Rusk Heads Delegation To Ink Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk will head an 11-member U. S. delegation which will leave for Moscow Friday night for the signing of the limited test ban treaty, the White House announced today.

The specific date for signing of the treaty has not yet been set, but it was understood that the ceremony probably would be held Monday.

The delegation will include five U. S. senators—three Democrats and two Republicans.

The inclusion of the two Republicans — Sens. George Aiken, Vt. and Leverett Saltonstall, Mass., tended to convey a bipartisan air for the trip to the ceremonial signing of the treaty.

Some other Republican leaders had served notice in advance that they would not make the trip, even if invited, and there had been reports that only Democrats would accompany Rusk.

No House members were included in the delegation—apparently because it is the Senate that must ratify the treaty before the U. S. participation becomes binding.

Other senators in the delegation will be Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee; Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., chairman of the joint congressional atomic energy committee; and assistant democratic leader, and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., chairman of the disarmament subcommittee.

Aiken is a member of the Foreign Relations Committee and Saltonstall is ranking minority member of the Armed Services Committee. Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, top GOP member of the foreign relations group, and Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., had said in advance they would turn down any invitation to join the delegation.

In addition to members of the Senate—where the treaty requires a two-thirds vote for ratification—others accompanying Rusk on the Moscow trip include:

William C. Foster, director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency; Dr. Glenn Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission; Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations; Llewellyn Thompson, former ambassador to the Soviet Union and now special assistant to Rusk; and Arthur Dean, who formerly headed the U. S. delegation to disarmament negotiations at Geneva.

Dirksen denied that his refusal to go represented an anti-treaty stance.

Three In Hospital After Bee Attack

CORVALLIS (UPI)—Bee stings hospitalized three persons, stung a fourth, killed one horse, and severely injured another here, city police reported Tuesday.

Hospitalized Monday night with more than 100 stings was Roberta Swearingin, 18, owner of one of the horses. Her mother, Ella, was stung more than 75 times, and her father, Ely, 63, was stung more than 50 times. They were reported in serious condition at the Good Samaritan Hospital.

Duane V. Ogle, owner of the other horse, was kicked in the head and stepped on by one of the horses.

The melee at the Swearingin residence here started when one of the horses knocked over a beehive. Neighbors, firemen and ambulance crews were called to aid the injured and drive off the bees.

Master Plan For Stewart Park Wins Park Commission Favor

A "master plan" is being developed for Stewart Park by city administrators.

The project won the blessings of the city Park and Playground Commission at its meeting Tuesday afternoon. Administrators were instructed to proceed with the preparation of a master site development plan for the park and to present the plan to Roseburg's City Council.

A procedure for developing the plan was outlined by City Manager Craig McMicken. An initial step

DR. STEPHEN WARD is carried to a waiting ambulance from the Chelsea apartment where he was found unconscious early Wednesday. Ward was rushed to St. Stephen's Hospital just hours before a criminal court jury was to begin deliberating on vice charges against him. The 50-year-old osteopath was reported suffering from an overdose of drugs after an apparent suicide attempt. The hospital described his condition as serious but not immediately critical. Dr. Ward Attempts To Commit Suicide By Taking Overdose Of Sleeping Pills

LONDON (UPI)—Dr. Stephen Ward tried to kill himself with sleeping pills today a few hours before his vice trial went to the jury.

Britain's sensational sex scandal neared a climax when the jury in the Old Bailey criminal court retired to decide whether the society osteopath and friend of the mighty was guilty of living off the earnings of prostitutes.

In another stunning development, Ward was rushed to a hospital after taking an overdose of a drug reported to be sodium amylal during the night.

He was still unconscious hours later when Justice Sir Archie Marshall completed his long, two-day summing up and the case went to the jury.

Almost as the jury retired, St.

Stephen's Hospital issued a bulletin saying that Ward was "grievously ill but is now showing signs of responding to treatment."

"There is hope for his recovery," the bulletin added.

A jury of 11 men and one woman today convicted Dr. Ward on two vice counts and innocent on three others. The jury, which deliberated for 4 hours and 35 minutes, found Ward guilty of the first two counts brought against him — living partly off the earnings of Christine Keeler, 21, and Marilyn Rice Davies, 18.

scious and frothing at the lips at the home of one of the defense witnesses, where he had spent the night.

Ward was whisked to the hospital, where he was given emergency treatment with oxygen but remained unconscious for hours.

Justice Marshall revoked Ward's bail and completed his charge to the jury of 11 men and one woman so they could determine if the osteopath was guilty of charges of living on immoral earnings and seducing young girls.

Ward was understood to have left two notes in the home of Noel Howard Jones, 24, a defense witness who testified that he slept with playgirl Christine Keeler, 21, in Ward's apartment but that it was simply a pickup romance and not paid prostitution.

Ward spent Tuesday night in Jones' apartment.

Jones—who anxiously stressed on the witness stand that this affair with Miss Keeler took place before he was married—refused today to say what had happened to Ward.

"I'm sorry," he said. "I am not going to talk."

Ward gave an indication in court Tuesday of the great strain he had been under when, despite warnings from Justice Marshall, he shouted at Mervyn Griffith-Jones during the prosecutor's summation.

Marshall referred sympathetically to this strain as he began his own instructions to the jury.

but he made it clear that he felt Ward had weakened his case by failing to call his influential friends to testify that Miss Keeler and Marilyn Rice-Davies, 18, were not prostitutes.

The judge mentioned no names, but the playgirls have testified they were intimate, among others, with Viscount Astor, son of American-born Lady Nancy Astor; film and television star Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and ex-War Minister John Profumo.

Introduced Christine Keeler to Profumo and to Capt. Eugene Ivanov, the assistant Soviet naval attaché which led to Profumo's disgrace and a House of Commons debate on security—seemed very depressed as he left the court Tuesday.

His new girl friend, singer Julie Gulliver, 22, told United Press International that she had never spoken to Profumo.

"Stephen will never go to prison," she did not explain the cryptic remark.

A grass fire of undetermined origin burned Tuesday noon over several acres around the home of Bob Graves in Lookingglass. Neighbors responded immediately to check the blaze which spread rapidly, fanned by a stiff breeze, correspondent Hazel Marsh reports.

The volunteers were able to check the fire within a few feet of a large barn on the Reinhold Blank property adjoining the Graves place. The DFPA fire patrol crew arrived to complete mopping up efforts and to hold down and control a blaze which had gotten a start in a large sawdust pile near the Graves home. The fire is reported to be still smoldering in the sawdust pile this morning.

Mrs. Marsh said. A large pile of peeler core wood was also threatened.

No appreciable damage resulted from the blaze, according to Mrs. Marsh, but dry conditions and winds posed a real threat for a time.

South Korea Moves To Halt Red Raids

Nearly Hopeless Quest For Quake Victims Continues

SKOPJE, Yugoslavia (UPI)—The almost hopeless search for survivors buried in the ruins of this earthquake-shattered city resumed today while engineers fought impending disease with dynamite and anti-vermin sprays.

The French team leading the quest for victims of Friday's early morning disaster uncovered only one survivor in the last 24 hours with their ultra-sensitive search apparatus.

They found Bogdan Marckovic under tons of rubble Tuesday night and he was quickly flown, in serious condition, to Belgrade for treatment.

But outside this once-bustling city, U.S. Army medics worked around the clock aiding injured citizens of Skopje, and the survivors' confidence and morale rose sharply when they heard the GI's would stay as long as they are needed.

As the French moved among the rubble piles listening for sounds as soft as a heart beat, the Yugoslav engineers set charges to bring down the menacing shells of tall buildings.

Air Force planes filled with insecticide sprayed the ruins, the news agency Tanjug said, in an effort to prevent disease springing from the decaying bodies and wrecked sewage system.

Yugoslav medical teams are vaccinating workers and soldiers against the two comrades of disaster, typhus and typhoid.

Two Queens Draw Fines For Smoknig In Port

NEW YORK (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary have been fined $100 each for smoking in the port.

The Cunard liners were charged with violating city air pollution laws. Both were fourth offenders, it was noted by Criminal Court Judge Herman Weinkrantz.

The judge commented as he levied the fines: "We can't discriminate between queens."

Muriel Bell, attorney representing the Cunard Line, entered a guilty plea and said the liners smoke so much because of their advanced age. The line is attempting to cure the problem, the lawyer added.

Blaze Levels N. Roseburg Home

Fire swept through a 16-room home in North Roseburg early this morning, completely leveling the house and causing damage of about $40,000.

The blaze was first reported about 12:30 a.m. By the time firemen from the Roseburg Rural Fire Department arrived on the scene just moments later, the house was over 75 per cent involved.

Firemen spent several minutes fighting their way through the blazing inferno to see if anyone was in the house, but all members of the family were away at the time of the fire.

Lumber Unions Call Three More Strikes Against TOC Firms

By United Press International
Northwest lumber unions carried out their threat to call surprise strikes against members of the Timber Operators Council today with shutdowns at Sweet Home, Lebanon and North Bend, Ore.

The closures came hours before Region 3 President Harvey Nelson of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) and Earl Hartley, executive secretary of the Western Council of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers (LSW), were to meet in Salem with Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield.

The union officials Tuesday accepted Hatfield's invitation to talk over means of settling the contract dispute which has idled more than 29,000 workers in four states since June 5.

Santiarn Plants Hit
Pickets appeared today at Santiam Lumber Company's plywood plant and sawmill at Sweet Home, idling about 450 men. The company's Lebanon plywood division and mill were struck at the same time, throwing another 300 men out of work, according to company estimates.

The Sweet Home workers are represented by the LSW and those at Lebanon by the IWA.

Workers walked off their jobs at the Menasha Plywood Corp. plant at North Bend when pickets appeared at 7 a.m. The day shift already had started when the pickets reached the plant. The LSW represents about 325 workers at a plywood plant and stud mill.

Another 100 men in logging crews continued to work today, but there were reports the strike would spread to them Thursday.

Rainier Firm Threatened
Dick Gilman, public relations director for the IWA in Portland, also announced the Rainier Manufacturing Co. at Rainier, Ore., would be struck today.

However, a company spokesman said 170 workers there already were on their annual vacation and were not scheduled to return until Aug. 12. No pickets had appeared this morning.

The IWA served notice Tuesday night that a strike against the McCloud River Lumber Co. at McCloud, Calif., was "imminent." Paul Pugh, regional area administrator for the union, charged the firm had failed to live up to prior commitments. Talks broke down shortly before the announcement.

Glide Man Named To Advisory Board

A rancher and longtime resident of the Glide area has been named to the advisory board of the Roseburg District of the Bureau of Land Management.

He is Harold F. Barker. A native of Douglas County, Barker is the first representative of the livestock industry on the Roseburg district board. For the past few years he has devoted his time almost exclusively to sheep ranching.

He is active in the Douglas County Livestock Association with primary interest and activity in pasture development and livestock marketing.

Advisory board members are appointed for a one-year term and may serve additional terms upon reappointment.

Membership on the Board includes representatives of such community interests as large and small timber operators, wildlife and recreation, agriculture, livestock industry, labor and the general public. The Bureau of Land Management depends upon the counsel of advisory boards in the resolution of management and administrative problems connected with BLM lands and resources.

Other members of the 12-man district board reappointed for the current term include Clifford Bryden, Ralph DeMoisy, M. L. Hallmark, W. O. Kelsay and Harold Woolley representing the timber industry; John P. Amacher, wild life and recreation; Robert H. Franks, agriculture; Norman Lee labor, and V. T. Jackson, Albert G. Fliegel and Harold Reaume, representing the general public.

U.S. Forces Now On Full Combat Alert

SEOUL (UPI) — Gen. Park Chung Hee, strong man in South Korea's military junta, ordered his forces today to take "proper punitive measures" against Communist border raiders.

Park issued the order to Defense Minister Kim Sung Eun and Foreign Minister Kim Yong Shik after conferring with U.S. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr.

The proposed "punitive measures" were not spelled out. Earlier, the defense minister had said South Korea's 600,000-man army was alerted to forestall any attempt "to renew the war in Korea." He said the Communist attacks appeared to be part of a plan to increase tension.

Kim Sung Eun made his statements in an interview with UPI after three clashes between American soldiers and North Korean raiders this week left three Americans, four North Koreans, and one South Korean dead.

U.S. forces here also have been ordered on a full combat alert for the first time since the Cuban crisis last October.

"We should not overlook the fact that the North Korean puppets can renew war in Korea whenever convenient to them and whenever they are ready," Kim said.

Creates Tension
"In my opinion, the latest illegal, barbarous attacks on the U.N. troops were aimed at creating tension here in order to check Soviet Russia from making approaches to the West as a result of the Sino-Russian ideological struggle," he added.

(In London, informed sources said today that Communist China, which dominates North Korea, may be planning such pin-prick acts of aggression as part of its anti-Soviet campaign.)

(In Washington, the State Department said Tuesday that the Korean attacks may be part of a Peking drive to increase tension in Asia.)

Kim said South Korean officials have no indication that the North Koreans have immediate plans to renew fighting. Since the truce ended the fighting 19 years ago this month, a state of war has continued to exist between the two halves of the peninsula, but a demilitarized zone marking off their borders has curbed incidents.

Grave Incidents
The attacks on the Americans, inside South Korean territory, were the gravest incidents since the armistice.

Kim said another reason for the Communist attacks might have been a desire to "stir opinion among the U.S. public in favor of withdrawal of U.S. troops from Korea."

The Communists have demanded this withdrawal for many years. Kim said they apparently believe that by killing American soldiers they will create pressure in the United States for the return of the troops.

But Kim and the South Korean press agreed that the most probable reason for the attack was the militant policies of Communist China and its desire to embarrass Soviet attempts to reach a settlement of the cold war with the West.

Wheeler explained the nearest hydrant was over 3,000 feet away and hose connections and booster facilities could not be made over that great a distance in time to help stop the fire.

The assistant fire chief said Steel told them the house and contents were covered by insurance.

FIRE DESTROYED this 16-room home in North Roseburg early today. The fire was reported about 12:30 a.m. and the house was more than 75 per cent enveloped in flames by the time the fire department arrived on the scene moments later. Although the entire building and all the contents were destroyed, all four members of the Ralph Steel family were away from home when the fire broke out and there were no injuries. Probe Under Way On Dog Shooting

City police are investigating the shooting of a small dog, owned by Mrs. Robert Gordon, at 316 W. Umpqua Ave. about 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Gordon stated she let the dog out about 7:50 a.m., and about 8:15 she found the dog on her front porch with a bullet hole through its hips.

The dog was rushed to a veterinarian, but its injuries were such it had to be put to sleep, she stated.

The shot was with a .22 calibre bullet said the veterinarian, Mrs. Gordon, in cooperation with police, requests that anyone having heard a shot or having information concerning her dog, get in touch with police.

She stated she is not certain where the dog had run to, and that she had not heard the shot. She said her fear principally is that some child or adult may be harmed if such shooting in the area continues.

CRASH KILLS 13

MANILA (UPI)—Thirteen persons were killed and 30 injured Tuesday when their bus went out of control on a hill and crashed into a mountainside in Cebu Province.
