

Tofell-Scott Wedding Aug. 3

Beautifully gowned in a floor-length white organza wedding dress, Kathleen Mae Scott became the bride of James Tofell at 1 p.m. at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Roseburg, Saturday, Aug. 3.

The bridesmaids and maid of honor preceded the bride down the aisle of the church. As the bride approached the sanctuary on the arm of her father, the bridegroom stepped forward to claim her and escort her to the foot of the altar, where they exchanged their wedding vows in a simple but impressive double ring ceremony.

The bride's gown—her something borrowed from Mrs. Bruce (Lucinda Randall) Brenn—was of white organza fashioned with a princess bodice of embroidered organza with square scalloped neckline at front and back and tiny cap sleeves. The hemline and chapel train were banded with white embroidery to match the bodice. Her short veil was held in place by a crown of pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped by white roses and stephanotis.

They carried rose carnations and aurora borealis crystal rosaries made by the bride's maternal grandmother.

Tom Tofell of Malin was best man for his brother and Bob Scott, brother of the bride, and Lin Dobry of Malin were groomsmen. Serving as ushers were Jack Kopacz of Lakeview; Ted Pouck, of Ashland, and Jim Scott, brother of the bride.

Beautiful floral arrangements by Mrs. John William Robertson graced the buffet, mantle and piano at the home of the bride's parents, where a reception followed the ceremony. A delicious buffet luncheon prepared by the mothers
