Herbert Smith Honored Here

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith of 237 SE Pitzer St., were guests of honor in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Munroe, at their home in the Green district Tuesday. The occasion was an open house in celebration of the Smiths' golden wedding anniversary.

The Munroe home was tastefully decorated with seasonal flowers. A beautiful tiered wedding cake, a punch bowl and lovely flowers graced the dining table. The cake had been made and decorated by Mrs. Elvin Woods, a family friend. Mr. and Mrs. Smith wore corsage and boutonniere of gold-colored carnations.

The Smiths came to Roseburg from California soon after the Munroes did. They have led a busy life — Mrs. Smith's activities have been mostly with voice and instrumental music for children, individually and in groups. Mr. Smith worked as a salesman, as an assistant in the medical laboratory of the College of Medical Evangelists (now Loma Linda University), but turned to building homes and churches, as well as industrial buildings, were on his list of contracts. He did a large amount of work in the building of the Roseburg Junior Academy auditorium on Military and Umpqua. He also donated more than 1,000 hours in the building of the new Seventh-day Adventist Church on Garden Valley Boulevard. He still does some carpenter work, and Mrs. Smith still gives music lessons to a few children.

The Smiths have one daughter, Florence, (Mrs. Munroe) who is a graduate nurse.

Many friends came during the course of the afternoon to bring greetings of congratulations to the honored couple. A few friends were invited to spend an evening of visiting and enjoy a program of old-fashioned songs and poems. Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Rickie, Karen and Kim Matula sang. Mrs. Munroe, Cheryl and Debbie, Debbie Munroe, Rickie Matula provided instrumental solos. Miss Ruth Munroe read an eulogy to the Smiths which had been written by her father, Clarence Munroe. Mrs. Elmer Hitchman, by request, sang two songs, the words of which had been written by Munroe. Mr. Smith's oldest sister, Mrs. H. G. Thurston (Aunt Jessie), who is 93 years of age, closed the evening's program by reciting a poem.

Besides Mrs. Thurston and her son and a younger brother, Glen Smith and his wife of Turlock, Calif., those signing the guest book were: Ruth and Debbie Munroe, Glendale, Calif.; Carol Prince, Hermiton; Terry Webb, Battle Ground, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Matula with Rickie, Karen and Kim, Eugene; and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Jennings, Washington, D.C.
