Demo Leaders Claim Prospects Are Good For Treaty Support

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Democratic leaders told President Kennedy today that the outlook is "excellent" for getting "strong bipartisan support" on ratification of the partial nuclear test ban treaty.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., told newsmen following a weekly White House legislative conference that the U.S. test ban negotiator, Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, made "a tremendous impression" Monday during an appearance at a joint meeting of three Senate committees on the test ban treaty.

As far as the senators could tell so far, Mansfield said, there are "no gimmicks, no side issues" tied to the treaty. Senate ratification by a two-thirds vote is needed before U.S. participation in the three-power agreement can become final.

While Mansfield indicated Harriman's explanation of the treaty was impressive, a good many senators still were withholding a final commitment on whether they would vote for ratification. They wanted to get a better sampling of the opinions of the folks back home.

Briefings given by Harriman and other administration spokesmen Monday to congressional committees indicated broad support for the pact in the House as well as the Senate, Mansfield said, and he was more optimistic than many other senators that ratification would come fairly fast.

that the chances for strong bipartisan ratification of the treaty are excellent and that we expected the ratification would come as soon as possible." Mansfield told newsmen after the regular Tuesday breakfast meeting of Democratic House and Senate leaders with Kennedy.

Mansfield said Kennedy expressed hope for "penetrating and fruitful" Senate debate on the treaty.

Goldwater Says Non-Aggression Pact Is Stupid

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., Monday warned of the futility of a non-aggression pact with Russia and said such an agreement would be "sheer stupidity."

Goldwater, regarded as a top contender for the GOP presidential nomination next year, made the comment during an address here at the annual convention of the Beauty and Barber Supply Institute.

Goldwater referred to speculation that such an agreement would be sought if the test ban treaty signed in Moscow were ratified by the United States Senate.

On the subject of the test ban pact itself, Sen. Goldwater insisted he was maintaining an "open mind" before deciding whether to vote for ratification. Previously, he was reported opposed to the treaty.

He stressed the treaty would not prevent a nuclear war and called the pact "valueless" in view of the announced intentions of France and Communist China to continue nuclear tests.

Goldwater said he probably would make up his mind on ratification when the Joint Chiefs of Staff take a position on the matter, adding that "the attitude of the military is most important."

He was critical of the new treaty because of its failure to ban underground testing, and he said this would give the Soviets an opportunity to continue secret testing. The treaty calls for a ban on testing in the atmosphere, outer space and under water.

Red Troops Penetrate U.S. Sector

SEOUL (UPI) — North Korean soldiers today killed their third American in two days in a sharp, four-hour clash six miles below the demilitarized zone dividing South Korea from Communist territory. Two Communists and a South Korean also were killed.

It was the deepest known penetration that North Korean soldiers have ever made into the U.S.-guarded sector of South Korea in the 10 years of uneasy truce.

A United Nations Command (UNC) spokesman said the battle broke out about 9 a.m. just north of Munsan-Ni, and that in order to reach the spot the North Koreans had to cross the demilitarized zone, travel through heavily patrolled areas and ford the Imjin River.

Two North Koreans and a South Korean policeman were killed in the gun-and-grenade exchange, after a South Korean civilian tipped off authorities to the presence of the Communists, it was announced.

The identity of the fatally wounded American was not disclosed immediately.

At least one more North Korean, known to be armed with a sub-machinegun, escaped the clash. A UNC announcement said U.S. 1st Cavalry soldiers were sweeping the area in a hunt for him.

The fight broke out a little more than 24 hours after an estimated seven North Koreans ambushed three 1st Cavalry Division soldiers, killing two and wounding one.

Monday's incident resulted for a time in the first full combat alert of American forces in Korea since the Cuban crisis last year. UNC authorities said the "reinforced alert" lasted only a short time, but they emphasized that a "high degree" of readiness was being maintained.

The soldier wounded Monday, Pfc. William L. Foster, 26, of Baltimore, Md., survived an emergency operation and was reported in good condition.

The dead were identified as Pfc. Charles T. Dessart III, 19, of Drexel Hill, Pa., and Pvt. David A. Seiler, 24, of Theresa, Wis.

"I didn't see anybody," Foster said in a hospital in Puyong. "I only heard the shots."

The soldier, his right arm in a cast and a tube inserted into the right side of his chest, said he was riding in a back seat when his jeep turned over. He said he believed he was pinned under the jeep for a time and came to with "doctors around."

Foster had been shot in the back twice and in the right hand once. Grenade fragments wounded him in the hip.

Fire Front Is Quiet In Areas In County

Although dry conditions prevail in Douglas County's forests, no fires in the last 24 hours were reported by the U.S. Forest Service.

Also reporting "all quiet" were the Rural Fire Department and the Douglas Forest Protective Association.

The City Fire Department had only one call, at 5:23 p.m. Monday. It took 20 minutes to put out a fire in a pile of sawdust at the Southern Pacific Railroad yards at the end of Mosher St. It was believed that an unextinguished cigarette or a spark from a switch engine may have been the cause of the blaze.

Skopje Survivors Face A New Threat--Disease

SKOPJE, Yugoslavia (UPI)—Disaster relief poured into devastated Skopje from all over the world today but the once-bustling city was gripped by the fear of a new threat--disease.

Rescue workers searched with growing urgency in the rubble left by one of the worst earthquakes in the country's history.

Official sources said the heat, disruption of water supplies and the possibility that hundreds of bodies might still be hidden under mountainous debris spurred fears of possible contamination.

Aleksandar Grifitov, president of the Macedonian Executive Council, said Monday that 813 bodies had been recovered by Sunday night. But he warned that as many as 700 more might remain.

Officials feared the final toll from the earthquake, which struck with deadly suddenness early Friday, might pass 1,500 dead with many thousands more injured.

Rescue workers hoped to save any injured still trapped in the ruins of the city, but the chances dwindled with every passing hour.

A French army rescue team equipped with special detection apparatus reported Monday night that they heard no more voices from under the rubble.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Belgrade said that officials were checking reports that the body of a U.S. Air Force sergeant and his wife were removed from the ruins of the Macedonia Hotel. This missing couple was identified as Staff Sgt. Harold R. Stacy of Gouverneur, N.Y., and his German born wife, Joanna.

Stacy was on leave from Sembach Air Force Base in West Germany for a vacation in Yugoslavia. A car parked near the hotel, buried under tons of masonry, was identified as his.

Between noon Sunday and 8 a.m. Monday, 10 persons were rescued alive from the debris, including 16-year-old Lenc Navovski, her mother and her brother. They had been buried for 79 hours when pulled out.

The official Tanjug news agency said a survey indicated that only 9,639 apartments throughout the city were still habitable. It said a total of 34,365 apartments were either destroyed or damaged beyond repair.

Indicate Broad Support

Briefings given by Harriman and other administration spokesmen Monday to congressional committees indicated broad support for the pact in the House as well as the Senate, Mansfield said, and he was more optimistic than many other senators that ratification would come fairly fast.

De Gaulle Holds Door Open For Reconciliation Meeting

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle is holding the door open for a possible "reconciliation meeting" with President Kennedy in Washington early next year, French officials said today.

The officials interpreted De Gaulle's remarks at his first news conference in six months Monday as an indication he seeks talks with the United States to bring France's relations with Washington out of their long freeze.

De Gaulle made no effort to explain France's disagreements with some aspects of U.S. policy. But the differences were far narrower than those that came out in his last press conference Jan. 14. At that time, he vetoed Britain's bid for Common Market membership, and rejected Kennedy's offer of Polaris nuclear missiles.

Monday, De Gaulle rejected the nuclear test ban agreement concluded by the United States, Britain and Russia, and said of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's plans for a non-aggression pact.

"France does not appreciate assimilation of the Atlantic alliance and Communist slavery,"

But he went out of his way to emphasize that, despite obvious disagreements, relations between the United States and France are based on "friendship and alliance."

Officials here interpreted this as a broad hint that he feels the time has come for talks with Kennedy, with the groundwork starting through diplomatic channels and working up to a possible visit to Washington.

European reaction to De Gaulle's statements followed predictable lines. Moscow Radio Monday night denounced his rejection of the test ban treaty as "absurd and foolish." Pravda said today that De Gaulle "more than once had recourse to slander the Soviet Union" in his remarks.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home said Monday night that De Gaulle did no more than had been expected of him in turning down the nuclear agreement.

"We have always recognized ourselves this agreement would present a particular problem for France," he said, because of its "betwixt and between" position in the nuclear arms race.

Mark Issues New Lumber Strike Plea

SALEM (UPI) — Citing forest fire dangers, Gov. Mark Hatfield made a new appeal Monday for settlement of the lingering lumber labor dispute.

At the meeting of the State Natural Resources Committee, the governor called for labor and management to get together to end the sprawling lumber labor industry shutdown.

Hatfield said the strike-lockout could have disastrous effect on the state's largest natural resource—lumber.

He explained that the manpower needed to fight forest fires is now dispersed and it would be difficult to get together if a blaze broke out. Logging and mill crews form a substantial part of the state's defense against forest fires.

"It would take just two or three days for the weather to dry out the forests and if a fire broke out they would become a veritable inferno," Hatfield declared.

State Forester Dwight Phipps predicted there would be more forest closures than ever this year as a result of the big Columbus Day blowdown, which has not yet been cleaned up.

Phipps declared the forest closures, which allow only persons with permits to enter, will be "enforced more stringently than ever."

He said conditions are now nearing a critical point and may remain there until Oct. 1.

There have been 264 fires in state-protected forests this year, with 173 listed as man-caused and 91 started by lightning. A total of 1,200 acres has been burned. The biggest single loss was about 700 acres of grass and brush near Baker.

Bursts Of Gunfire Startle Residents On Rose Mountain

Activities of the National Guard aren't limited to classroom study and Army drills.

People in the Rose Mountain area north of Roseburg and Kelley's Corner south of Roseburg can attest to that.

Despite efforts to inform all people in the areas involved, bursts of gunfire startled some.

Actually, the gunfire was the result of a well-planned and coordinated problem to test the mettle of Company B, 2nd Battalion, 162nd Infantry of Roseburg. The company has about 100 men.

The practice involved war maneuvers in which squads were allegedly in an enemy country where no natives could be trusted. The enemies in the mock battles were guerrillas (also National Guardsmen).

The company was organized in tactical training problem into platoons and given different missions both as guerrillas and anti-guerrilla patrols.

Eventually their paths crossed and fighting developed. Patrol leaders were given considerable latitude in how they handled the combat.

The men were armed with M-1 rifles loaded with blank ammunition and some pyrotechnics.

The first group left the Armory about 7:30, and the remaining ones left at intervals until 8:10. All were due back at the Armory at 9:30.

Other problems around the Roseburg area will be worked out and run at later dates, reports 1st Lt. Rolland D. Davis.

He said the exercises are in line with the training being conducted at the Armory during the year and which will be conducted during summer camp the last of August.

Lumber Unions Plan Strike Move Against TOC Members

By United Press International

Northwest lumber unions laid plans to spread their strike against members of the Timber Operators Council today, while one independent firm was struck and another threatened with a walkout.

The Lumber and Sawmill Workers posted pickets this morning at the Clear Fir Products Co. door manufacturing plant at Springfield. A company spokesman said wage talks with Local 59-35 broke down Monday night.

About 200 employees were affected, he said.

The plans to extend the strike to more TOC members posed a new threat to wood industry operations in the Roseburg area, although no strike preparations were indicated at the local level this morning.

The LSW represents workers at five TOC member firms in the Roseburg area. They are A. F. Saar, Inc., St. Helen's Wood Products, Hult Lumber Co., Round Prairie Lumber Co. and J. H. Baxter Co.

IWA in the Roseburg area represents workers at three TOC members: Douglas County Lumber Co., Evans Products and Forest Industries.

Strike actions to date have included U.S. Plywood at Roseburg and International Paper Co. at Gardiner.

A settlement with Scott Paper Co. predicted by President Harvey Nelson of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) Region 3 Sunday, failed to materialize in Portland Monday and Nelson said he "would not guarantee how long strike action would be withheld."

The IWA represents about 440 loggers and boom men who supply logs for Scott mills at Everett and Anacortes, Wash. They had been reported near a settlement for about a week, but Nelson charged the company entered Monday's talks with an entirely new and unacceptable offer.

Four Persons Die In Oregon Mishaps

Four persons died in separate accidents in Oregon Monday, one of them a 15-year-old Central Point girl who was killed when the car in which she was riding crashed while being chased by State Police.

Marianne Hedgepeth, 15, was killed and three other persons injured when a vehicle driven by Gerald Wayne Holder, 22, Maywood, Calif., sailed off Interstate Highway 5 at the Merlin exit near Grants Pass and burst into flames. Police said they had been chasing it for four or five miles at speeds up to 130 miles an hour.

Holder's brother, Royce, 19, Grants Pass, and Amy Cheryl Cavin, 15, Central Point, were hospitalized at Grants Pass. Gerald Holder was placed under guard, police said.

Robert Moore, 77, Chico, Calif., was killed in a two-car collision on U.S. Highway 101 north of Tillamook. Mrs. Melvin B. McOmber, Oroville, Calif., a passenger in a car driven by her husband, was hospitalized with fractured ribs.

McOmber was not hurt. Brett Zacharias, 2, Enterprise, drowned in Prairie Creek near his home. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Zacharias Jr. of Enterprise.

Harold Kadwallader, 55, Fairview, was killed in a tractor accident at Gresham. He was mowing hay when the tractor he was driving overturned at the edge of a 30-foot gulch and rolled on him.

Crashed Arab Plane Found

BOMBAY, India (UPI) — The main wreckage of a United Arab Airlines Comet jet that crashed into the choppy waters off Bombay early Sunday was recovered by Indian ships today, according to officials here.

Ships of the Indian navy also picked up three more bodies of crash victims, bringing to eight the total number of bodies recovered. The jetliner was carrying 55 passengers and a crew of 8 when it crashed for unknown reasons.

Test Ban Treaty Generates Hope At Geneva Arms Meet

GENEVA (UPI) — Delegates to the 17-nation disarmament conference gathered today, after a six-week recess, in an atmosphere of optimism generated by the East-West agreement on a partial nuclear test ban.

Charles C. Steele, chief U.S. negotiator, said on arrival Monday he was looking forward to a "useful and constructive session."

Western officials were reported hopeful that the test ban agreement initiated in Moscow would lead the way for settlement of other cold war issues. But the delegates were not certain just where to begin. The different approaches included:

Expects Non-Aggression Try — An expected attempt by Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin to press for a non-aggression pact between the NATO and Warsaw treaty alliances, and to urge creation of nuclear free zones in Africa, South America, and possibly Central Europe.

—A bid by the eight neutral nations to extend the new test ban, which covers only explosions in the atmosphere, outer space, and under water, to include underground tests.

—A Western move to investigate the two issues on which it is felt the Soviets are ready to talk seriously — the prevention of surprise attack and the reduction of missile stockpiles.

Western negotiators were understood to be wary of taking up issues that could only lead to new deadlocks and create new suspicions on both sides. They do not want to do anything here to lose the initiative gained by the Moscow agreement.

Bilateral Talks Hoped — Bilateral talks between Steele and Tsarapkin, away from the spotlight of the conference floor, were looked upon as the major hope for further progress.

The sole agreement of the conference, reached shortly before the recess, was brought about in such private talks.

This was the "hot line" arrangement linking Moscow and Washington by teletype to prevent misunderstandings in times of crisis. The link will be installed by September.

But no further progress is expected here until after the big three foreign ministers sign the test ban treaty in Moscow in the next week or 10 days.
