

Grecian Royalty Ends 4-Day Visit To Britain

LONDON (UPI) — King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece flew home to Athens today, ending a tumultuous four-day state visit to Britain marked by demonstrations, street fighting and an unprecedented boogie of Queen Elizabeth.

Members of one of the biggest security guards in peacetime British history arrested at least 171 demonstrators during the visit. Several persons were injured in skirmishes between police and mobs demanding the release of political prisoners in Greece.

The tension that gripped London seemed to have abated by the time Paul and Frederika flew off in a special Olympic Airways jetliner. But police took no chances, assigning 60 men to London Airport, and others to check the roads from Buckingham Palace, Queen Elizabeth, Prince Philip, Princess Anne and Prince Andrew saw the Greek royal couple off at the palace. Prince Andrew kept waving as the royal motorcade, including a busload of police constables, 16 motorcycle policemen and three police cars, rolled away.

Police arrested 75 demonstrators Thursday night when more street fighting broke out while the Greek monarchs hosted Philip at their hotel. Nine of the prisoners were women.

The demonstrators had dogged King Paul and Queen Frederika since their arrival in Britain last Tuesday. They demanded the release of an estimated 1,000 prisoners still in Greek jails since the Communist-led attempt to take over the country following World War II.

The demonstrators contended the jailed Greeks are political prisoners. The Greek government has said all of them committed felonies during the civil war, including numerous murders.

An announcement in Athens Thursday said 17 prisoners had been released under an amnesty order.

Cuban Says Vessel Sunk By Russians

MIAMI (UPI) — A Cuban exile leader says the fishing boat 'Sno' Boy was "intentionally sunk" by Russian trawlers when it surprised the Soviet vessels engaging in "espionage" activities in the Caribbean.

The 'Sno' Boy has been missing since July 1 on a voyage from Kingston, Jamaica, to Northeast Cay with 40 persons aboard.

The exile leader, Dr. Luis Conte Aguero, said Thursday night he believed the 63-foot vessel "surprised Russian trawlers engaged in clandestine espionage activities in the area and was intentionally sunk."

The U. S. Navy called off a widespread search for the 'Sno' Boy July 9, theorizing the blue and white boat either sunk in high seas or broke up on a reef.

Conte, leader of the Sentinels of Liberty underground organization, said an amateur radio operator in Key West, Fla., picked up a message from the Norwegian freighter Baume July 7 saying it had sighted three Russian trawlers about 30 miles west of Jamaica.

On July 6, the body of one of the 'Sno' Boy's passengers was found floating in the water some 6 miles west of Northeast Cay, which is about 80 miles south of Kingston.

"This is the first time Soviet fishing vessels have been sighted south of Jamaica, and it is significant they were spotted in the same area where the body was found 24 hours earlier," Conte said.

Today Is Fun Day For Miss Oregon

Today is a fun day for Miss Oregon — D'Ann Fullerton of Roseburg. She is shopping in Portland for her wardrobe which she will wear when she goes to Atlantic City in August to compete in the Miss America contest.

D'Ann left Roseburg early Thursday morning, and that evening appeared on television with officials in the Miss Washington pageant.

Friday was being devoted to shopping, and Saturday, she will take part in the Miss Washington pageant parade in Vancouver. During the parade she will do her hula hula number which helped her to win the Miss Oregon crown.

D'Ann will be back home Monday to make further preparations for her big trip in August.

Report Says Eisenhower Rejects Rocky, Barry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has denied a report he excluded Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater from his list of acceptable candidates for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

It had been reported that Eisenhower considered only Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R. Ky., and former Gen. Lucius D. Clay as potential candidates for the Republican nomination.

It was learned that Eisenhower's denial was relayed by a friend to both Rockefeller and Goldwater as well as to GOP congressional leaders.

Drought Threatens Corn Belt States

By United Press International

Showers soaked the southern plains today, but a crop-stunting drought continued its rise toward the danger level across the Midwest.

Light drizzle fell in southern Kansas and eastern Oklahoma and northward into parts of Iowa, North Dakota and Minnesota during the night. Thunderstorms swept Georgia and Florida.

Heavy rains Thursday sent creeks and streams surging down the main streets of many Kansas and Oklahoma towns.

Gypsum, Kan., was hardest hit, with about five feet of water spilling from Gypsum Creek after a 12-inch rainfall.

About 18 inches of water filled the streets of Durham, Kan. Numerous highways were closed across Kansas, and National Guardsmen aided residents in flooded areas.

The Weather Bureau said up to a seven-foot overflow was expected at Towanda, Kan., on the White River. The Chikaskia River at Blackwell, Okla., and the Cottonwood River from Marion to Emporia, Kan., were expected to reach or exceed flood stage.

The heavy rainfall measurements included 9.45 inches at Hillsboro, Kan., and more than 6½ inches at Enid and Blackwell, Okla. But the Kansas downpours failed to help the southwest part of the state where crops have been hardest hit by the drought.

Nearly 2 1/2 inches was reported in six hours at Vero Beach, Fla., and 70-mile-an-hour winds whipped quarter-inch hail and more than one inch of rain in less than an hour at Lamar, Colo.

Many sections of the Midwest sought federal aid to ease a drought that has curtailed crops and disrupted planting schedules.

Powder Puff Derby To Start Saturday

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — Eighty women pilots and copilots from across the nation made final preparations today for the 17th annual Powder Puff Derby which starts at 8 a. m. Saturday when the first of 45 planes takes off on a 2,400-mile flight to Atlantic City, N. J.

The race ends officially at noon, July 17, but most of the planes are expected to cross the ocean front at Atlantic City and land at the National Aviation Facilities Experimental Center well before the deadline.

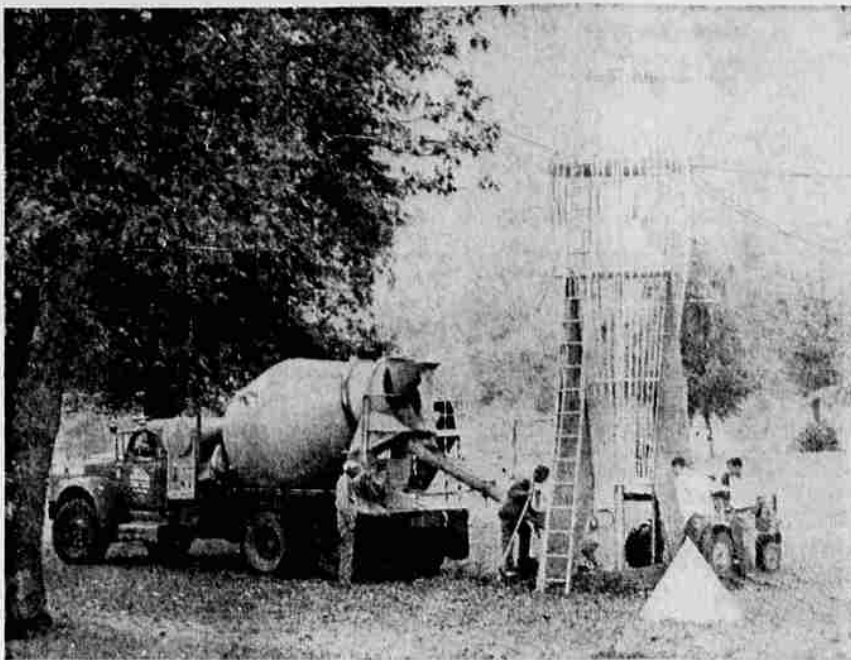

The planes have been impounded since Tuesday when derby and Federal Aviation Agency officials went over each plane carefully to make sure each met all race qualifications.

Frances Bera, Long Beach, Calif., won the race last year with her superior knowledge of weather conditions and the second-place finisher, Betty Miller, Santa Monica, Calif., says she trailed Miss Bera "because I misjudged my winds in a transcontinental race, winds can make or break a pilot."

The race is open to women flying stock aircraft, single or multi-engine of 100 to 400 horsepower.

READY TO BLAST OFF? No, this is just another of the new facilities installed at Umpqua Park by Fairgrounds personnel for the youngsters. Fair Manager Bert Allenby reports the 30-foot, "four-stage" rocket is designed for maximum safety for children while giving them a feeling of height and adventure as they climb to the four platforms. The rocket is anchored five feet in the ground in a block of about two yards of concrete. Fins are also anchored. The 3,500-pound structure was built of welded steel by Fairgrounds personnel, much of it by Assistant Fair Manager Jack Smith on his own time. A planned future addition is an exit slide about halfway up the side of the rocket. Other features of the park are a jet fighter, a 42-foot torpedo-retriever boat and a log cabin made from a single log. (Bob Leber photo)

Liz Taylor Has Finished First Television Venture In London

LONDON (UPI) — A few yards down the road from where stood William Shakespeare's own theater, such as Hamlet at the Old Vic himself never envisaged quoted his famous advice to actors:

"Speak the speech, I pray you, as I pronounced it to you trippingly on the tongue; but if you mouth it, as many of you players do, I had as lief the town-crier spoke my lines."

Elizabeth Taylor let the words die away on the historic air of the Bankside district of London and smiled into the camera recording the last scene of her first venture into television — an hour-long "mosaic" of the city of her birth 31 years ago.

Russia Seen Threat To Lumber Markets

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI) — Russia is a major challenge to the United States in world lumber markets, an Oregon lumberman has warned.

Robert F. Dwyer, vice president of the Dwyer Lumber and Plywood Co. of Portland who recently returned from the Soviet Union, said Russia now matches the U.S. in total lumber production and plans an annual 20 percent increase in the coming years.

Dwyer made the comments at a Transportation Management Program of the Stanford Graduate School of Business.

Dwyer returned from an unofficial tour of Russia June 21. He warned the business executives attending the graduate school that since Russia entered the world lumber market in 1958, the competitive effects on this country have been substantial.

He said American lumber producers have lost more than $300 million of the annual domestic market, mostly to Canada, after Russia entered Canada's world markets.

Dwyer said, however, the U.S. can produce better quality lumber at costs as low or lower, than Russia's.

Barnett To Testify At Race Bill Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett and a Richmond, Va., newspaper editor were scheduled to testify today as the first opposition witnesses to the administration's public accommodation bill.

Barnett, under contempt of court charges for resisting federal court orders to register Negro James H. Meredith at the University of Mississippi, was to appear before the Senate Commerce Committee at the request of Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., one of the leading southern opponents to the measure.

James J. Kilpatrick, editor of the Richmond News-Leader, is credited with resurrecting the interposition doctrine used by Barnett when he interposed state authority over the federal courts in the Meredith case.

PLANS WEEKEND TRIP

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy planned to fly to Cape Cod today to join his wife and two children for the weekend. The President was scheduled to take off from nearby Andrews Air Force Base about 4 p. m. EDT, for the one-hour flight to Otis Air Force Base, Mass. He is expected to return to Washington Monday morning.

Opposition to the administration's civil rights proposals by southern senators already has begun on the Senate floor. Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., denounced the measure as a "bold and colossal grab for naked power" by the federal government.

Other congressional news: TFX: Navy Secretary Fred Korth resumed testimony on the controversial award of the TFX fighter plane contract to General Dynamics Corp. over the Boeing Co. Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., of the Senate investigations subcommittee was expected to ask Korth more questions about the basis for the Defense Department decision expected to cost the government about $6.5 billion.

Arbitration: The chances of Congress approving legislation compelling arbitration in the railroad work rules dispute is gloomy, based on what action has been taken on a bill providing the requirement for the maritime industry. A measure to impose compulsory arbitration in shipping and dock strikes has been in the House Merchant Marine Committee since January. In its present shape, sources said it had little chance of passage.
