Trip Across United States Enjoyed By Follett Family

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Follett and children, Tony and Camille, have returned to their home in the Green district after a month's tour of the United States. They traveled in 25 states, sightseeing and visiting with friends and relatives.

The trip east took them over the northern route, where they saw the Craters of the Moon National Monument in Idaho and all the places of interest in Yellowstone National Park. In Wyoming they also saw Pahaska Teepee (Buffalo Bill's Lodge) and in South Dakota were impressed with the Mount Rushmore Park and the unusual Badlands country. Farther east they saw Niagara Falls, and then went to New York, where they called on Follett's aunt, 89-year-old Miss May Follett, and cousins Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sturzer, Father Ralph Sturzer and Miss Virginia Sturzer. In Silver Springs, N. Y., they visited with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Grover.

In Corning they toured the Corning Glass Works, and then went to Pennsylvania, where they were fortunate enough to be visiting at the time the 100th anniversary of the Gettysburg battles were being commemorated. They were made very conscious of the difference in war at that time and the present, when they watched the enactment of battles using old cannons and other equipment. Here they also toured the Gettysburg Museum and Independence Hall.

In Wilmington, Del., they spent some time visiting with Father Edmund Hyland, who was formerly a pastor of the St. Joseph's Parish in Roseburg.

In Washington, D. C., they toured all the historic places, and were impressed with the beautiful murals, statuary and other artwork in the capital.

Their return was via the southern route, where they did considerable sightseeing along the way, including Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico, in El Paso, Tex., they called on Follett's cousin, Mrs. Glenora Hatfield, and son, Hayward. In Tucson, they stayed with Mrs. Follett's niece, Mrs. Roy Edwards, and saw her nephews, Leo and Larry Robertson, and their families. In Phoenix, they were guests of Follett's brother, R. J. Follett, and his family, and in California they called on friends.

Judging from the stories the children had to tell of their trip, it would seem that they absorbed a good deal of background for American history and national geography classes, as well as becoming better acquainted with national heroes and their ideals upon which this country was founded.

AUGUST 14-18 ROSEBURG

Church Wedding Unites Couple

White gladioli, turquoise tinted daisies and tall white tapers decorated the altar of St. Joseph's Catholic Church June 15 for the wedding of Marilyn Helland and Donald Edward Back.

Traditional organ music was played by Mrs. Robert Fabian. Father Marion performed the double ring ceremony at 3 p.m. before friends and relatives of the couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olger S. Helland. The bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Paul R. Back. All are from Roseburg.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a full-length gown of white Chantilly lace and taffeta. The gown was designed with a scoop-necked bodice and elbow-length sleeves of the lace. The taffeta skirt with front panel of lace was draped with controlled fullness, giving a shepherdess effect. The back of the skirt ended in a chapel train. For something borrowed she wore Mrs. Larry Raines' tiered bouffant veil of illusion, held in place by a pearlized wreath crown of orange blossoms. The bride carried a white orchid in a cluster of stephanotis, bound to a white prayer book loaned by Stephen Tudor.

Miss Carmen Henderson of McMinville was maid of honor. Mrs. Larry Raines of Portland and Miss Betsy Halvarson of Arcadia, Calif., were bridesmaids. All were dressed in turquoise taffeta street-length frocks with lace bodices. They had turquoise veiled bandeaux and matching slippers. Each carried a nosegay of white and turquoise carnations sprinkled with silver to carry out the bride's color scheme, the hues of her sorority.

Best man was Hugh Brock. Ushering was done by Barry Enticknap of Concord, Mass., and Joe Kilpatrick of Bethlehem, Pa.

The mother of the bride chose a turquoise lace sheath jacketed with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a pink-embroidered white linen sheath with matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of orchids.

The three-tiered colonnade wedding cake was served by Mrs. Robert Billings, aunt of the bridegroom, and Candy Beattie. Pouring coffee was Mrs. Marvin Helland, aunt of the bride. Miss Pam Boatwright presided at the punch table.

The guest book was presented by Maryann Barron, and Janet Kelly received the gifts at the door. The bridegroom's cake and small packages of rice were passed to the guests by Teresa Kelly and Pam Chaney.

For traveling, the bride chose a light turquoise cotton sheath and matching accessories. Following a honeymoon to the Oregon coast, Mr. and Mrs. Back will be at home at 48 B. St., Vallejo, Calif.

The bride and bridegroom were both graduated from Roseburg High School. The bride attended the University of Oregon where she was active in musical and Zeta Tau Alpha sorority activities.

The bridegroom, who is a qualified U.S. Navy submariner, is currently attending Nuclear Power School at Vallejo.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Eric Stenseth of Yoncalla, grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Helland of Salem; Miss Amy Rydell of Willamina; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Billings and Rob. Tom and Dick Billings, all of Vancouver, Wash.; Miss Carmen Henderson of McMinville; Miss Betsy Halvarson, Arcadia, Calif.; Barry Enticknap, Concord, Mass.; and Joe Kilpatrick, Bethlehem, Pa.

Pictures Of Alaska Trip Shown By Charles Forees

On Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foree of Green invited friends to their home to see pictures of their recent trip to Alaska.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bernard, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Mosley, Lyle Timm, Mrs. Dutch Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hovey and Joe Anderson.

Mrs. Charles Holcomb assisted Mrs. Foree in serving refreshments.

The Forees also showed pictures and told of their trip during the Sunday evening service of the Green Community Church.

The Forees and their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Mulkey of Eugene, spent a month touring Alaska by campor. Both men are long-time employees of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

They first went to Dawson Creek, Canada, where the Alcan Highway begins, and followed it to White Horse, from whence they turned off on the Dawson City Loop, a crooked narrow road, traversing some of the most beautiful scenery of the trip. The loop road goes as far north as Dawson in the Yukon Territory, where they recalled they had to pay 37 cents for a quart of milk which turned out to be powdered milk already mixed. Bread was 54 cents for a small loaf. All prices along the way were very high, and they said that the milk served in restaurants still consists of the powdered can in the center of the table.

The Loop Road took them to Anchorage, where the party entered for the trip to Fairbanks and back, courtesy of the Alaskan Railroad, which also provided for all their accommodations for the two-day stay in that city, as well as sightseeing. Here as well as all places visited they were impressed with the unusual friendliness of the people, and their way of living life without undue hurry, bustle and worry. This seems to be typical of Alaska today as it was years ago, the visitors stated. It was here they received an invitation from a family they met on the train to visit their home and have a moose dinner. They also went to church with the family the following day.

After their return to Anchorage, they retraced the Alcan Highway to Haines and there took the ferry down the inland pass, stopping at Juneau and Ketchikan for considerable sightseeing before continuing to Prince Rupert. Here they traveled across British Columbia into the United States at Kingston. They made the trip south to Oregon after touring the Olympic Peninsula. They report that they had both rainy and sunny weather but that it rained the whole way home from Prince Rupert. They found the camp grounds nice and well-kept in British Columbia and Yukon, and the newer camp areas along the Alcan are average.
