pair, so Mrs. Lewis decided to have it removed from the property. She said the site will be available for sale, or she will build to suit a tenant. In earlier days when Sheridan St. was a busy place, because of the railway travel, this building housed one of Roseburg's highest class saloons. (News-Review photo)

Giant Power Transformer Arrives At Gardiner Site

NEW TRANSFORMER — Bonneville crew under foreman Leo Lund is shown unloading a new 100,000 pound transformer from the railroad car to the Gardiner substation site, four miles north of Reedsport.

A giant power transformer bank weighing 100,000 pounds was unloaded this week at Gardiner for service at Bonneville Power Administration's new Gardiner substation site near Reedsport, reported Larry Moore, Eugene district manager today.

The $111,000 transformer with a force-cooled capacity of 33,000 kilo-volt amperes will provide a new point of delivery for rapidly growing power loads of Central Lincoln Peoples' Utility District and Douglas Electric Cooperative in the Reedsport-Smith River area.

"Largest customer of the PUD is the new International Paper Co. mill being completed near Reedsport," Moore said. "Power loads of the mill and other area loads are estimated at 17,500 kilowatts for 1964 and are expected to reach 31,400 kilowatts by 1968-69."

The Gardiner substation is part of a $5,450,000 expansion of BPA's transmission system to meet the leaping power demands of the central Oregon coastal area. The new facilities, scheduled for completion in late 1964, include a 73-mile, 230,000 volt transmission line from the Alvey substation near Eugene to the Reedsport area and switching facilities at the new Tahkenitch switching station.

"Present plans call for operation of the Gardiner substation from a tap to the existing Eugene-Reedsport 115,000 volt transmission line next September," Moore said. "Work is already under way on the substation site and Tahkenitch switching facilities to provide power for test operations at the mill this fall."

Alec Blankevorte is BPA inspector in charge of construction at the Gardiner substation and Howard Venn at Tahkenitch for BPA.

Once Burnt, Twice Shy!
— By ABIGAIL VANBUREN —

DEAR ABBY: We have just returned home from a weekend with some friends who have a beautiful, expensive, push-button home. The guest room was unbelievably furnished. There was one three-quarter-sized bed. (The room was large enough to accommodate one large double bed or a pair of twin beds.) There was one small, decrepit straight-back chair, a tiny hooked rug and one thin blanket. The mattress sagged in the middle, and to top it off, there was NO mirror in the room. My husband said that they intentionally furnished the guest room poorly to discourage guests from returning. Considering that the rest of the house was so elegantly and comfortably furnished, could my husband be right?

DEAR NO: Your husband is very probably right. I can't think of a more effective way to discourage overnight guests.

DEAR ABBY: Somewhere in a modest home is the luckiest woman alive, and I'm sure she isn't even aware of it. The "Other Woman" usually writes a tale of woe. I am the "Other Woman" but I have no "tale of woe" because of a decision I have just made. This wife I speak of is lucky because her children are healthy and well-behaved. They have a pleasant, middle-class home, with good food, good clothes and a good car. Their lives are secure. Her husband is with her, and he always will be. If I could tell this wife one thing, it would be to LOVE her husband and let him know it. He wanted me, and I wanted him, and only God knew how much. But when people are basically good, they refuse to hurt innocent people. Especially children. He's the man I've been searching for all my life. I love him and he knows it. But he is HER husband, and THEIR father. And he has integrity. I wish he were mine. But he's not and he never will be. Thank you, Abby, for letting me say this. I feel better now.

DEAR FED: Don't waste your energy with "factful" cover-ups. Tell your neighbors that you will be glad to deliver an "emergency" message, but if they want the use of a telephone for social chitchat to get their own.

DEAR ABBY: There is a darling boy who collects tickets at the theatre in my neighborhood. The last time I was there he gave me a special look that he never gave me before. I have secretly liked him for a long time and think he likes me a little. My problem is that he is on the shy side and so am I. How can I let him know I like him without being forward?

DEAR TIRED: There is NO way a girl can let a boy know she likes him without being forward. The quickest way to kill your chances with a shy boy is to let him know you like him. Let HIM blaze the trail—if there is going to be any.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50c to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

PP&L Gets Approval Of PUC To Sell Bonds

SALEM (UPI)—Sale of $30 million in first mortgage bonds and 100,000 shares of serial preferred stock by Pacific Power and Light Co. has been approved by the public utility commissioner, it was announced today.

Proceeds from the sale will be applied to the retirement of notes and to redeem 90,000 shares of 6.16 per cent serial preferred stock issued in 1957, the PUC said.

PP&L plans to sell the bonds and stock at competitive bidding. Bids will be invited about July 18, and opened about July 30, the PUC said.

Adventists' School Work Progressing

Work on the new Seventh-day Adventists' elementary school building on NW Calkins Road is progressing very well, according to reports.

Dick Callis, director of the building project, reports that a number of persons spent a large part of Sunday working on the project. More work days are planned and also some evening work, especially for those whose regular jobs keep them from helping during the day.

County building permit was taken out for $30,000, but volunteer labor will bring the value of the school to a much higher figure.

J. Nicholas Bez Named Vice President Of WCA

J. Nicholas Bez Jr. was elected vice president and assistant to the president of West Coast Airlines, at a recent board of directors meeting in Seattle. He fills the post vacated by resignation of H. F. Scheurer, effective July 1, according to information received by Robert T. Irvine, customer service manager of the Roseburg station.

Bez joined West Coast in 1956 and has held several positions in cabin service, reservations, operations and recently as assistant vice president in charge of sales. The company reports system wide sales in June 15 per cent ahead of that in 1962.

Winter's Real Estate Moved To Cass Avenue

Harry Winter Real Estate has moved into offices which he first occupied when he started in the business here from 1950 to 1953, at 833 SE Cass Ave.

The office has been moved from 525 SE Main St. He was located there since forced to move from a W. Harvard Blvd. location, near the High School, when his location was needed for street widening. The building which housed his office there and also provided living quarters had to be razed for the street improvement.

Winter said his new quarters give him more space for his expanded real estate business.

You can reach the buyers and the trade with one big gun—the daily newspaper.

Because newspaper readership is almost universal, 86.4% of all U.S. homes receive a daily newspaper... almost 100 million people read a newspaper every day. That means advertising in the newspaper reaches everybody—the buying public plus the wholesalers and retailers you do business with.

These businessmen don't need to be sold on the value of newspaper advertising. They know; they've seen the cash register payoff from their own newspaper advertising.

So draw a bead on both markets—the trade, the consumer—with advertising in the one medium that reaches them both because it reaches everybody.
