Gallant Defender Must Reform

(Written For NEA)
 By OSWALD JACOBY

Everyone who has ever played rubber bridge has suffered with that type of partner which I call "The Gallant Defender." The gallant defender is going to keep the flag flying irrespective of the cost and there is nothing his partner can do about it. Once in a while the defender will point out that the 1100-point set he took was really worthwhile because he went on to win the rubber and actually saved a couple of hundred points.

Dear Abby!

Try Harder, Honey!

— By ABIGAIL VANBUREN —

DEAR ABBY: I am in the sixth grade and my problem is I am ashamed of my mother. Please don't think I'm a bad person, Abby, but it's hard for mothers to understand when somebody else's mother is a foreigner and doesn't speak much English. When she comes to school it is very embarrassing when the teachers ask her what she said so many times. My mother has been in this country since I was a small baby, so I don't know why she never learned to speak English. My father is a good-looking American man and I think sometimes he is ashamed of her, too. She is a good and kind mother, but I can't help how I feel. How can I solve my problem and not hurt my mother?

HALF AND HALF

DEAR HALF AND HALF: Ask your father to encourage adult education class and study English. If she agrees, wonderful. And you could help her study. If she will not, she is probably too shy. But don't be ashamed of her, honey. Inability to speak English is no reflection on your mother's character, and she probably suffers more humiliation than you know.

DEAR ABBY: A new girl came to work in our office. She is a sweet girl, and we like her but, Abby, here is the problem. She brings her lunch in a brown paper bag (as we all do) and she sets it up on the closet shelf with the other girls' lunches. She always brings salami, sardines, dill pickles, or something that smells up the entire closet. My coat has started to

 A—This is a tough problem. I have no criticism of a pass, but if my partner is not going to treat four no-trump as Blackwood on this sequence I would bid four no-trump.
TODAY'S QUESTION
 Instead of bidding three no-trump your partner bids two spades. What do you do now?

It never touches a drop.

The Volkswagen is cooled by air. Not water. An ingenious advantage. Since air cannot freeze, the Volkswagen engine cannot. Even at temperatures below zero, it is safe and sound. The VW has no radiator problems for an eloquently simple reason. It has no radiator. Viz: It never needs anti-freeze. It never needs flushing out. There is no radiator hose to crack and leak and possibly lose expensive anti-freeze. When drivers line up for anti-freeze etc. on the first bitter winter day, the VW owner is spared the annoyance. Not to mention the expense. The Volkswagen has an equal advantage in hot weather. Air cannot boil any more than it can freeze. Neither can the VW. In bumper-to-bumper traffic, when tempers and water grow short, when cars sit at the side of the road waiting to cool, the little Volkswagen goes right on past. It is above it all. Riding on air.
