

State Cross Country Championship Set At Willamette University Saturday

Over 250 high school cross country runners will stride around the Bush Pasture 1.8 mile course in Salem Saturday for the state A-1 and A-2-E prep championships. Defending A-1 champs South Salem will have to best 22 other teams to earn its fourth title in five years, and A-2-B tilters Reedsport will try to make it three in a row against nine other 7-man contingents. Meet director John Lewis of host Willamette University indicated that 86 A-2-B runners will take the post at 10:30 a.m. while 172 entrants are registered for the 10:45 a.m. A-1 start. Individuals rather than a full team have been entered by nine A-1 schools and seven A-2-B representatives, including Dave Wilborn of Albany, one of the favorites. He finished second last year to Hillsboro graduate Wendell Cox. South Salem coach Lou DeLoretto is banking on a team of Don Steinke, Terry Thompson, Bob Schlegel, Barry Sterette, Arnie Powell, Jeff McKillop and Chet Gilmore to repel the efforts of strong Grant, South Eugene, North Eugene and Wilson. Grant recently won the District No. 1 title over Wilson. However, Marshall's Terry Kishpaugh earned individual honors and expects to give Wilborn a battle for the top spot. Another strong contender for the individual title is Roseburg's Mike Crumican who has been setting course records at a fantastic clip this season. Crumican won the District 5-A-1 crown by running a record shattering 8:32.7 on the North Eugene course, and is undefeated so far this season. Other noted runners are Steve Bingham, Marshfield; Steve Hettler, Wilson; Leon Henderson, North Eugene; Hal Jackson and Jim Harrison, Grant; Lou Fugere, Marshall; and Geoff Hollister and Gary Kryszak, South Eugene. Gene Faircloth, last year's A-2-B winner, will be back to pace Reedsport's third straight title bid. He will be joined by Wayne Jorgenson, George Gardiner, Joel Leming and Dennis Simmons, all of whom finished among the top 23 runners last year.

BABA HISKEY leading Almaden

Hiskey, Harrison in Tie For Almaden Open Lead

ALMADEN, Calif. (UPI) — E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, one of the grand old men of golf, turned professional nine years before Babe Hiskey was born. But the two pros went into the second round of the $25,000 Almaden Open tournament today tied for the lead with brilliant six-under-par 66s and two strokes ahead of the rest of the field.

Closest to the leaders, each with 68, were Jim Ferree, Jay Hebert, Dudley Wyson, Don Whit and Alex Sutton. Tournament favorite Mason Rudolph, who won at Fresno last week, had a par-71. Defending champion Al Geiberger had a 69, along with seven others, including such fine shot-makers as Rex Baxter, Lionel Hebert and Bob Rosburg.

Fremont Tops Glide Frosh

The Fremont Generals rolled to a lopsided 52-7 victory over the Glide freshmen, scoring almost at will through the first three periods of action. Fremont built up a quick 12-0 lead in the first quarter, and by halftime were on top, 25-0. Glide scored its lone TD in the third quarter, but the Generals went wild for 21 points in the same stanza.

Ron Frashour opened the scoring for the Generals on a two-yard quarterback sneak, with Bruce White hitting paydirt for the second TD on a two-yard plunge. In the second quarter White broke loose and galloped 50 yards and Brad Cummings added the extra point on a run. Cummings ended the scoring for the first half with a 40-yard gallop. White opened the second half by returning the kickoff 80 yards for another Fremont TD. White also ran for the PAT. Kent Cummings provided the punch for the next two TDs, scoring on a two-yard sneak and throwing a 71-yard bomb to Steve McClain. Tom Scherner and Cummings ran for the PATs. The final tally came in the fourth quarter when Frashour raced 65 yards on a bootleg play. The Generals will close out the 1963 season Saturday when they take on cross-town rival, the Joseph Lane Pioneers. Saturday's game will be played on Finlay Field, with kickoff time set for 8 p.m.

Armed Forces Grid Battle Is Saturday

By MARTIN LADER UPI Sports Writer On the ground ... in the air ... over the water ... you can always count on the United States Armed Forces for a gallant battle. And there'll be no exception this weekend when the three big service academies stage their version of the college football bowl.

There won't be any of that inter-service cooperation the State Department likes to talk about nor will there be any joint expeditions against the enemy. Just a lot of good rugged football, for which all sides will be amply rewarded. The occasion is a couple of grudge games pairing the Army against the Air Force in Chicago and Navy against Notre Dame at South Bend. The outcome is as important to these teams as the result of a bowl game is to other schools.

Rivalry Continues Army and the young Air Force Academy have met only once before and that resulted in a 13-13 tie three years ago. The Navy-Notre Dame series dates back to 1927 and is the longest intersectional rivalry in college football. The other games to be televised are Mississippi vs. Louisiana State and Southern California vs. Washington.

It'll be hard to convince student-athletes at the service academies and Notre Dame, but there'll be a number of other contests around the country Saturday of particular importance. Texas, ranked No. 1 in the nation and one of only four major schools left with an unblemished record, travels to Dallas with a meeting with Southern Methodist. The Longhorns, despite their national prominence, are still tied with Baylor for the Southwest Conference lead and must keep on winning to earn a return trip to the Cotton Bowl.

Griffin Cops Archery Meet

The Roseburg Rod and Gun Club archers began the winter season recently at the course in Winchester, firing the gold round. Topping the men's division was Gim Griffin with a score of 740. Other top scores were shot by Bill Jacobs, 615; Mel Holcomb, 570; Charles Pugh, 524; and Dale Oakerman, 437. No scores were available for Duane Alexenko, Dick Callis and Bill Austin. Aloma Griffin's 598 was the top score for the women archers. Kitty Alexenko and Dorothy Austin also competed. Starting Nov. 5 the Rod and Gun Club Archers will shoot each Thursday evening. Anyone interested is welcome to attend the weekly shoots. Dorothy Austin and Clyde Snell, both club members, reported killing bucks early in the season with bow and arrows. Others got their deer with rifles during the general deer season, while many members are still trying with bows. The current archery season for deer lasts until Nov. 17.
