Planes Keep Vigil In Wake Of Storm
By United Press International
Scout planes went out this morning to look for new, lightning-set fires that may be smoldering in the wake of a new wave of thunderstorms that swept south-western Idaho late Friday.

A dispatcher for the Boise National Forest reported eight new fires from the electrical storm, two of them in the mountain Home district, four in the Idaho City district and two in the Garden Valley district.

Pilots made three dangerous, after-noon Bentonite drops on the worst of the eight, in the Idaho City district north of Boise. Four smokejumpers were dropped on that blaze.

The Bureau of Land Management was uncertain how many new fires may have broke out although it did count three of four small ones in the wake of the storm. It sent planes aloft this morning to look for new fires.

Surge In Profit-Taking Sales On Stock Market Is Predicted
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury today anticipates a big surge in "profit-taking" sales on the stock market next year.

Reason: It expects Congress to make a sharp cut, effective next Jan. 1, in the taxes levied on the sale from stocks, houses and other property.

The tax release was approved Friday by the House Ways & Means Committee for inclusion in the tax revision and reduction bill it is drafting.

The tax saving — ranging from 16 to 20 per cent — would apply only to the sale of property held by the owner for at least two years.

Expect Selling Spree
Although the legislation ultimately would lose almost $100 million a year in annual revenue, in the Treasury said the immediate result would be a selling spree that would boost Treasury tax revenues next year by more than $300 million.

Kefauver Gained Prominence During 1950 Crime Hearings

Sen. Estes Kefauver, who died this morning, was a rangy, soft-spoken man who became a national figure when television brought his face into millions of homes during the crime hearings in 1950.

Senate Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., termed Kefauver "a crusader and an idealist." He said his contribution to the betterment and welfare of the nation will be long remembered.

Sen. Everett Dirksen, Ill., GOP Senate leader said: "Nothing has so distressed me in a long time as the news of the passing of Sen. Kefauver. I entertain high respect and deep affection for him."

He failed twice to win the presidential nomination. Once in 1952 and again in 1956. But in 1956 he straged a knockdown convention floor fight to edge out President Kennedy as Adlai Stevenson's running mate.

Stricken During Debate
The senator, who made a national reputation with his investigations of the crime syndicate, was taken ill during a debate on the communications satellite program.

However, he did not require an ambulance and was driven to the hospital in a private car.

Kefauver was elected to the Senate in 1948 and reelected in 1954 and 1960.

He was a veteran of 10 years service in the House when he was elected to national prominence in 1944 by bowing over the big boss of Tennessee politics and

U.S. Girl Nabbed On Drug Charge
ROME (UPI) — Italian police moved against an international ring today on leads developed from information supplied by an American girl under arrest on drug charges.

Authorities identified the girl as Barbara Joan Spark, 22, of Pacific Palisades, Calif., and said she had thousands of dollars worth of marijuana in her suitcase when picked up here last Thursday. The Italian press pictured her as an out-and-out amateur in the illicit drug trade.

"Please don't tell my parents," she was quoted as begging.

Police said that under questioning the California girl supplied them with information that led to the arrest of two men in Rome Friday.

French police, in a development so far not connected to the arrests in Italy, picked up two Canadians Friday preparing to leave Paris on separate flights from Orly Airport. Thirteen pounds of heroin were found in their luggage, police said.

Today it was learned that French police, acting on a tip from Canadian authorities, have picked up a suspect believed to have supplied the pair. The suspect was identified as Roger Couder, a resident of Paris and the Cote D'Azur who was described as "one of the principal drug smugglers in the world."

They said he apparently was part of an international ring bringing drugs from the Middle East to New York and Chicago via Marseilles, Paris, Montreal and Toronto.

Full Candor Is Promised In Ban Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hubert H. Humphrey, Senate Democratic whip, pledged today that "nothing will be held back" when administration spokesmen discuss the possible gains and risks of the nuclear test-ban treaty.

The Minnesota lawmaker said administration leaders have made it clear in early discussions that they are ready to "cooperate wholeheartedly" with senators who want to air all pertinent questions before a ratification vote. Humphrey said he has insisted on "complete candor."

Withheld Judgment

Many Senate Republicans have withheld judgment on the all-but-underground ban of nuclear testing pending a detailed exploration of the issues involved. A Democratic expert on weapons development, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., took a similar line in a Senate speech Friday.

Jackson said the Senate must get "the same type and range of evidence" which convinced President Kennedy that the treaty is in the nation's best interest. The senator, who heads the weapons subcommittee of the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee, listed a series of questions which he proposes to pursue.

Stating that the administration plans to hold nothing back, Humphrey said in an interview that "whatever risks are involved will be outlined."

"Whatever gains are involved will be outlined too," he said.

To Produce Witnesses
Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., told newsmen he believes President Kennedy is "fully prepared" to produce the necessary witnesses to testify that the treaty will enhance national security as the President has declared.

Dirksen said he did not know exactly what U.S. military leaders would say about the treaty. But he indicated he expects Kennedy to produce Pentagon witnesses who will endorse the agreement.

Jackson has said in the past that if there is a choice between a strong military deterrent and a test ban treaty, the deterrent must have first priority.

Grand Jurors Indict Three

The Douglas County Grand Jury Friday returned three true bills and one not-true bill during its session.

Exonerated was Wayne Powell, 25, Canyonville, who had been charged with failure to support his child.

True bills were returned on Lawrence Heidenreich, 18, of Idlewild Park; Velma Irene Bell, 47, of Salem; and June Elene Lyman, 24, Winston.

Heidenreich was charged with a burglary July 28 at the home of Kenneth W. Smith on Idlewild Route. He allegedly broke into the house with intent to steal.

Velma Bell is charged with passing a worthless $10 check at the Rose Room of the Rose Hotel June 6.

June Lyman was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. She is charged with lascivious conduct in front of a 16-year-old boy.

In Douglas County District Court, meanwhile, bail of $1,500 was set on Ernest P. Barzolis, 23, of Rt. 1, Box 439A, Sutherlin. He is charged with non-support.

And Linda Lucille Peden was tried and convicted in court Friday of vagrancy. District Court Judge Gerald Hayes sentenced her to serve six months in jail and pay $5 costs. The costs were suspended and probation was granted for one year.

Finally, James Smith, 32, Winston, was booked in the Douglas County jail as a fugitive from justice. He was arrested by Winston Police Chief George Jacobs for violation of his parole in Ohio. Smith will be held for three weeks for Ohio authorities.

Boys Suspected In Theft Of Gas

Two teen-age Cottage Grove boys were taken into custody by Roseburg City Police early this morning on a charge of stealing gas and later placed in the Douglas County jail by order of juvenile authorities.

City police said the night telephone operator at Pacific Northwest Bell spotted the boys, ages 16 and 17, apparently stealing gasoline from a car in the parking lot when she got off work. She called police and gave them a description of the car driven by the boys.

Sgt. Don Webberly working in the police office, spotted the two drive past the police station, radioed to one of the patrol cars, and they were picked up. The incident took place about 6 a. m.

Virgil Humerickhouse, 37, of Roseburg, was arrested about 2:30 a. m. following an alleged fight at a cafe in downtown Roseburg. City police said Humerickhouse was arrested on a charge of being drunk on a public street after he had become involved in a fight in the cafe which resulted in the breaking of a $30 mirror.

Ailing Hoover Is 89 Today, Continues Work On History

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ailing Hoover celebrates the 89th anniversary of his birth today with a few close relatives and friends.

Hoover, instead of holding his traditional birthday eve news conference, issued a brief message to fellow Americans from his skyscraper apartment in Manhattan. It said, in part: "We have a great way of life—let's keep it that way."

Birthday cards and sprays of flowers, some taller than Hoover's favorite fishing rod, adorned tables, cabinets and the mantelpiece in the sitting room of his apartment in the Waldorf Towers.

Gets Special Tribute
In Washington, for the second straight year, Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Nebr., paid a special tribute to Hoover in the Senate Friday for his "exemplary life."

The 31st president, a Republican who served in the White House from 1929 to 1933, was critically ill with a gastro-intestinal disorder for several days last June.

Since then, his physicians said Hoover "has become stronger and is able to work at his desk for a short period each day. The number of his visitors still is limited, and it is advisable that he should not assume any public obligations at the present time."

Works On History
One of Hoover's aides said he worked steadily on his "magnum opus," a history of the past 30 years designed as a publication in several volumes. He recently completed a book on fishing, his favorite sport.
