

Witnesses Relate Sordid Story Of Goings-On At Ward Apartment

LONDON (UPI) — A bleached blonde street walker testified today that Dr. Stephen Ward picked her up one night in his white sports car and told her he could introduce her to a better class of people.

Eight minutes later she had accepted Ward's proposition, she said, and was installed in the bedroom of his apartment.

The testimony was offered at Ward's morals trial by Vicki Barrett, 20, who said she used to be a prostitute but recently dyed her hair blonde. She has a police record as a convicted prostitute.

Hear Four Witnesses

Vicki and other witnesses at today's session of the trial of the society osteopath and artist told a sordid story of the goings-on at his flat and of the diversions sought by some members of his social set. Besides Vicki, the witnesses included:

—Ronna Ricardo, 23, a night club dancer and part-time prostitute who said she committed perjury in supplying evidence that helped bring Ward to trial.

—James Walker Eylan, a tall, middle-aged man with a thin mustache, who said he had been intimate with Christine Keeler, 21, former mistress of former War Minister John Profumo. He said he had lent Christine money "for her mother."

—Brenda O'Neill, 21, another prostitute who said she had been picked up by Ward in his white sports car. She admitted she met Ward in her "professional capacity."

In Prisoner's Dock

Through it all, Ward sat in the prisoner's dock of Old Bailey court listening to the evidence that was piled up against him after the revelation that he was the man who introduced Miss Keeler to Profumo and to Soviet naval attaché Capt. Eugene Ivanov. The uproar that resulted from these introductions cost Profumo his job and nearly toppled the government of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Eylan, who came to the witness stand dressed in a dark business suit, testified that he met Christine early in 1951.

He said they were intimate and that he paid her money, usually $28 or $42. He said he also loaned her money which never was repaid.

"How did she make the money?" the prosecutor asked.

"She asked for money for her mother or some girls," he replied.

Eylan said he also took Christine to restaurants and places of entertainment because he found her to be an amusing and attractive companion.

Earlier after hearing Miss Ricardo's testimony, that she had lent to police, Justice Sir Archie Marshall, in red robes and grey wig, told the jury to disregard the evidence she had given in the trial.

Miss Ricardo took the stand Tuesday following the explosive testimony of Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies, who told the court she had been intimate with Douglas Fairbanks Jr., the former actor who now is a London businessman.

(In New York, Fairbanks' public relations counsel Tuesday night issued a denial of Miss Rice-Davies' accusation.)

Ward, the society osteopath who introduced call girl Christine Keeler to War Minister John Profumo, starting the affair that nearly brought down Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's cabinet, is charged with living off the earnings of prostitutes and trying to entice young girls into prostitution. He has pleaded innocent. Profumo has since resigned from the cabinet.

Called All Three

The crown called all three girls as prosecution witnesses to support its charges that Ward accepted money they had earned as prostitutes.

But Miss Ricardo, a former night club dancer who told the court she has at least one conviction for prostitution, said she had lied at a pre-trial hearing when she said Ward invited her to his apartment to meet men who paid her money for sexual relations.

She said she gave false information to police and at the hearing because she was afraid police would take away her apartment and baby.

"A lot of people have asked me to change my evidence," she said.

Justice Sir Archie Marshall told her "very seriously...to consider your position overnight" before returning to the stand today.

If Miss Ricardo did lie at the pre-trial hearing, the prosecution case against Ward would be named, because it is based partly on the girls' testimony that Ward profited from their affairs with men.

More Shocks In Store

Mandy, the teen-age blonde who shocked the pre-trial hearing with a charge that she slept with Lord Astor, millionaire property owner and newspaper proprietor, had more shocks in store Tuesday.

Apparently enjoying her day in the spotlight thoroughly, she added Fairbanks to her list of lovers, which allegedly included the late slumlord "Polish Peter" Rachman as well as Astor, who has denied the charge.

Ward's defense attorney, James Burge, charged that Miss Rice-Davies mentioned Fairbanks only in order to command a higher price for her memoirs.

"Why did you mention him?" Burge demanded.

"Because I did not like him," Mandy replied.

"Fairbanks' New York statement said his relationship with Mandy was 'perfectly innocuous,'" she said.

Employee Of Forest Service Gets Award For Suggestion

By MRS. MILTON HAMMERLEY

John A. Wright Sr., forester with the Cow Creek Ranger District of Tiller, received an incentive award of $50 for a suggestion on boundary poster signs which has been adopted by the Forest Service for designating partial and clearcut units, according to John O. Wilson, district ranger.

Presentation was made Friday at a staff conference and came as a complete surprise to the recipient and his fellow workers.

Wright's idea had been submitted almost two years ago and locally the matter had been forgotten, Wilson said, until the check, together with a letter of commendation from Supervisor Vondis E. Miller of Roseburg arrived last week.

The ranger explained that Wright's idea was stimulated by the necessity to revise by hand boundary poster signs to designate other than clearcut sales. He proposed a new sign with a blue background and appropriate lettering for use on partial cuts and salvage sales. Clearcut signs have a yellow background.

Wilson said it was the first such award made to an employee at the Tiller Ranger Station so far.

Permit Closures Due On Forests

SALEM (UPI) — Nine forest areas in Klamath and Lake counties will go under permit closure beginning Friday.

The State Forestry Department said the action was taken because of weather conditions and the excessive amount of debris on the ground.

A permit will be needed to enter the 608,000 acres of forest land and smoking will be allowed only in designated places. Open fires will be prohibited except in places specially designated. Persons entering the areas will have to carry certain tools for fire fighting.

Largest of the areas to be closed is Green Springs, west of Klamath Falls.

Others are Horseglades, Pole Butte and Double Creek, north of Bly; Buckhorn Springs and Bear Flat west of Silver Lake; Chiloquin Burn, north of Chiloquin; and Beaver Marsh near that community.

Areas closed previously include the Brooks-Seaman area west of Bend, Little Squawback, north of Sisters and the Heppner and Rancharia areas.

Howard Prairie near Ashland was made subject of regulation.

The other suspects were identified as Ruth Marida, 45, Gerald Burnham, 60 and Virgil K. Lane. They said they were from Seattle.

Myrtle Creek City Council Hears Report On Work Plans

The Myrtle Creek City Council at a special meeting Tuesday night heard a report from Mayor Robert King on work projects needed for the city. King's report was based on a study made since the last regular council meeting, according to Lorraine Birenbaum, correspondent.

The report, which dealt with street, park, sewer and other facilities, was turned over to City Engineer Don Martin and City Supt. Darrell Bowman for additional study and scheduling of work according to priority.

Considerable meeting time was devoted to discussion on maintenance of the hill road to the spring from which the city obtains its water supply, some of said road being through private property. The new owner of the largest parcel of privately-owned land had requested clarification as to responsibility of road maintenance, Mrs. Birenbaum reports.

The city at present has a franchise to partially maintain the road according to city usage. The five property owners concerned have indicated they will request paving by the county Road Department and the city agreed to pay a proportionate share of the cost if this is done. The distance involved is about one mile.

In other action, the council denied a request by Darrell Bowman for permission to park a trailer house on a foundation within the city limits, as this is prohibited by residential zoning code.

Also discussed was multiple use of water meters resulting from more than one user being on property served by a single meter. Ordinances concerning this situation as in effect by other cities will be studied before action is taken, Mrs. Birenbaum said.

Major Religious Faiths Support JFK On 'Rights'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prominent representatives of the nation's three major religious faiths joined today in backing President Kennedy's full civil rights program as a moral and practical necessity.

They urged Congress to pass it immediately with prayer that the racial struggle "will remain a social revolution and not degenerate into civil chaos."

The testimony was read before the House Judiciary subcommittee by Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive officer of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., who recently was arrested while taking part in an anti-segregation demonstration. He read a joint statement on behalf of himself, the Rev. John F. Cronin of the National Catholic Welfare Council, and Rabbi Irwin M. Blank of Englewood, N. J., chairman of the Social Action Commission, Synagogue Council of America.

Blake said the "religious conscience of America condemns racism as blasphemy against God. It recognizes that the racial segregation and discrimination that flow from it are a denial of the worth which God has given to all persons."

He said denial of the basic rights of the individual is immoral.

A number of national religious organizations joined with the clergymen in supporting the program and Blake said these groups and the Negro people also are aware of "the disabilities upon Spanish-speaking Americans, Indian Americans as well as upon people of Asian background" in the United States.

"There is growing dissatisfaction with gradualism and promises of future progress," Blake testified.

"There can be no further delay in keeping faith with the responsibility to put the principles we profess and the obligations that we acknowledge into action," he said.

The Presbyterian official said the President's civil rights message "clearly sets forth the need for legislation."

The statement defended each of the White House requests individually. It said the controversial request for a public accommodations law "is not a drastic step... nor is it an invasion of property rights as some have claimed."

Trouble Postpones Syncom II Launch

CAPE CAVAVERAL (UPI) — The scheduled launching today of the Syncom II communications satellite was postponed because of technical difficulties in the spacecraft's antenna, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) announced.

A NASA spokesman did not elaborate on the nature of the antenna difficulties which delayed the launching. The shot will be postponed for at least 24 hours.

The first Syncom satellite was launched Feb. 14 and achieved a successful orbit, but radio contact was later lost. The trouble was believed to have stemmed from either an electrical or nitrogen tank failure.

As a result, the Syncom II has been extensively modified. If successful, it will be capable of two-way telephone, teletype and facsimile transmissions.

The Syncom shot had been set for mid-morning.

Scientists plan to place Syncom II into a so-called synchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the earth.

The synchronous orbit a satellite would appear to be stationary over one spot on earth because it revolves at the same speed the earth rotates on its axis.

Two Plead Guilty To Contributing

Pleas of guilty to charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors were entered by two men in Circuit Court before Judge Don H. Sanders Tuesday.

The judge accepted the pleas and ordered pre-sentence investigations in both cases.

The men were Duell Pippin, 24, Sutherland, and Orval Almo Baker, 39, Myrtle Creek.

Pippin had been charged in a Grand Jury indictment with statutory rape of a 15-year-old girl, but he was allowed to plead to the lesser charge and the rape charge has been dismissed. The offense as alleged took place May 25.

Baker admitted inducing a 15-year-old Myrtle Creek girl to leave the home of her parents and drive with him from the city on April 5. He earlier had pleaded innocent, but chanted his plea.

Baker and the girl were picked up in New Mexico in June. She was returned by her parents and is in the sheriff's department. Investigation showed Baker had come to Myrtle Creek with the girl's family this spring. The girl left by school bus for Myrtle Creek High School, then met Baker in town and they left together.

PTA Groups Seek Kindergarten Site

Fullerton School and Fir Grove School Parent-Teacher associations are looking for a new home for their kindergarten this fall.

The Westside Christian Church, which has been used in the past, is no longer available, as the church does not feel justified in making repairs required by the fire marshal to comply with kindergarten requirements.

According to Mrs. William Stiles, kindergarten chairman, about 50 children have signed up, making the need for two class room areas to handle about 25 children each.

A location is sought in the general area of the two schools. Any one knowing of an available building is asked to call Mrs. Jack Smith (672-3668) or Mrs. Robert Inscore (673-4314).

Caleb Earl McDaniel

Funeral services for Caleb Earl McDaniel, 22, of Yoncalla, the victim of an automobile accident early Sunday morning, will be held Friday at 10 a. m. at the Yoncalla Church of Christ.

The Rev. Ren Hollister will officiate, and interment will be in the Yoncalla Cemetery. Mills Mortuary of Drain and Cottage Grove is in charge of arrangements. The family asks that those who wish may make donations in McDaniel's name to Northwest Christian College in Eugene.

McDaniel was born in Yoncalla Sept. 4, 1940, and had lived there all of his life, attending schools there and graduating from high school in 1958. He was a student at Northwest Christian College and was studying for the ministry.

He was engaged to marry Ruth Elmer of LaGrande, who has been staying in Eugene, and McDaniel was returning home to Yoncalla from a visit with her when the accident occurred.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. McDaniel; brothers, Rodney, Terry and Scott; and sisters, Amanda and Althea.

Independent Salmon Fishermen End Strike For Higher Prices

By United Press International

Independent commercial salmon fishermen along the Washington and Oregon coasts ended their spontaneous "strike" for higher silver salmon prices today when most buyers agreed to pay 32 cents per pound.

The packers also raised chinook prices two cents to 37 cents for small, 47 cents for medium and 67 cents for large fish.

Many fishermen at Coos Bay, Newport and Florence returned to the sea today and the rest were planning to go out Thursday morning.

In the Astoria-Megler-Illwaco area, Louis Wright of Bumble Bee Sea Foods at Astoria said he understood most of the fishermen would remain in port until Thursday.

The fishermen agreed to tie up their boats last week when the price for silvers hung at 25 cents a pound without rising when the fish became larger, as it had in past years.

Estimates Varied

Estimates of the number of boats laying in at the height of the tie-up varied widely, but Leonard Hall, member of the Oregon Fish Commission, set the figure at about 90 per cent of the 3,000 licensed boats along the coast.

Other estimates were as low as 600.

Wright said the break came in fishermen's meetings at Westport, Wash., Monday and Tuesday when Bay Fish Co. of Seattle offered 32 cents per pound.

He said representatives of the fishermen then approached Bumble Bee's outlying stations at Newport, Florence and Ilwaco, Wash., with the Bay offer.

Resolution Asks Security Council To Free Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — African delegations today were preparing a resolution on Portuguese colonialism more moderate than Tuesday's Soviet demand in the Security Council that Portugal get out of Africa this year.

The council, in the third day of debate on Portugal's African colonies, awaited the reply of Portuguese Foreign Minister Alberto Franco Nogueira to charges of misrule raised by the 32 African nations and the Soviet Union.

But the African resolution, expected today or Thursday, was much less drastic than the Soviet demand voiced Tuesday by Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko.

He told the council that Portugal's "colonial regime should be liquidated before the end of this year" and that economic and diplomatic sanctions should be voted "unequivocally" against Portugal.

The four African diplomats who presented the case against Portugal on instructions of the recent African summit conference in Addis Ababa went no further than asking the council to set a time limit — date unspecified — for Portugal to free its colonies or face sanctions.

Portuguese sources said Nogueira was preparing a long rebuttal to the African indictment and planned to speak for an hour or more.

Fedorenko went almost that long Tuesday in a sweeping indictment of NATO assistance to Portugal in repression of natives in Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea.

Except for charging that the United States supplied military aid to Portugal — to the extent of $268 million dollars — Fedorenko, perhaps reflecting the Moscow mood of the nuclear test ban negotiations, was mild in his remarks about Washington.

City Will Ask Reconsideration Of Traffic Signals On Harvard

The city of Roseburg will ask the state Highway Department to reconsider the city's request for signalization at the W. Bellows and W. Harvard Ave. intersection just west of the Interstate Highway 5 underpass.

Highway department officials have indicated they do not favor the traffic light.

The Roseburg City Council this week instructed the administration to renew the request and to submit additional information designed to help the highway officials see that the signal is "necessary and desirable."

The city will also indicate it is willing to pay its share of the installation cost. This local share—estimated at $4,000—would be provided from street improvement funds which emanate from gas tax receipts.

Views Expressed

Points of view favoring the installation have been expressed by Police Chief John Truett, Douglas Community Hospital and the Roseburg School District.

City Manager Craig McMicken reminded the council this week that the city Planning Commission had recommended a signal due to "factors which were not taken into account by the traffic engineers."

"One of these is the fact that the school district intends to route buses into this intersection sometime during the first part of 1964. In addition, the medical staff at Douglas Community Hospital finds it important to move through this intersection during emergencies."

Re-routing of school buses is planned in connection with the school district's high school construction plans. It is tentatively planned to construct a road along the south side of the baseball field. This road would exit onto Bellows St. Current thought, according to school officials, is to make this a one-way road so that all incoming

BLM Names Dose Eugene Director

PORTLAND (UPI) — Joseph C. Dose, a member of the forestry staff at the Bureau of Land Management's Washington, D. C., office, has been appointed manager of the Eugene District.

The appointment was announced Tuesday by BLM State Director Russell E. Getty.

Dose succeeds Lester Dunn, who becomes chief of the division of range and forest management for the BLM in California. The new director was a forester in the Coos Bay district in 1952 and later headed the forestry unit in that district.

Many Oregon Drivers Receive Suspensions

SALEM (UPI) — The driver's licenses of 21,198 Oregonians were suspended in the first six months of 1963, the State Department of Motor Vehicles said Monday.

Oregon courts reported more than 123,000 traffic violation convictions in the same period, a six per cent increase over a year ago.

Mandatory provisions of the law resulted in 18,652 license suspensions ranging from 30 days up to several years. Another 2,546 were suspended by the department under its discretionary authority.

Included in the mandatory suspensions were 1,224 licenses of persons convicted of drunk driving.

Failure to comply with the state's financial responsibility law was the chief reason for license suspensions during the period.

Five Fires Reported In Forests Tuesday

SALEM (UPI) — Five small fires in Oregon forests were quickly brought under control Tuesday, the State Forestry Department reported today.

All were man-caused, and the largest was confined to half an acre.

Three were in the Southeast Oregon district, where one was caused by a smoker and another by a train.

A careless smoker caused one Central Oregon district fire and the cause of one in the Northwest district has not been identified.

Neither the U. S. Forest Service nor the Bureau of Land Management in Portland reported any major fires in the state this morning.

Eye Damage Reported From Viewing Eclipse

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — A case of serious eye damage from the eclipse that occurred last week-end was reported here Tuesday when Paul Lessis, 33, consulted an ophthalmologist.

Scar damage was found and Lessis was referred to the clinic at Ohio State University in Columbus. Lessis said the damage was "pretty bad. I have kind of a blank spot when I look at things."

A near victim was Larry Davis, 29, of Dayton, a journalism student at Ohio State, who was examined at a hospital here. No permanent damage to his eyes was found, however.

Lassis said he was wearing sun glasses Saturday and looked at the eclipse for five minute periods for a total of 15 minutes.
