Final Round In Wallace Butts' Case Scheduled For Monday In Courtroom

By LEON DANIEL
 ATLANTA (UPI) — Attorneys in Wallace Butts' $10 million libel suit against the Saturday Evening Post sharpened their final arguments today for the curtain ringer next week to one of college football's sharpest controversies.

The trial was in recess today and Sunday following two weeks of testimony and arguments in federal court. The 12-man jury is expected to get the case late Monday after final summations are concluded and Federal Judge Lewis R. Morgan instructs them.

Butts, the round little man who once led powerful football teams from the University of Georgia to Southeastern Conference championship games, was pictured alternately Friday of a lover of night life and a man ruined by a slanderous story.

"heart broken and a shell of his former self."
 "March 18 was the blackest day to Wallace Butts that could ever befall any man," the attorney, Allen Lockerman, said.

"That was the day the article hit the newsstands. On that day Wallace Butts became ashamed, heartbroken, just a shell of himself."
 Post attorney Welborn Cody contended that Butts "snapped" because of too much night life and had plunged to the point where his best friends said he had "lost his character."

Cody said Butts was asked to resign as coach after 22 years because of his personal conduct but permitted to remain at the school as athletic director.

"This same night life" led to Butts' forged resignation as athletic director, Cody said.

Speaking of the notes Atlanta insurance man George Burnett testified he made in overhearing a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant nine days before Alabama walloped Georgia 35-0, Cody said: "These notes were made by an amateur, not a football coach."
 "A lot of them don't make any sense. But there is a lot in these notes."
 Cody emphasized a notation Burnett made on the final page of the notes: "Give Wally a ring Sunday."
 "This call (Sunday) from Bear Bryant to Wall Butts lasted an hour and seven minutes," Cody said. "And Butts and Bryant now say they do not remember such a call."

The Post claimed in an issue last March that Butts, while athletic director at Georgia, gave away football secrets to Alabama coach Paul (Bear) Bryant prior to last game.

Both heatedly denied the allegations and both sued for $10 million.

Bryant's suit is still pending in the federal court in Birmingham where Post attorneys are trying to get it moved to another state because they claim they can't get a fair trial in the popular coach's home territory.

Shows To Jury
 In the opening of final arguments in the Butts suit Friday, Butts' attorney shouted to the jury that the career of the former coach and athletic director was "ruined" and Butts was

4 Salem Homers Don't Do Job; Tri-City Wins

By United Press International
 It was a tough fight, Mom, but we won.

That's about the story for the Tri-City Angels of the Northwest League who topped Salem 6-5 Friday night despite four Salem homers.

In other action, Lewiston topped Wenatchee 7-4 in their opener and Wenatchee came back with an 8-5 win in the nightcap and Yakima and Eugene split. Yakima won the first game 5-4 in 10 innings and Eugene took the nightcap 1-0.

Rollie Petranovich of Salem batted out a pair of homers and Bill Koles and Bob Reeves each had one for the Dodgers. Tri-City got homers from Terry Tackett and Brown Taylor and won it in the sixth with a single run.

Juan Guzman of Yakima tripled to open the tenth at Eugene and Butler Powell singled him home for the deciding run. Reliever Don Hagen of the Bears picked up his 14th victory.

In the second game, Bob Hamet tossed a two-hitter for the Eugene win. Eugene got its run in the first on a walk, a throwing error and a hit-run single by Jim Lynn.

METAL LINE TIPS

50-LB. TEST TROLLING LINE
 3-WAY SWIVEL

18-LB. TEST LEADER
 USE A LIGHTWEIGHT SINKER TO "FEEL" BOTTOM

SOME DEEP LAKE BEDS ARE INFESTED WITH SWAGGED METAL LINES. LOST BY TROLLERS WHO DIDN'T USE A LIGHTER-TEST LEADER ON THEIR LINES. METAL LINES RUST VERY SLOWLY, SO SUCH LAKES REMAIN A SNAG-HAZARD FOR YEARS TO COME. IT'S WISE TO KEEP THE LEADER'S STRENGTH WELL BELOW THE LINE'S. THEN IF YOU SNAG, ONLY A LEADER IS LOST.

A METAL LINE'S MAIN ADVANTAGE IS THAT A HEAVY SINKER ISN'T NEEDED TO TROLL DEEP. HOOKED FISH ARE SPORTY BECAUSE THEY DON'T FIGHT THE WEIGHT, YOU SUPPORT IT ABOVE.

Top Seeded Tennis Stars Advance Here In First Annual Umpqua Open Tournament

Top seeded tennis stars either came through with flying colors or sat out first round byes at the first annual Umpqua Valley Open Tennis Tournament began Friday at the Stewart Park courts.

In the rugged men's singles competition, No. 1 seeded Don Lowe came through with an easy win over Tom Keel, Roseburg, 6-0 and 6-1, while George Hunt, San Francisco, seeded No. 2, bumped Don Harris, Roseburg, in a pair of 6-3 sets. Lowe is a former Roseburg prep star now living in Eugene.

A real thriller developed in the final match of the men's singles when Doug Green outlasted Gary Hunt in the first set, 18-14, before darkness took over. The two will finish the match today. Green is from Roseburg and Gary Hunt hails from San Francisco.

After drawing first round byes Medford's Mike Naumes and Roseburg's Don Harris posted easy second round victories in the Junior Men's singles, with Brian Phillips and Mike Hoffman, two Roseburg stars, topping their opponents in the Boy's Singles. (16-and-under). Invaders Randy King, Portland, and Kirk Kirkpatrick, Corvallis, came through as expected in the boy's 14-and-under bracket, both in the singles and doubles play. The favorites in the women's singles and the junior men's doubles had byes in the opening round.

Finals in the women's doubles will be played today at 3 p.m. The boys' 14-and-under doubles in the women's doubles the teams of Shirley Stier and herry Sevall, Roseburg, and Beth Kenward and Rae Swicegood, Portland, will square off for the crown. King and Kirkpatrick will meet Tom Gardiner and Rick Wilson, Roseburg, in the finals of the boy's 14-and-under doubles competition.

The Oregon team dropped a 2-1 decision to Pasco and was beaten by Puyallup 5-1.

Floyd Patterson To Return To Ring Action This Year

HIGHLAND MILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Close friends today elaborated on former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson's announcement that he will fight again this year.

The friends said Floyd's return to the ring would be made in Europe but they would not speculate on the opponent.

When Patterson announced Friday night that he would continue to fight, instead of retiring, he added that his next bout would be staged "no later than Nov. 15."

Floyd's desire for such a quick comeback surprised many boxing men who recalled that in each of his latest two bouts he had been knocked out in the first round by big Sonny Liston, heavyweight champion.

Liston took the crown from Floyd on a 2:06 kayo at Chicago, Sept. 25, 1962, and kept the title on a 2:10 blackout at Las Vegas, Nev., last July 22.

Despite those two quickies, Floyd explained here at his training camp:

"The hundreds of letters I received from all over the world since that Las Vegas knockout last month really tipped the scales for me."

He said nearly all of the letters urged him to continue fighting and to make one last try to regain the championship.
