he is making preparations for its re-opening this fall.

Ralph Patterson and sons, Ralph M. and David, are back from a few days in Portland to attend the performances of the Royal Ballet from England. They renewed some acquaintances in the company from their appearance here a few years ago and were privileged to watch rehearsals of three classes under Michael Soams, a director of the company, and was given the opportunity to appear as a humber in the performance of Swan Lake. The company rehearsal each day is at the studio of Maria and R. D. Dare, who are former teachers and friends of Mr. Patterson. While in Portland they stayed at the home of Mrs. Robert Wisotzki, sister of Mr. Patterson. Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson and family went to Eugene to attend the band concert ending the two weeks music school session. Their daughter, Susan, attended the sessions and they brought her home after the performance.

Suit Preference Has Pitfalls

By OSWALD JACOBY
(Written For NEA)

From time immemorial the play of an unnecessarily high card has either shown strength or at least asked partner to play the suit, while the play of a low card has shown the opposite.

Of late this has been complicated by the so-called suit preference signal, but the suit preference

South won in his own hand with the king and promptly cashed the ace and king of spades. West showed out whereupon South went over to dummy with a club and took the proven finesse against East's jack of spades. Then he drew trumps and discarded one diamond on a club and one on a heart.

Had West led a second diamond South would have had to ruff in dummy. Then he would have led a spade to his ace and almost surely played a second high spade.

West would have shown out and South would have known about the trump situation, but would have had no way to pick up East's jack. He could try some sort of coup, but if East refused to ruff in and discarded the right cards the coup would not develop.
