Dear Abby!

It's Better To Go!

— By ABIGAIL VANBUREN —

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor asked me to write for her as she can't write English. Here is her problem: Her husband is 76 and retired. She is 62. Last May they attended a convention. Her husband is such a playboy she had to shift for herself while he ran after girls young enough to be his daughters. Her question is, should she go to another one of these conventions scheduled in October? She doesn't know whether to go and be hurt again, or to stay home and let him go alone and have the good time he doesn't deserve.

DEAR FRIEND: A 75-year-old playboy is only running for the exercise. Tell your friend to go along. She'd be more miserable at home wondering what the old coot was up to.

DEAR ABBY: I feel like a highlight on the local sight-seeing tour. My husband and I have a lovely new home, of which we are very proud, but his mother has gone overboard about it. She brings all the visiting firemen to go through my house without even calling to tell me they are coming. I have small children and the usual chores to do, but that doesn't bother her. She appears with the sight-seers at all hours. Should I sell tickets, or tell her that appointments must be made in advance, or what? Please don't print my name, or my HEAD will be on display with the rest of the house.

"HATES SURPRISES" DEAR "HATES": Tell your mother-in-law that you don't mind being an attraction on her sight-seeing tour, but you don't like surprise visits. Ask her please to give you at least three hours' notice. DEAR ABBY: You always say that a wife should not convict her husband on circumstantial evidence. Just because she happens to find a hairpin in his pocket, or lipstick on his handkerchief, you say is no reason to lose trust in him. Well, I sure disagree with you 100 per cent. Where there's smoke, there's fire. My old man swore on his mother's grave that he was true to me. I found out later that he was lying.

TRUSTING FOOL DEAR TRUSTING: You win a few, lose a few. I still say, don't let the smoke get in your eyes.

DEAR ABBY: What has become of manners? I am employed at one of the most exclusive stores in this city. We carry the finest china, crystal and silver, and cater to the best people. You would be shocked at the number of so-called "well-bred ladies" who apparently have never heard of acknowledging a wedding gift. I am the person who checks to assure the sender that her gift was received by the bride. Please print this. I have frequently been tempted to telephone the bride's mother to tell her to put the spurs into her lazy daughter. Thank you.

Transfer Used After Two N. T.

(Written For NEA)

By OSWALD JACOBY

Use of the Jacoby Transfer Bid (JTB) after an opening bid of two-trump is most effective. Of course, you must bid at the three level.

Three clubs is Stayman, three diamonds a heart transfer, and three hearts a spade transfer.

The use of the transfer bid allowed South to play four spades after he made the wise decision to go to four spades instead of passing three no-trump.

North's three heart response was a transfer bid. He followed up with a bid of three-no-trump to inform his partner that he held a hand that might play spades. It was just as well that he did. Almost any line of defense would beat three no-trump provided that West remembered to duck two spades but the only way to beat four spades would be for the defenders to upset the table and steal a trick in the resulting confusion.

Of course, this hand does not represent any great triumph for the transfer bid. If North were declarer he would make four spades also.

No convention is so good that it leads to a gain every time it comes up. The only thing about the transfer bid is that when you do get to use it, you are far more likely to get a favorable result than if you are not playing the convention.

Standley Logging Wins Umpqua Tract

J. R. Standley & Sons Logging of Roseburg submitted the highest of three bids received by the Umpqua National Forest Monday on an 85-acre tract of timber known as the Highway Deck Sale. The Standley bid was $109,490.

The tract is located 61 miles east of Roseburg in the Diamond Lake Ranger District and involves right-of-way timber cut and decked by the contractor in conjunction with North Umpqua Highway construction in the Toketee area.

The tract contains 3,700,000 board feet of timber appraised at $109,420. This includes 3 million board feet of Douglas fir appraised at $22.50 per thousand and 700,000 board feet of western hemlock and other species appraised at $16.60 per thousand.

The Standley bid was based on the appraised price for the Douglas fir and $16.70 per thousand for the other species group. Other bidders were Coning Corp. and Douglas County Lumber Co., both Roseburg.

Next sale will be the Ringtail Salvage Sale on Monday afternoon of next week.

Lack Of Books Stalls Real Estate Meeting

A general meeting for all real estate licensees in the South Douglas area called by Robert J. Jensen of Salem, state real estate commissioner, and scheduled for Friday, Sept. 27, in the Umpqua Hotel, has been temporarily canceled, according to a report from Jensen to Harry Winter, Roseburg realtor in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

The meeting was to have been held in conjunction with a meeting of the real estate honorary society, Rho Epsilon Kappa, of which Winter is president.

Reason given for the cancellation, Winter said, was failure of new real estate manuals to arrive in time for the meeting. A new date will be announced later, according to Winter.
