

Demos Disclaim Charge Liberals Too Far To Left

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic senators Friday called "inflammatory" and "irresponsible" a charge by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., that the Kennedy administration is ready to co-exist with international communism.

Damages Sought In Suit Stemming From Bar Fight

Kenneth R. Averett of Roseburg has filed suit against a Winston tavern operator and an employee asking damages growing out of an alleged fight at the tavern last Jan. 1. Named as defendants are Clarence D. Bowker, as operator of the Junction Tavern & Cafe, and Hugh Schieler, who was in Bowker's employ as a bartender and bouncer, according to the complaint. Averett seeks $5,000 general and $5,000 punitive damages, plus $268.70 special damages and costs and disbursements.

Earlier this year Schieler was convicted of assault and battery on Averett, first in the District Court of Judge Gerald R. Hayes, and later on appeal to Circuit Court before Judge Charles S. Woodrich. He was sentenced to serve 90 days in jail with probation for one year after serving 10 days and to pay a fine of $250.

Averett claims in his complaint that on Jan. 1 in Winston, the defendant Bowker, acting by and through his employ Schieler, "violently, wantonly and maliciously" assaulted him with his fists and that he struck the plaintiff upon and about the head, face and body, breaking, bruising and wounding him.

The plaintiff asks $150 for medical expenses and $110.50 for loss of pay while off work. He is a choker setter.

The punitive damages are asked on the alleged grounds that the actions of the defendants were "willful, malicious and without probable cause" and were in total and absolute disregard of their social obligations.

Grass, Appliance Fires Summon Rural Firemen

The Roseburg Rural Fire Department was called out on two fires Friday, one a grass fire and the second an electrical fire.

The grass fire, which occurred about 2 p.m. at the Melvin Gregory residence at 1074 SW Medford St., was started when a young boy built an incinerator and the fire got out of hand and spread into the grass. Three acres of grass were burned.

The second fire occurred at 9:25 p.m. when an electric range in the home at 1307 NE Walnut St. caught fire. Damage was limited to the range.

Airport Group Asks Check Into Legal Status Of DALO

The Roseburg City Airport Commission, following an hour-long discussion Friday, voted to have city attorney Paul Geddes check the legal status of DALO (Douglas Aircraft Leasing Organization) and determine (1) if its status makes it a commercial organization; and (2) if it is providing unfair competition to the manager of the airport.

Airport Manager R. C. (Bud) Good has claimed DALO presents unfair competition to his operation (Roseburg Airways, Inc.) in the leasing of DALO aircraft and offering instructions for student pilots.

Good said it is impossible for him to compete profitably with DALO, an organization made up of about 30 family stockholders who own and operate club aircraft at Roseburg's municipal airport.

Under terms of the airport ordinance, the City Council can control the number of commercial operations at the airport in order to maintain good airport operation. Good is presently the only licensed commercial operator.

The DALO members at Friday's meeting contended they were not operating a commercial venture, but that their planes were used by stockholders and persons who have purchased what amounts to a portion of a share of stock for the right to use the club's aircraft.

Good said the lone problem at the airport centers around the instruction of student pilots, including solo work (supervised but without an instructor in the plane). It is his contention that as the only licensed commercial operator at the airport he should not be faced with what he terms with international communism. Goldwater, a 1964 GOP presidential possibility, said in a speech before the Human Events Conference that the nation's liberals suffer a "craven fear" of the future and have taken the country "too far to the left."

Goldwater told the conservative organization that U.S. Communist party leader Gus Hall was urging defeat of Republican candidates next year and support of "people's political movements."

Goldwater said Hall had said that such movements operated within the Democratic party's orbit. The Arizona Republican said he was not suggesting that Democrats were Communists or that the Communists had captured control of the Democratic party.

Douglas Answers Charges

Asked for reaction to Goldwater's charges, Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., said "the record shows that liberals are just as much opposed to communism as is Sen. Goldwater."

"If necessary, we will use force to check Communist aggression," Douglas said. "We do not believe in rushing into nuclear war. And I do not believe that inflammatory speeches such as that of Sen. Goldwater help the national interest or the cause of a clean peace."

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., called Goldwater's reference to communism an "irresponsible plot that comes up every campaign."

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate foreign Relations Committee, called Goldwater's remarks "very irresponsible." He said Goldwater offered no alternative for anything he criticized.

"If he wants to go to war," Fulbright said, "why doesn't he say so?"

"Frightened Of Future" In his speech, Goldwater said that "today's liberal is so frightened of the future that he is incapable of acting in the present. Such a character is completely out of character with the American spirit."

Goldwater criticized President Kennedy's recent speech in which the Chief Executive referred to a Soviet interest in "just and genuine peace" and urged an effort to "make the world safe for diversity."

"I suggest that the President's plea is just another way of saying that the New Frontier is determined to co-exist with international communism wherever it thrives — even in the Western Hemisphere," he said.

He said that the cause "for our indecision and inaction is a deep-rooted fear on the part of the liberal establishment which forecloses the possibility of any action at all that may contain a slight element of risk."

Nixon Thinks Barry Ahead

GENEVA (UPI) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Friday that Sen. Barry Goldwater has displaced Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as the favorite for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

But Nixon told a meeting of the American Club in Geneva that neither the Arizona senator nor the New York governor will have the nomination "locked up" before the Republican nominating convention.

Nixon, on an extensive tour of Europe and the Middle East, named Goldwater, Rockefeller, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania and Gov. George Romney of Michigan as the "only possible candidates." But he declined to name his choice.

"Goldwater has now just as commanding a lead as did Rockefeller vice president said. Nixon said he expects to have "something to say" about the Republican candidate, the party's platform and the 1964 campaign but repeated he will not run for the presidency again himself.

Can Of Gasoline Ignited By Spark; Home Is Damaged

Damage estimated in excess of $3,000 was caused at the home of Roseburg City Police Sergeant E. R. Woodworth at 756 W. Altamont late Friday morning when a gallon can of gasoline was ignited by a spark from a washing machine.

According to the fire department, the can of gasoline fell from where it had been stored, spilled and was set afire by a spark from the electric motor. Mrs. Woodworth and three children were in the house at the time, but none was injured.

The fire broke out in the utility porch about 11:45 a.m. Smoke damage was general throughout the remainder of the house.

Quick Move Averts Injury For Youth

The alert action of a Roseburg driver was credited by witnesses for preventing possible serious injury to a young bicycle rider.

According to Roseburg City Police reports, David Mann, 14, of 2726 W. Langenberg St., was starting to ride his bike down the sidewalk on the SE Washington Avenue bridge when he swerved out to miss a woman pedestrian. Police said the bike slipped off the sidewalk and against the side of a moving auto.

They said witnesses told them that fast reactions to the situation by the driver of the car, James Wilkie Griffin, 1938 W. Fairhaven, in swerving the car, kept the boy from falling in front of the auto.

DEADLY GASES ENCOUNTERED Rescue Teams Probe Old Mine For Three Missing Teen-Agers

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Expert safety-rescue teams today prepared for one final probe deep into an abandoned soft coal mine in search of three teen-agers boys, whose disappearance two days ago was becoming more of a mystery with each passing hour.

Opinions as to the boys' whereabouts were mixed. Some, including the parents of the missing youths, felt certain the boys had become lost while exploring the rickety old passageways of the mine last Thursday.

Others, notably many of the miners who have risked their lives in the all-out search, believed the youngsters' wanderlust had taken them elsewhere.

Yoncalla To Enter 'Eagle' Contest

The Yoncalla City Council at its meeting this week instructed City Recorder June Bowman to make an entry for the city to a contest currently being staged by a Portland Bank.

According to Mrs. George Edes, correspondent, the name "Yoncalla" means "Home of the eagle." Prize in the contest is reportedly a large metal plaque of an eagle, which, if won by Yoncalla, would be placed in the new City Hall.

Council members discussed a proposition for building a concrete wall on Red Hill, site of the summer water supply. The wall, if built, would be erected on the Dodd property. An easement has already been granted for water lines, Mrs. Edes said.

Routine business, including the payment of all bills, occupied the remainder of the meeting. All council members were present.

Parents Feel Certain

Despite reports that the three boys had been seen near Columbus, Ohio and Conway, Pa., the parents of the youngsters felt certain their youngsters were in the mine, which has not been worked for about 25 years.

Rescuers have been at the mine No. 2 of the Castle Shannon Coal Co., since Thursday night when

The objects of the intense hunt were Danny O'Kain and Billy Burke, both 13, of suburban Baldwin Township, and Robert Abbott 14, of Pittsburgh.

Their efforts Friday night were stilled by deadly black damp, a combination of explosive methane and carbon dioxide. Fresh air was pumped into the mine, located on a hillside seven miles south of Pittsburgh, and the rescue teams reentered two hours later.

They were ordered to halt temporarily at 12:30 a.m. today.

Rescuers See Prints J. M. Hovanic, a state mine inspector "what appeared to be small footprints in one area" and such items as pop bottles and matches during their rugged foray of the dark passageways. But he would not venture an opinion on whether the boys were lost in the mine.

The boys were reported missing by Billy's mother, Mrs. Florence Burke. She said she found the bicycles near the mine entrance situated below the tracks of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad in a shrub-covered gully.

An engineer for the railroad said he saw the boys near Columbus, and another report from Conway indicated the boys had been in that area. But there was no positive proof the youngsters had hopped a train after leaving their bicycles at the mine entrance.

A nationwide alert for the boys, who had made previous explorations into the mine in the past according to their parents, was sounded Friday.

Peking Regime Says Situation Is Grave

TOKYO (UPI) — Red China said today the ideological dispute with Russia is "very grave," and hinted the Moscow talks between the two Communist giants may be broken off for the time being.

The Peking regime said that overcoming the doctrinal and political differences with Moscow is difficult, but it expressed belief the dispute can be solved. It described the differences as "serious."

An editorial in the official Peking Peoples Daily said the Chinese Communist government hopes that the Soviet leaders will "refrain from rash actions . . . and not push things to the extreme."

The editorial, broadcast by the New China news agency and monitored in Tokyo, said the Kremlin's anti-China campaign

JFK Applauded For Golf Game

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — President Kennedy, who had to give up golf for two years because of a back injury, was back at the game in good enough form today to win the applause of clubhouse professionals.

The Chief Executive walloped a drive 225 yards and smiled at the accolade from a hastily assembled gallery after rushing to the Hyannis Port club to play several holes before nightfall Friday.

Kennedy had just arrived at Cape Cod for a weekend with his family and was greeted by an official assemblage at Otis Air Force Base, Mass., which was overshadowed by a peppy two-year-old.

The latter individual was Kennedy's son, John Jr., who scampered over to his father, indulged in a lot of chatter, and then walked past the President of the United States to try to board the huge jet transport plane the President had arrived in. He was led back to his father's helicopter for the 10-minute flight here.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, who is expecting their third child late next month, greeted the President at the landing area outside the home of his convalescent 74-year-old father, Joseph P. Kennedy. After a round of family greetings, the President and First Lady motored to their home on Squaw Island, about a half-mile away.

Then they drove to the country club, and Kennedy got through several holes while his wife watched from their golf cart. His best performance was at the second hole, where he whammed the ball—as one spectator put it—"right down the old alley"—and lured with a smile to wave at the 60 or so people who broke out in applause.

Man Killed While Trying To Flag Down An Auto

SUSANVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — Kenneth J. Wilson, 21, Klamath Falls, Ore., was killed early Friday when he was struck by a car on U.S. 395 while attempting to flag down an auto.

Wilson's auto, carrying a woman and five children, had broken down three miles south of Doyle, the California Highway Patrol said.

He was struck by an auto driven by Jess Arelalo, 19, Reno, Nev.

The CHP said Wilson had no identification on his person. Officers said he was identified by the woman riding in his car.
