Slam Undeterred By Bad Breaks

By OSWALD JACOBY
(Written For NEA)

Edith Kemp of Miami will be faced with a tough decision this fall. She is qualified to try out for both the American team and the American Ladies' team for and Edith quickly decided the best play would be the simple playing of the ace and king. If the queen dropped everything would be fine. If the suit broke 3-2, everything would be just as fine because if East won the trick he would have to lead a diamond and give her a ruff and discard, while if West won the trick he would either have to lead away from his nine of hearts or give her the same ruff and discard.

CARD Sense
The bidding has been:
South West North East
4 Pass 2 Pass
4 Pass 5 Pass
You, South, hold:
AKQJ876 3 2 K65 433
What do you do?
A—Bid five spades. Your partner is looking for a slam, but you are looking right at two losing club tricks and he has said nothing about club controls.

Edith played three rounds of clubs and claimed her slam.
TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding five diamonds your partner goes to five clubs over your four spades. What do you do in this case?

Days Creek Sets School Reunion

A look at the newly-acquired athletic field at the Days Creek School will be an added attraction when former students and teachers gather for the Days Creek High School Alumni Reunion of Saturday afternoon and evening, July 20.

An old-fashioned picnic for former students, teachers and their families is planned for 5 p.m. preceded by games for youngsters and baseball and visiting for adults, starting at 1 p.m., according to Mrs. Calvin Robison (Doris) Wright, alumni president.

Registration will start at 3 p.m., with the business meeting and elections to be held following the picnic meal. A program arranged by Mrs. George Shaffer, vice president, will be at 8 o'clock, topped off with dancing for the remainder of the evening. Music will be furnished by the Nixons.

Invitations are being extended to all former students of the area as names and addresses can be added to the list, as well as actual alumni. Days Creek High School dates back to 1920, with Mrs. Ray Wright (Esther Michaels) being the first graduate in 1922. A union high school and consolidated grade school were formed the next year in 1921, comprised of the Milo (then Perdue), Lavadour, Days Creek and part of the Worthington districts, with Oak Knoll on upper Days creek and the Byers school down-river coming in later. Students from Tiller and Drew came in on a tuition basis after the 1930's until the joining of the Tiller-Drew and Days Creek districts three years ago. Several interested alumni and teachers who reside at a distance have already expressed their intention to attend, correspondent Mrs. Durin Swingley reports.

Seek Better Jobs, P. O. Tells Educated Employees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Post Office Department is trying to encourage its most highly educated employees—Negro and white—to find other government jobs, a spokesman said Monday.

The department, the largest employer of Negroes in the country, wants its employees to look for better jobs being offered by other agencies, the spokesman said.

The Civil Service Commission conducted a special examination among employees of the Birmingham, Ala., post office.

The Birmingham employees who took the test and passed were encouraged to apply for jobs with other agencies where there was more room at the top.

Similar tests will be conducted at other post offices where there are large numbers of highly educated employees working at lower level jobs, Murphy said.

Man Born Negro Slave Notes 102nd Birthday

PORTLAND (UPI) — Frank Risher, who was born a Negro slave in Palestine, Tex., celebrated his 102 birthday here Saturday.

Risher was born in 1860. He lives in Portland with his daughter, Mrs. Leona Pierce. Until about a year ago he made his home in Dallas, Tex.

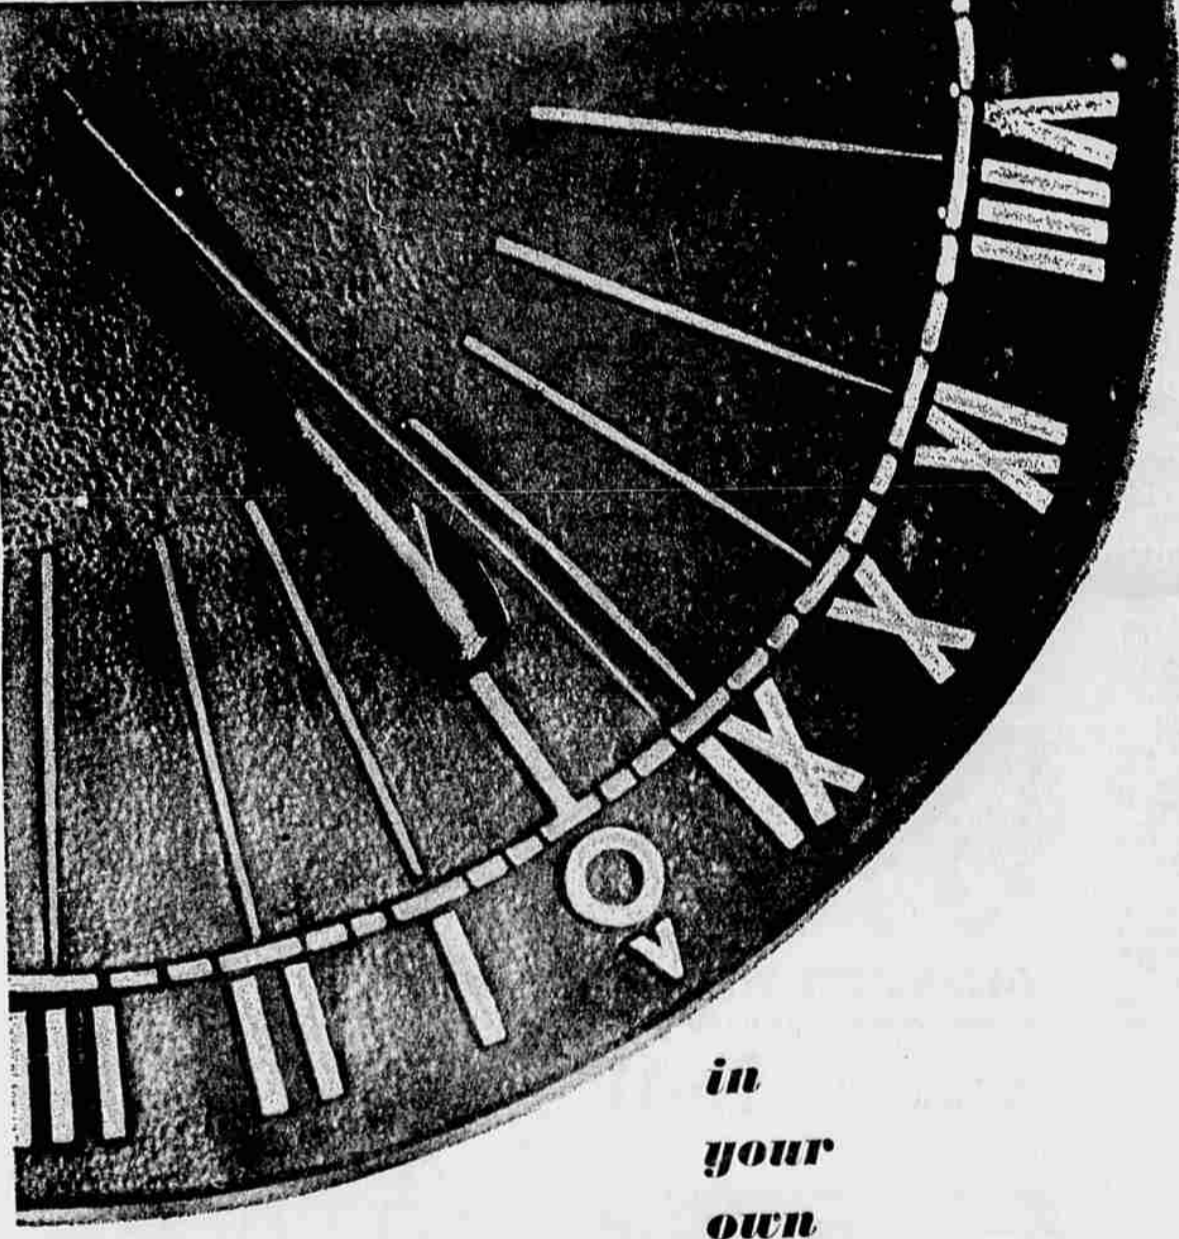

"We had to get him up here so I could take care of him," Mrs. Pierce said. "You know how men eat. They batch and they don't eat right. He needs someone to see that he eats right."

Risher agreed. "I've put on 90 pounds since I've been here," he said. He added that he weighed 125 pounds and was "kinda skinny" when he arrived in Portland.

Risher received congratulations from Victor Christgau, executive director of the Social Security Administration. The SSA has his age at 100 because Risher said the census records don't go back any farther.
