Hatfield Says Tax Defeat Might Close Two Hospitals

SALEM (UPI) — Defeat of the tax measure at the Oct. 15 election could result in closure of Columbia Park and Dammasch hospitals, Gov. Mark Hatfield hinted today.

The governor told a meeting of the Mental Health Planning Board that defeat of the tax measure could result in an $8.3 million cut-back in budgets for mental health operations.

"This amounts to more than the total budget for operation of Columbia Park and Dammasch hospitals.

"Closure of these or other institutions would be deplorable, but it is obvious that in the event the tax measure is defeated, and in the absence of legislative action, reduction of equal magnitude would be required," he said.

Hatfield said, "I believe that a vote against the tax bill would do irreparable harm."

He added: "I can assure you that state officers and employees will abide by the election decision whichever way it goes."

All Have Stake

"It is not my purpose to make either threats or promises," Hatfield said, "However, I do feel obliged to remind you that each of us has a stake in the coming election."

The governor insisted "no persons should be denied services because of cost beyond their ability to pay. The public should be provided with full and complete information about mental health services, resources, and costs."

He said the 1963 legislature budgeted $33.5 million to the mental health division of the State Board of Control for operation of the mental institutions, and assistance to local communities.

"Ironically, at the moment we should be planning to better meet public needs, we must now look at the dark possibility of a reduced program," Hatfield said.

He said increased taxes were needed "largely because of the growth in population of our schools, universities, penal and other state institutions."

Hatfield commented "generally overlooked is the fact that Oregon stands near the bottom of all western states insofar as per capita state taxes are concerned, with only Idaho and Montana having a lower bill."

State Colleges Enrollment Up

EUGENE (UPI)—Enrollment at Oregon's state-supported schools of higher learning Tuesday was up slightly over the same period a year ago, the Board of Higher Education reported.

At the end of Monday's registration the state system had 26,390 students compared to 26,024 on the same date a year ago. A spokesman indicated a more solid figure would be available later this week, as registrations are continuing.

Last year during fall term there were 31,846 students enrolled.

A spokesman also said the University of Oregon's current figures were down because it began accepting fees later than did Oregon State. Oregon expects at least as many students as last year when it had 9,621 fall term.

Figures at the close of business Monday included, by school, with 1962 figures first and comparable 1963 figures last:

University of Oregon: 5,724 and 6,195.
Oregon State: 9,929 and 9,515.
Portland State: 4,686 and 4,391.
Oregon College of Education: 1,246 and 1,331.

Gamble In Emotional Meet With Porumbeanu In Court

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — American heiress Gamble Benedict Porumbeanu met her Romanian-born husband Tuesday in an emotional courtroom scene and made a tearful plea for custody of her two small sons.

It was the first time she met Andrei Porumbeanu, the former chauffeur she married three years ago, since filing for divorce Sept. 17 on grounds of unspecified "misconduct."

Gamble, 22, emerged from the district court of Meilen, a Zurich suburb, two hours after the hearing began. She was red-eyed and appeared upset.

"It was very unpleasant," she told newsmen who had been barred from the courtroom during the private hearing.

Her lawyer, Eugen Curti, appeared pleased with the outcome of the hearing on Gamble's petition for temporary custody of the two boys, Gheorghe, 2½, and Grigore, 10 months.

"We presented such forceful evidence for our case that the opposing party was unable to answer it immediately and asked for another hearing," Curti said.

Curti said no date had been set for Porumbeanu to answer the charges. He said it was not known when the actual divorce proceedings would start, but it appeared "not before Christmas."

Porumbeanu ran out of the courtroom, accompanied by his lawyer, Otto Buerli, and drove off in a waiting car about five minutes before Gamble came out.

Since filing for divorce, Gamble has failed to show up for two scheduled reconciliation meetings with Andrei before a justice of the peace.

Friends said she feared to meet her husband face-to-face without a legal adviser. Legal advisers were present in the courtroom today.

Southern Oregon: 1,821 and 1,592.
Eastern Oregon: 1,047 and 1,071.
Oregon Tech: 866 and 878.
Medical School: 687 and 695.
Dental School: 384 and 356.

SECRETARY KORTH CLEARED

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department cleared Navy Secretary Fred Korth of any conflict-of-interest law violations in connection with the controversial multi-billion-dollar TFX fighter plane contract, it was disclosed recently.

The department investigated Korth at the request of Rep. Bill Stinson, R-Wash., who pointed out that Korth retained stock in a Fort Worth, Tex., bank after he became secretary. The bank made a loan to General Dynamics Corp., which won the TFX contract.
