BY BOB BRADLEY

October usually marks the time when inquiries regarding Christmas trees begin to come in. This year, both buyers and sellers have already contacted our office.

For those producers who ship trees long distances and in fairly large quantities, cutting often begins in mid-November or sooner. Since needle retention is important, a few frosty nights should precede cutting, if possible, although trees are normally dormant in most areas at this time of year.

Mark To Get Demo Assist

SALEM (UPI)—Oregon House Democrats will cooperate with Gov. Mark Hatfield in solving the state's fiscal problems at a special session of the legislature next month, they agreed at a caucus here recently.

However, they did not take any action on the question of giving Hatfield the power to handle cuts in the basic school fund.

House Speaker Clarence Barton, D-Coquille, said the Democrats wanted to wait and see what the situation was when the special session opened Nov. 11.

The special session was made necessary when the 1963 legislature's $60 million tax program was turned down by the state's voters earlier this month.

The Democrats also agreed to limit the special session to the state's financial problems and to rule changes which would require bills to go through a rules committee before being introduced.

This, in effect, would give the House Rules Committee authority over the subjects which would come before the lower chamber.

No action was taken on proposals for cutting the salaries of the state legislators.

Canyonville Scouts Exemplify Promises

Boy Scout Troop 125 and Girl Scout Troop 40 exemplified their laws and promises for the Canyonville PTA at its latest meeting at the junior high school.

The boys opened the meeting, Mrs. C. L. Gardner, conducted the business session.

A report was made on the current membership drive, and plans were made for a spaghetti dinner in January. Mrs. Gardner presented Mrs. Leroy Morris with her past president's pin and received her president's pin in return. During the program hour the Girl Scouts told about their laws and organization.

Dear Abby!

Her Sons Are "Lost"!

— By ABIGAIL VANBUREN —

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the debate on whether boys or girls are preferable: You never spoke truer words, Abby, when you said, "Wait for your sunset years and see who gives you more attention." I am the mother of married sons and daughters. My daughters call me every day and always find time to drop by to see Dad and me. Our sons have grown apart from us. It makes no difference how loving a son is, once he is married (except in rare cases) you might as well kiss him goodbye. Nine times out of ten his wife takes him over to her side of the family.

ONE WHO KNOWS
DEAR ONE: Are the parents of your daughters' husbands complaining about the attention you get? Things even out. Besides, don't generalize. All married sons are not "lost." And more often than not, Mom and Dad retain the devotion they've earned.

DEAR ABBY: No problems, but I want to tell you how much my husband and I enjoy your column. By the way, we raise basset hounds and one of the best females we ever owned was named Abigail. She has helped many a champion.

ANNETTE
DEAR ANNETTE: I've helped a couple myself. But could your dog write?

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago you published a letter from a truck driver's wife. It seems her husband came home from a run with a long scratch on his thigh. He told his wife it must have been caused by a sharp feather in the motel mattress. Wife was suspicious. And YOU Dear Abby, didn't help matters much when you replied, "A likely story! They don't put feathers in mattresses anymore, and since there were no chicks around, I investigated. I found they do put steel springs in mattresses these days, and one sharp coil had come loose and worked its way through to me!" Sincerely, VICTIM

DEAR ABBY: The controversy about the Little League manager brought to mind this amusing story: A Little League pitcher had walked the first eight men at bat. The manager sent in a new pitcher. Out of the crowd stormed the lad's mother. "What do you mean taking him out of the game?" she yelled. "He had a no-hitter going!"

Ducking Lead Is Question

(Written For NEA)
By OSWALD JACOBY

I think it was the late R. F. Foster who soliloquized, "To duck or not to duck, that is the question. For whether 'tis better to win a trick at once or wait for more that may not come I cannot say."

West does not have any attractive lead of his own so he opens the nine of hearts in hope that his partner will have a heart suit.

The lead succeeds admirably provided that East is smart enough to duck after the jack is played from dummy. East should have no great problem here. His only possible re-entry is the king of spades and the heart suit is stopped twice against him.

So East ducks and signals with the eight spade. South holds the trick in dummy and comes to his hand with the ace of diamonds in order to lead a spade from his own hand. At this point West has a chance to duck. This isn't really a duck, but merely the usually normal play of second hand low. If West plays second hand low South will have no further trouble making his contract. If East takes his king of spades the entry for the heart suit will have been used up. If East doesn't take his king South abandons the spade suit and makes his contract with three clubs, three diamonds, two hearts and a spade.

If West rises with the ace of spades and leads a second heart the hand is set because East will make his hearts before South gets a spade.

A—Pass. Your partner's first bid was only a single raise and he just wants to compete, not get to game.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of passing over your partner's three diamonds, East bids three hearts. What do you in this case?

A RINGER
MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—Fisherman Bill Rice netted a large shrimp encircled by a 1960 Spring Hill College ring recently in Mobile Bay.
Through engraved initials and college officials, he traced the ring to David Brown Hirschburg Jr., 25, a department store manager-trainee, who said he probably lost it a month ago on a fishing trip.
