Summer's Over; Green Teachers Back At Work

By MARY WEIKUM

Special courses, visits to relatives and vacation trips have meant a busy summer for teachers in the Green School. Now they are back on the job, plunging into the near-feverish activities which mark the first days of the school year.

Returns After Absence

Mrs. Carolyn York has returned to teach at Green after spending the past year doing substitute work in Roseburg schools.

Another returning teacher is Mrs. Carolyn Boyce, second grade, who spent the summer in South Dakota where she received her degree in education from General Beadle State Teacher's College in Madison.

Mrs. Veva Skow, who will teach sixth grade and be girls physical education director, spent two weeks in Cheney, Wash., where she attended a special course in physical education at Eastern Washington College. On her return she undertook another special week course in the subject at Oregon State University at Corvallis. She and her husband enjoyed a week's vacation in Nevada.

Mrs. Margaret Austin spent most of her summer with her husband at Winchester Bay. She also entertained relatives from the east. Mrs. Austin is a fifth grade teacher.

Kathleen Huse, fifth grade teacher, spent his summer here where he was employed on the maintenance department of the local school district. He and his family enjoyed a two-week trip to Los Angeles where they visited relatives.

Mrs. Gladys Primmer went to Monmouth, where she enrolled for the eight-week summer course in education at the college.

Lytle Mortenson attended school at Salem under the Oregon Program sponsored by the Oregon College of Education. This was a seven-week course with special emphasis on team teaching. He also visited his parents at Kennebunk, S. D.

Robbed in Canada

Miss Myrtle Paulson, sixth grade teacher, traveled with three women friends to B. C., Canada, where they visited relatives, and then went east on the Transcontinental Highway to Winnipeg and return. She reported that the group had been robbed of their purses and money while in Banff. One of the women discovered the thieves and screamed but the robbers fled. The money was later discovered in the lake later, minus the money, with the exception of $15 which had been concealed. The motel operator made full restitution of the money and value of the handbags, since he felt the affair was due to his negligence.

Al Cummings, who will teach the sixth grade and take over the coaching work, spent his summer coaching work, where he was employed by a building supply company. He and his family enjoyed a week at the coast and in the Portland area before school started.

Quiet Summer

Teachers spending a quiet summer in this area were Mrs. Bradley, who lives in Roseburg; Mrs. Leone Dickinson, whose home is in Winston, and Mrs. Cooper, who lives in Green.

Mrs. Ann Whitaker and family spent two weeks in Los Angeles to sight-see and visit relatives, and Mrs. Virginia Laurence, who lives in Dillard, went with her husband and son to the Colorado-Wyoming-Idaho area on a combined pleasure and business trip.

Principal Calvin Peterson enrolled for two weeks at the Oregon College of Education at Monmouth for a workshop devoted to techniques of concept planning with a self-teaching emphasis. Later he and his family went to visit her parents in Watsonville, Calif., and on to Colorado to visit his mother in Denver.

Miss Kathi Oakley, who is a senior at the University of Oregon majoring in education, has been working with Mrs. Virginia Laurence in the second grade under the September project. This project includes activities in connection with "getting ready for the pupils" and setting up the program, first day events, and observation of beginning studies. She will do her practice teaching this fall. Also undertaking the three-week project is Mrs. Elaine Gruwell, who is making plans to enter the field of education. Mrs. Gruwell is working with Mrs. Dickinson.
