

GOP Nominees Get Hatfield's Warning Not To Ignore West

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield warned potential 1964 Republican presidential nominees today not to ignore the West.

Backers of two front-runners—Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller—indicated they had no intention of doing so.

The youthful governor, often mentioned as a possible GOP vice presidential nominee next year, keynoted the opening session of a three-day Western Republican Conference. An estimated 1,000 delegates from 13 states were present.

He appealed for Goldwater and Rockefeller, who will be here in person Saturday, to enter Western primary elections and said he would welcome "would-be dark horses to try the track for time and distance."

Hatfield spoke particularly of Oregon's May 14 primary, the West's first, and predicted the candidate who wins his state will gain the "momentum" to carry California's June primary and the national convention at San Francisco.

Of Oregon's primary, he said: "It will not go to anyone on a silver platter."

Although he mentioned only Goldwater and Rockefeller as "prominently mentioned" potential Republican nominees, Hatfield said he welcomed to the "public forum" former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP's unsuccessful 1960 nominee. Nixon has denied that he is a candidate for the 1964 nomination.

Supporters of Rockefeller and Goldwater arrived at this college town, population 50,000, to push for their candidates, although neither has formally announced he is running.

GREETINGS for speaker are offered by three members of the Oregon Elementary School Principals Association Thursday night. The speaker was Arnold Wolpert, left, west coast representative of the National Education Association. His greeters are Wilson Maynard of Portland, executive secretary of the Oregon Elementary Principals; Bert Kleiner, vice chairman; and Calvin Peterson, chairman of the Douglas County association. New Reedsport Group Plans Golf Course, Country Club

Organizations of the corporation for the development of a 55-acre golf course and country club was completed here Thursday and plans laid for the completion of the project for use by spring of 1964.

The association, to be known as the Forest Hills Country Club, Inc., will be directed by Dr. Jason Boe, president; William Humphreys, vice president; William Jayne, secretary; and Kenneth Bridges, treasurer.

A crash construction program is getting under way for a clubhouse, to include a pro shop, lounge and lunch room. The course development is well along on the tract adjacent to the Forest Hills Subdivision. Construction financing is being underwritten by block memberships and is estimated at about $115,000.

Charter membership initiation fee is set at $150, including the 20 per cent federal excise tax, and dues are tentatively set at $9.60 per month, payable after the course is in operation. Policies adopted provide for membership requirement for use of the club facilities by anyone living within 50 miles, but that out of the area visitors will be privileged to use the club by paying green fees.

Three Roseburg Youths Injured In Auto Crashes

Three Roseburg young people suffered injuries in two separate auto accidents Thursday night.

John B. Kilkenny, 18, Rt. 3, Box 86, Roseburg, the driver in a one-car accident, suffered a head injury when thrown against the windshield but was released after receiving treatment at Mercy Hospital. In the car with him was Rick Lee Ragan, 16, of 1738 NE Malheur St., who also suffered an injury but was not hospitalized. A third youth with them, Edward Francis Schultz, 17, of 510 W. Berdine St., was not hurt, according to a report of Roseburg city police.

The other person injured in a different accident was Thelma Alden, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alden of Buckhorn Road. She was taken to Community Hospital with a head injury but her condition was not considered serious at latest reports. Place and cause of the accident was not known immediately, but the sheriff's department was investigating.

City police report the accident involving the car, owned by Keystone Machine Works and driven by Kilkenny, occurred at 10:30 p.m. as he was driving onto Interstate Highway 5 at the Military interchange, headed north.

The report stated the tires spun on the blacktop, leaving rubber tire marks, and on reaching the freeway the driver lost control and the car spun around in both lanes of traffic. It hit the center guard rail, damaging a 13-foot section, with the right front fender, then spun around again, coming to a stop with the front of the auto heading southeast in the left lane of the northbound traffic lanes.

Kilkenny was thrown against the center of the windshield, breaking it. He was issued a citation for violation of the basic rule (control of auto).

George Hinman, New York national committeeman closely associated with Rockefeller, told newsmen Thursday night that "responsible leadership" of the party was uncommitted to a presidential nominee and intended to remain so.

Reiterating that he expected Rockefeller to be a candidate for president and to enter both the early New Hampshire and late California primaries, Hinman said: "It will be a hard fight in both but I think he can carry them."

He said the New York governor had received "extremely warm" responses to personal appearances in "areas that reputedly are Goldwater Country." He mentioned northern Illinois, West Virginia and Virginia.

Clifford White, director of the National Draft Goldwater Committee, met briefly with newsmen on his arrival Thursday night and said the senator "is gaining strength all the time."

Mrs. Judy Fernald of Montclair, N.J., secretary of the Draft Goldwater group, told UPI: "It's the first real draft movement probably since George Washington." She said women party workers are overwhelmingly behind the Arizona senator.

Another Goldwater backer, Arizona Gov. Paul Fannin, said Thursday night that the "moderates and liberals" in the GOP were switching to Goldwater and he was "building extremely fast."

In an informal hotel lobby news conference Thursday night, Hatfield warned both candidates that they must have strong, "convention-oriented organizations to win the nomination."

He said that if Goldwater "feels he can win with just popularity polls his undeniably strong support by party members is wrong."

As an example, he cited the 1962 GOP national convention when the late U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft had "popular support" but the eventual nominee, Dwight D. Eisenhower, had a "strong convention-oriented organization."

Today's scheduled conference program was a warmup for Saturday's Rockefeller-Goldwater appearances. Rockefeller speaks at noon and Goldwater at 7 p.m., both in the 10,000-seat MacArthur Court Basketball Pavilion. They're not expected to meet.

The opening day of the conference included a Western problems panel featuring Colorado Sen. Gordon Allott, the Wyoming Gov. Milward Simpson and Rep. John Saylor, R-Pa. Other sessions were concerned with party communications and organization.

Khrushchev Wants Removal Of West Troops In Berlin

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has saluted the signing of the nuclear test ban treaty and called for solving "other ripe international issues."

He implied that one solution would be the withdrawal of Western troops from Berlin.

Khrushchev's comments came in a special message, released here Thursday night, to President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. Observers noted it was released at almost the same time Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was meeting with President Kennedy in Washington.

The message also came while Soviet officers were holding up an American army troop convoy for 35 hours on the East German autobahn between West Germany and West Berlin. It was the longest delay of this nature since the Communists built the Berlin wall.

Khrushchev called for the "liquidation of the vestiges of the Second World War." This is the phrase usually used by the Russian when they attack the continued Western troops presence in West Berlin.

The Soviets claim that East Germany is sovereign and that the West no longer has occupation rights in West Berlin, located 110 miles behind the East German frontier.

Khrushchev's message was sent from somewhere in the Soviet Union. He was last reported on an extensive farm tour he began after critical harvest reports.

Khrushchev said the test ban pact, which went into effect Thursday, could lead to other East-West agreements.

Allegiance Test Faces Teachers

Dr. Arnold Wolpert, West Coast representative of the National Education Association, said Thursday night "there is currently in the nation a contest, as some might call it, for the allegiance of teachers."

He was referring to the New York strike threat situation and other areas where the contest is spreading, between unionized teachers and those belonging to professional organizations.

Wolpert was the featured speaker at a dinner meeting of the southwest region of the Oregon Elementary School Principals Association held at Joseph Lane Junior High.

He developed the concept of professionalism and said in the state of Utah the teachers established a plan of "professional development of educational policies by teachers, administrators and school boards." In other words, they would put in the written policy book, the cooperative development. This would be designed to combat the inroads of unionism among teachers.

Wolpert said "this is a rapidly growing development in the United States and in the very near future it will be coming to Oregon school districts."

The regular business of the meeting was dispensed with because of the importance of the speaker. About 70 persons from four counties were in attendance including principals, school superintendents and school board members.

Flegel Says Tax Bill Fair

Sen. Albert G. Flegel, speaking before the Roseburg Lions Club Thursday night, stated he believed the Oregon tax measure, on which the people will vote next Tuesday, was a fair bill, but acknowledged that opponents have some valid objections to the measure.

Sen. Flegel will have spoken before about 10 different groups when he appears at Camas Valley Monday night, explaining aspects of the measure and the state budgetary setup.

He emphasized that while the budget increase is $60,000,000, the additional amount to be raised by taxation is only about $48,000,000. The difference will be raised by a change in collection of withholding taxes from quarterly to monthly, bringing the money in that much sooner to meet state needs.

He also explained, relative to the provision to exclude federal income tax deductions, that this would mean about $13,000,000 less going to the federal government and staying in the state, since state taxes are deductible. While the individual taxpayer would be paying more state tax, his federal tax would be reduced.

The question as to why doesn't Oregon have a sales tax keeps coming up, said Flegel. He said the people can have a sales tax if they want it, but he opposes it because it taxes the people with low incomes the same as with the higher incomes. He contends the income tax imposes a tax on the ability of the people to pay.

He concluded, however, that the state will not be ruined if the measure is defeated, as some people would have us believe. He declared the state of Oregon is too great to be ruined by such a thing.

Sutherland Voters Hear Tax Debate

Only 25 or 30 taxpayers in the Sutherland area were present at a discussion of the forthcoming tax referendum measure at a public forum discussion Thursday night at the Sutherland Community Building.

On hand to answer questions posed by the audience were Oregon legislators, Sidney Leiken of Roseburg and Richard Eymann and Gordon Hewitt, both of Eugene. Eymann is chairman of the House Tax Committee.

Questions from the floor brought out the alternatives which Oregon voters would have to face if the bill doesn't pass.

According to Mrs. William Blakeley, correspondent, Eymann said there would probably have to be basic cutbacks in service. He also spoke of the various taxes which might have to be imposed, including property, cigarette and sales taxes. He stressed that most legislators were definitely against the sales tax and hoped it would not be necessary.

Eymann also spoke of Oregon in relation to other states as regarding taxes. He said that Oregon is credited with having high taxes, but pointed out that the Oregon resident pays less in taxes than the California taxpayer pays on the same amount.

Mrs. Blakeley said Eymann stated that he regretted that so many voters regarded the reports on the tax referendum as threats. They are not threats, he said, but necessary information which had to be brought before the voters.

Eymann also strove to correct an impression that he was against the referendum as chairman of the tax committee. His objection was to name the bill was given, he said.

Forgery Suspect Indicted By Jury

Judith Ann Angel, 22, Winston, has been re-indicted by the Douglas County Grand Jury on a charge of forgery and has been returned to Roseburg to face the charge.

Recently, an indictment against Miss Angel was thrown out by Circuit Judge Don H. Sanders on motion of her attorney, after trial opened. The grounds were that there were insufficient witnesses before the Grand Jury to substantiate the charge.

Her case involves alleged forging of a signature to payroll checks taken from the R. A. Briggs & Son Logging Co. office in Roseburg. Miss Angel was returned here from Medford by the sheriff's department Thursday.

A Douglas County jail escapee, Lloyd DeVerne Otterson, 19, was also returned to Roseburg from Ontario, Calif., by a deputy sheriff, after his arrest there on the Douglas County warrant. He was serving a jail sentence on a charge of taking and using an automobile without the owner's consent. Other charges against him pend in California, according to the sheriff's office.

Nelson Gillespie Butler, 53, Eureka, Calif., was brought to Roseburg Thursday from Salem on his release from the Oregon State Penitentiary to face a forgery charge in this county. He previously was committed from Coos County.

June Elene Lyman, 24, Winston, has been returned to Douglas County from the Rocky Butte jail in Portland, where she was detained pending a pre-sentence investigation on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. She had pleaded guilty to the charge.

Martin Eugene League, 20, Drain, pleaded guilty to a charge of taking and using a motor vehicle without authority before Circuit Judge Charles Woodrich Thursday. He was sentenced to six months in the county jail with probation after serving 30 days, provided he make restitution in full for damages to the property and obtain employment.

Freemont Gridsters Topple Sophomores

Fremont's junior high school ninth grade footballers came back from a five-point halftime deficit to slam across four touchdowns in the second half and a top-heavy 35-13 victory over the Roseburg High sophomores Thursday night.

Halfback Robin Thomas and fullback Bruce White combined efforts to rack up 235 yards between them. Thomas carried nine times for 124 yards and White carried 21 times for 111 yards.

The sophomores gave the appearance they were going to carry the day after Steve Guthrie grabbed the opening kickoff and ran to the three-yard line and Dick Dietrich punched it across for the score. Dietrich also added the extra point.

This, however, was the cue for Thomas to get on his running shoes. He rambled 70 yards for a score in the same quarter, but the kick failed.

The sophomores struck back in the second quarter as Guthrie passed 30 yards to Larry Bogdan to put his team ahead 13-8. Fremont added two more by grounding a bad snap from center in the end zone.

In the second half, the Fremont squad turned the game into a rout with two touchdowns in each period. Ron Frashour sneaked one into the end zone from his quarterback position and Thomas scored on a three-yard run for the second. Thomas also hit Tom Michalek for one of the extra points.

In the fourth quarter, Brad Cummings ran five yards for one score, and White rambled 15 yards for the second. Thomas kicked both extra points.
