Dear Abby!

Gift Is Optional

— By ABIGAIL VANBUREN —

DEAR ABBY: A relative called me and asked if she should send us a wedding invitation. She said if we didn't intend to use it, she wouldn't send one because they are very expensive and they are running short of them. When I complained to my husband about it (they are his side of the family, wouldn't you know?) he said, "Oh, don't be so formal! Ask her to read the invitation over the telephone and tell her yes or no!"

Is this the proper way to be invited to a church wedding? Do you think we should go? And if we decide not to go, do we have to send a gift anyway?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Your relative has much to learn about etiquette. Don't go to the wedding unless you want to. And a gift is optional whether you go or not.

DEAR ABBY: Our family is small, and we have many "single" friends (bachelors, divorcees and widows) whom we frequently invite to share a meal or an outing. Our children have often asked why the single men and women we invite so often never invite us for anything. At first we told them it was neither necessary nor expected. But the more we thought about it, the more we began to wonder — why don't they? They wouldn't have to include our children. I wonder why "singles" think nothing of repeatedly accepting invitations from their married friends, but rarely reciprocate.

JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: Many do. Only those "singles" who feel they have been invited out of "charity" do not consider themselves obligated, and therefore make no effort to reciprocate.

DEAR ABBY: A very attractive and well-educated woman has recently moved to our community. Her husband, an executive with a large firm, has been transferred here. This woman was given a warm welcome by all of us old residents. It is natural for a newcomer to talk about her experiences and friendships "back home," but this woman has divulged the most intimate information about her friends in her former community — things which could only have been told to her in confidence. She has even used their names. Chances are we will never meet them. But we keep wondering what she will say about us if she leaves here. If you will print this, perhaps we won't have to figure out a way to tell her she would be better liked if she didn't talk so much.

OLD RESIDENTS

CONFIDENTIAL TO J AND S: Sorry, but what you suggest is illegal, immoral and extremely dangerous. I urge you not to do anything as foolish as your considered plan. Parents are your best friends. Please tell them everything tonight.

SHIRLENE BRAZIE'S FOOD FOR THOUGHT

The ability to carve is more than an art; it is a necessity for everyone who is a lover of good food. A beautifully carved roast looks better but the gourmet claims that looks don't matter as long as the flavor is there. . . .that the taste is the thing. Correctly carved meat tastes better. A good carver must above all things attempt to keep the juices in the meat, letting as little as possible run onto the platter. This is the reason why certain cuts of meat are carved one way while others are carved another. When in doubt, always carve with the least amount of loss of juice.
