

City Council Will Study Parking Mall Proposal

The Roseburg City Council at its regular meeting next Monday night will study recommendations from city administrators which would initiate plans and property negotiations in connection with a proposed downtown parking mall development.

The proposal involves development of a parking facility which would be financed from parking meter revenues.

Mayor Thomas Garrison, it was reported, has made preliminary negotiations for the acquisition of the half-block property located east of SE Rose Street between SE Washington and SE Oak Avenues.

The financing plan which will be presented for City Council consideration proposes acquisition of the site through lease-purchase or land sale contract.

The site proposed for the parking facility involves two adjoining properties. They are the Lockwood Motor Co. car lot at the northeast corner of SE Rose and Oak and the property at the southeast corner of Rose and Washington which is presently being used as a privately financed off-street parking facility.

Under the plan, acquisition costs would be paid for solely from revenues derived from on-street parking meters and off-street parking meters on the proposed parking mall itself.

City Manager Craig McMicken explained that a general obligation against the city would not exist and should future revenues from parking meters or should future councils change the policy, the sale agreements would be defaulted and the property returned to the sellers.

"In other words, property taxes would not be obligated for the municipal off-street parking program," the manager pointed out.

Recommendations Due
The administrators will recommend to the City Council that:

1. Options be taken on the property to make possible future construction.

Sutherland Youths Held For Burglary

The sheriff's department Monday took into custody two Sutherland area young men on charges of burglary not in a dwelling, and confiscated a truck load of alleged loot, which they are accused of taking.

Irvin Melvin Essig, 21, of Wilbur, and Buster Eugene Simmons, 18, of Sutherland, are being held in the county jail and have signed statements admitting the theft of the items from the barn and garage of August Hannel, Rt. 1, Box 259 Sutherland. His farm home is about 5 1/2 miles east of Sutherland.

The two men were traced by a deputy sheriff, who followed foot tracks about 1 1/4 miles from the Hannel barn through a walnut grove and leading in the direction of another house, where Essig and his wife were staying. Simmons was living with them part time.

Articles taken included a tool box, a coffee table, end table, a large wooden box and gasoline. In their statement to police the two admitted having gone first to the farm and picked some corn in the early hours of morning, then to have gone to the shed and taken the tool box. They made three or four more trips to the barn for other items and gasoline, according to their written statements.

Man Gets Citation After Minor Dillard Mishap

Raymond Archie Parks, 42, Winston was cited for making a left turn from the wrong lane of traffic after a minor accident in which his car collided with one operated by Oliver Cornelius Fosback, 32, of Dillard Monday at 3:15 p.m.

Parks started to make a left turn from the right lane of traffic off SE Stephens St., onto SE Rice Ave., when the accident occurred, city police said.

ber of Commerce. This recommendation was subsequently embraced as a council policy. Under this plan, a portion of the parking meter revenue is now being set aside for off-street parking development. The amount set aside is to be on the basis of 25 per cent the first year, 50 per cent the second year, 75 per cent the third year and 100 per cent the fourth year of all excess revenue above maintenance, repair and direct policing of the meters.

Utah, who organized the expedition to gain scientific information, said his party of fifteen Americans made it only 10 miles up the river before food ran low.

"I am definitely contemplating another try at the Rio Urrique," he said. "However, if I make another try it will be up another section of the river."

Cross and 13 other persons in his party, including two women, traveled by train during the night from Creel, Mexico, and arrived at Chihuahua early today. James C. Dean of Salt Lake City had staggered to civilization Saturday and said the expedition might be lost and without food.

Rationed Food

Cross said his party never ran out of food, but had to do some rationing.

The explorers including three Mexicans arrived safely Monday at the northwestern Mexican village of Creel, 160 miles west of Chihuahua. Creel is a railroad on the New Chihuahua al Pacific Railroad. They left for Chihuahua at 7 p.m. EDT Monday night.

Cross said he was mystified that large boulders were in the river.

"I took an aerial survey in August and do not understand why these large boulders were not spotted," he said.

He said that while they were in the Barranca de Cobre (Copper Canyon) they saw only one search plane, but could not attract its attention with a large fire.

Dean, accompanied by his nurse, got out of a hospital bed to greet the party at the train. The men in the party were unshaven, but in good spirits. They said they were tired and wanted to go to bed.

Cross said he would hold a press conference later today and asked reporters to please let him get some sleep. Cross personally thanked two helicopter pilots from the U. S. Air Force Rescue team.

Cross said the only thing he regretted about the trip was that "we did not have enough time to complete it. We were running late and most of the party had to return to the states for business commitments. We are grateful for the concern of the people in the U. S."

The group entered the canyon of a strong wind, rapid water and gnarled crevices where the sun has never reached on Sept. 25.

An aerial search was launched immediately when Dean reported the party was having trouble.

Operator Of Automobile Incorrectly Identified

Leonard Lee Stimson of South Myrtle Creek route was operator of a 1956 model car involved in an accident Sunday night near the south Myrtle Creek city limits, according to state police records. Operator of the other car was Delora Frances Weeks, 460 N. Spruce Ave., Myrtle Creek, with her husband Ernest Walter Weeks as a passenger. The Stimson car allegedly struck the rear of the Weeks car.

U.S. Has Suspended $12 Million Aid Payments To South Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States has suspended nearly $12 million commercial aid payments to South Viet Nam since the August crackdown on the Buddhists and is considering further cuts, informed sources said here Monday.

The payments suspended since Aug. 21, when Buddhist leaders were arrested and pagodas closed, covered aid to imports. This program costs the United States $95 million a year, out of the total $203 million economic aid. It finances more than 60 per cent of South Viet Nam's imports.

The sources said further suspension of this commercial aid would amount to a reduction in the economic aid to this nation and could seriously affect its economy. This might have the effect of bringing policy or personnel changes on the part of Diem's government, they added.

Related Developments

(In related developments, the Soviet Union Monday tried to block U. N. approval of a fact-finding mission to South Viet Nam. Diem's government offered to accept a team of U. N. members to investigate the Buddhist dispute. But the Russians insisted that they and the British, as co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference on Indo-China, carry out the probe.

Diem's sister-in-law, Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu, arrived in New York Monday night to begin a 20-day tour of the United States. She said she hoped to explain her government's viewpoint to Americans.)

State police said Kyllmann lost control of his car on a slight curve on the road and it ran off into a tree. He was alone in the vehicle.

Kyllmann lived at Corvallis with his wife.

Sinatra To Give Up Gambling Interests

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Frank Sinatra, "ace high" in the singing department, has "low snake eyes" in the gambling world.

The singer, faced with revocation of his gambling license in this state of almost anything goes, said Monday he would sell his $3.5 million in casino holdings.

In a surprise statement, issued through his attorney, Sinatra said he would devote full time to his vocal chords and music business.

The state of Nevada filed a complaint Sept. 11 holding that Sinatra entertained Sam Giancana, a Chicago underworld figure, at the Cal-Neva Lodge at Lake Tahoe from July 17 to July 28 of this year.

Giancana is a listee in Nevada's "Black Book," a loose-leaf compilation of 11 persons not welcome in the state's legalized gambling casinos on penalty of loss of license.

"I was surprised, hurt and angered," Sinatra said, "that the Nevada Gaming Board asked... to revoke my license to participate in the gambling industry in Nevada."

The singer allowed, however, that he had decided to give up his gambling interests six months ago, well before the Sept. 11 date when the state filed action against him.

The right to operate games of chance in Nevada is privileged and the industry is tightly controlled under a so-called "hang tough" policy instituted by Gov. Grant Sawyer.

The gaming control board held that Sinatra violated his right to operate when he catered to Giancana.

Council Fathers Approve Reforms In Church Worship

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Eucumenical Council fathers today overwhelmingly approved a series of proposals for reform of Catholic worship, including greater insistence on preaching the word of God.

The fathers voted at today's session on five of 19 pending amendments to the second chapter of a document on the liturgy or public worship of the church. Voting on the document, which was discussed for three weeks at the council's first session last fall, will continue Wednesday.

The results were tabulated on four of today's ballots and showed that all passed by great majorities. The largest negative vote cast on any one of them was 31 votes out of 2,288.

The most important of the amendments approved today was designed to put much greater emphasis in Catholic worship on sermons, which always have occupied the central role in Protestant worship but in the past often have been regarded as an optional appendage to the Catholic Mass.

The proposal approved today said that sermons should never be omitted except for serious reasons. It emphasized the importance of the priest using every Sunday Mass as an opportunity to explain the Christian faith and Christian living.

The document said priests should base their sermons on the Bible and make extensive use of Scripture in all of their preaching.

Another major amendment approved today is aimed at simplifying the rubrics or order of service of the Mass. It calls for omitting certain duplications and eliminating non-essential things which have been tacked on to the Mass over the centuries.

A council press spokesman said the other changes approved today were largely technical and matters of terminology of no general interest.

Still to come are a series of amendments authorizing the use of modern languages instead of Latin in a large portion of the Mass.

Jackie Sees Old Bathtub, Throne

HERAKLON, Crete (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy today saw a 4,000-year-old bathtub of the Minoan queen and the oldest throne in the world.

She came ashore this morning from the yacht Christina to look at relics of ancient Minoan civilization on the second stop of her Greek island tour.

Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, she was welcomed at Heraklion by Mayor Nicholas Krassadakis and the captain of the port. About 30 islanders had gathered to cheer her arrival.

After a three-mile drive through the scenic countryside, she arrived at Knossos, site of the ruins of the 4,000-year-old Palace of Minos and once the capital of the Minoan empire.

Mrs. Kennedy, wearing a beige linen sheath dress and a necklace made of gold Greek coins, saw the queen's stone bathtub and the painted throne of King Minos, which is the oldest in the world. The room housing the throne is decorated in the traditional Minoan colors of red, black and white.

Title and Statement of Purpose

1. PERSONAL AND CORPORATION INCOME TAX BILL—Purpose: To increase state revenues. Abolishes federal tax deduction. Lowers personal tax rates. Provides minimum tax. Increases corporation rates. Effective on or after January 1, 1963.

ESTIMATE OF FINANCIAL EFFECTS: If Ballot Measure 1 (Chapter 627, Oregon Laws 1963) is approved by the voters, it is estimated that the increase in state revenue over that which would be provided by existing law from personal income taxes will amount to about $24,750,000 per year or $49,500,000 for the biennium and the increase from corporate excise taxes on income will amount to about $350,000 per year or $700,000 for the biennium, based on present levels of income. The Ballot Measure also authorizes a possible "speed-up" of personal income tax payments withheld by employers that would permit an increase in 1963-1965 revenues by $14,000,000, without increasing the tax liability of the personal income tax payer.

If Ballot Measure 1 is defeated, expenditures in the 1963-1965 biennium will need to be reduced by approximately $60 million below the level of appropriations made by the 1963 Legislature, or other revenues must be sought, or some combination of revenue increase and expenditure reduction totalling approximately $60 million must be made in accord with the requirements of Article IX and XI of the Constitution of Oregon.

DOUBLE CHIN
Q. I am not especially overweight but I do have an ugly pad of fat under my chin. Can this be removed?
A. Yes, a fat pad of this sort can be removed surgically, but the operation may leave a rather obvious scar. The nature of the "fat pad" should be assessed by a physician—it might be some sort of tumor that should be removed, regardless of the possibilities of leaving a permanent scar.

AN OLD WIFE'S TALE
Q. If the prospective mother douches with a weak vinegar (acid) solution, will the sex of the baby be influenced, provided, of course, conception takes place?
A. There seems to be a widespread notion that alkalinity in some way assists the male-producing cells and acidity the female-producing cells. This may be a throwback to the supposed daughter-producing propensity of sour-tempered women. In any case, the whole idea is nothing more than an old wife's tale.
