Walsh Welcomes Probe Of State Education Board

COOS BAY (UPI) — William Walsh, president of the State Board of Higher Education, Tuesday welcomed an investigation of the system's fiscal control procedures.

"The Board of Higher Education welcomes any responsible investigation of the state system," Walsh said. "State law provides for continuing audits of the state system as it provides for audits of all state agencies."

State Sen. Walter Pearson, D-Ore., called for the investigation in a speech at a meeting of the Washington County Public Forum at Beaverton Monday.

Walsh, an attorney, said, "We have worked with the legislative fiscal interim committees in past years and prior to the last session on many studies including the subject of increasing use of our classroom space and we are continuing to work with the legislative fiscal office."

"We are constantly engaged in cooperative efforts with the Department of Finance and Administration in the executive department," he added.

Walsh said "We have been working very closely with Secretary of State Howell Appling's office in examination of our financial procedures" and "the audits have not revealed to us any unethical or dishonest practices by any employee in the state system."
