

School Board To Air Kiwanis Proposal For Summer Recreation Program Effort

The Roseburg School Board Wednesday night voted to call in officials of the Kiwanis Club and the city of Roseburg to discuss plans for the future of the summer recreation program in the Roseburg area.

The Kiwanis and city officials will discuss the program with school officials during the first school board meeting in October. The Kiwanis Club is proposing the three get together to expand the program to offer more activities to both boys and girls during the summer months.

Election Suggested
Chief activity this year was the Kiwanis Pee Wee baseball program, which was aided by city funds and a director paid by the schools. The school board has taken the position it should not spend taxpayer money for non-school activities without voter approval, and is suggesting a special election by the sponsors of the summer recreational program (including the schools) as one means of providing the summer recreation funds. The board voted to have Supt. of Schools M. C. Deller make a survey of the costs involved in operating a driver education course, possibly during the summer months. This action was taken after a letter from Roseburg Mayor Thomas Garrison was read in which the mayor encouraged the schools to start the program.

Chairman Dr. V. J. Anderson was named to represent the school board on the Stewart Park Master Site Development Committee being organized by the city to promote the eventual full usage of the Stewart Park area.

To Build Gate
In other action involving the city, the board voted to build a gate across the new road from W. Belows St. into the high school (adjacent to the baseball field) which will close the street to public traffic after school hours.

This road, which will be a one way street leading traffic away from the high school and onto the Bellows interchange at the freeway on W. Harvard Boulevard, is being built to facilitate school bus traffic which will have to be rerouted because of the new high school commons building. Construction of the commons building will also cut down on some of the parking area at the high school, and the board Wednesday night approved a plan to clear and pave a triangular-shaped parcel of land belonging to the schools on W. Belows Street across from the baseball diamond for parking purposes.

Official Answers Fellin's Charge On Slow Rescue

SHEPPTON, Pa. (UPI)—A state mining official said today in his opinion David Fellin helped get himself into the predicament of being entombed for 15 days by a mine cave-in.

State deputy mines chief Gordon Smith made the statement in answer to a charge by Fellin Wednesday that he should have been rescued in five days.

"The miners in this operation were removing pillars of coal," Smith said. "Fellin showed he doesn't know all there is to know about mining by getting himself in this predicament."

Smith said the miners were not digging deeply for coal, but were taking out coal pillars "left all these years" to support the mine. Smith made the statement at the mine site where rescuers were drilling to reach Louis Bova, a third miner still trapped more than 300 feet underground. There is little hope for Bova's survival.

Fellin, a co-owner of the mine who was rescued early Tuesday along with Henry Throne, said Wednesday that he "should have been out by the fifth day." He said rescuers should have dug through the crumbled mine shaft, instead of drilling an escape hole from the surface.

"It doesn't even deserve comment," Smith said of Fellin's remark.

Smith is a mining engineer who worked in the mines in this area during the depression. He said he did not know how Fellin expected to make a living from the mine, which had been worked on and off since 1950 after having been closed since 1929.

H. Beecher Charnbury, state mines chief, said Fellin's remark left the morale of the rescuers low digging a shaft to reach Bova.

"It was bad for the morale of the men when Fellin made his statement that he should have been rescued on the fifth day," Charnbury said.

"The number of volunteers dropped off sharply. We still have enough to do the work, but the number of men on standby basis has fallen off."

Charnbury said Fellin was not familiar with the "conditions of the slope or he wouldn't have said that. He couldn't be — he hasn't seen it."

Charnbury said a volunteer probably would descend the Bova shaft, but that it would not occur until 6 p.m. EDT Friday "at the earliest." He said water was discovered at the bottom of the shaft, and called it "a brand new hazard which makes it tougher."

Workers today were widening the 12½-inch wide shaft to 30 inches to a depth of 35 or 40 feet. They planned to widen the remainder of the shaft to 22 inches, according to Smith.

He said they were proceeding carefully because "this side of the mine is more dangerous than the other." Bova was separated from Fellin and Throne by about 18 feet of debris and rock.

Smith said if a volunteer goes down, he "will be a man of going ability, agility and courage."

Welding Tank Found

The sheriff's office is holding a small acetylene tank found on the Lookingglass-Melrose Road. The owner can claim the property on identification, the office reports.

Dixonville Teacher Is Institute Choice

Richard L. Harris of Dixonville was notified recently by the University of Oregon that he had been chosen to participate in the In-Service National Science Foundation Mathematics Institute which will be held Oct. 1 through May of '64 at the university.

The Institute is being held for high school mathematics teachers.

award recipient

Harris will participate in the course on finite math. The course fee and travel allowance will be paid by the NSF.

Harris received his bachelor's degree at Eastern Oregon College of Education at La Grande. He has taught at Winston for the past nine years and is presently eighth grade math and science teacher there.

Harris is married and the father of three small boys.

Larceny Charge Holds Resident Of Sutherlin

Norman Platner, 32, Sutherlin, accused of larceny by baillee for allegedly converting a television set to his own use on May 29, asked to see an attorney when arraigned in District Court of Gerald R. Hayes Wednesday.

Lawrence Lee Kirk, 24, Coos Bay, has been returned here from Eugene to face a charge of larceny of personal property over the value of $75. He is scheduled for arraignment in Justice Court at Reedsport today.

Two brothers were fined $20 each and sentenced to two days each in the Douglas County jail on petty larceny counts on appearance before Judge Hayes Wednesday. The jail sentence was suspended for six months. The youths were Herbert Butler, 19, and Jimmy Butler, 20, both of 888 NE Fulton St. They were accused of theft of a watermelon, two loaves of bread and a package of buns from a Williams Bakery truck.

Charles Leroy Slayton, 18, Roseburg, drew a fine of $70, $5 costs and five days in the county jail on a plea of guilty in District Court Wednesday to illegal possession of alcohol by a minor.

Young Couple Is Ordained; Will Serve Glendale Church

A young couple, Wallace and Linda Peterson, who for the past year drove from their studies at Northwest Christian College in Eugene to conduct Sunday services at the Glendale Church of Christ, will now become fulltime ministers of the church following their recent ordination in Eugene.

Ordination ceremonies were held in a special service at the Eugene Westside Christian Church with the dean of the college, William Siefke, giving the charge. Peterson was ordained to the gospel ministry and his wife to the ministry of Christian education. The Petersons, members of the Eugene church while they attended school, were graduated from NCC this spring. Before beginning his college training, Peterson served for three years with the U. S. Marine Corps. The couple was married in June of 1962 in Paonia, Colo.

Two Glendale residents participated in the ordination service, including the Rev. Gerald Fox, pastor of the Merlin Community Baptist Church, who read the scripture, and Cecil Young, elder of the Glendale Church of Christ, who joined with other elders in the "laying on of hands" blessing. The ordination sermon was given by William Richardson, a professor of Northwest Christian College. Special music for the service was provided by faculty members of the college. Peterson's father, Walter Peterson, church elder, gave the prayer of ordination.

The Petersons plan to take up residence in Glendale in the near future.

Several Glendale residents made the trip to Eugene to witness the ceremonies.

Two Autos Damaged In Intersection Crash

Two cars were damaged in a collision at the intersection of SE Pine St. and SE Oak Ave. Tuesday at 7:10 p.m.

Operator of one car was Max L. Seitz, Rte. 2, Box 390, Roseburg, traveling south on Pine, and E. H. Hitchman, 310 NW Oak, traveling east on Oak. The accident occurred during a signal change and each of the drivers expressed the opinion he had the green light in his favor, according to city police.

Considerable damage was caused to the sides and fronts of both cars.

McAllister Awarded Winston Street Job

Contract for construction of 0.41 mile of city street (Carey) in Winston at a figure of $49,631 was awarded to low bidder J. R. McAllister of Roseburg following a study of bids by the Douglas County Court.

The street construction is a co-operated project between the city of Winston and Douglas County. Only other bidder was Roseburg Paving Co. Construction will start within 10 days with completion due within 30 days. Work includes grading, drainage and paving with 40-foot width pavement, according to Phoebe McGuthrie, correspondent.

Student Says Castro Hopes To Resume U. S. Relations

MADRID (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro hopes to resume diplomatic relations with the United States, according to one of the American youths who defied a State Department ban to visit Cuba.

Fifty-four of the original 59 youths were scheduled to fly back to New York today and face government sanctions for their unauthorized trip.

Three other students returned in Cuba temporarily, one returned to the United States Monday and one drowned in a swimming accident during the eight-week tour, for which the Cubans paid all expenses.

Robert Kaffke, a San Francisco State College student said Wednesday "Castro would like to resume diplomatic relations with the U.S. He told me so."

Kaffke, one of 26 students in the group from the San Francisco area, said he was favorably impressed by the guided tour of Cuba.

"I'm for socialism in the Cuban sense," he said. He added that he was not a member of any political group.

"Castro is not attempting to spread the Cuban revolution," Kaffke said.

Clinton Jencks, 19, and his wife Dee, 18, also students at San Francisco State, said they were worried about possible penalties arising from the visit.

"But the trip was worth it," Jencks said. "Now I know the truth about Cuba. The people are happy there."

He denied earlier statements attributed to him that the Cubans had never been worse off. He said he had been misunderstood.

Mrs. Jencks said representatives of the U.S. embassies in London, Amsterdam and Prague warned the group when it was on route to Cuba that its members faced possible five years' imprisonment and $5,000 fines for going to Cuba, in addition to having their passports taken away.

The group arrived in Madrid Monday night aboard an Iberia Airlines plane, after failing to arrange more direct connections between Cuba and the United States.
