

Kennedy Family Has Sad Thanksgiving Reunion

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI)—A cold drizzle kept the grieving family of the late President indoors today except for trips to church.

Authorities Hold Forgery Suspect

Paul Leonard Johnson, 31, Oregon City, was lodged in the Douglas County jail Wednesday on a charge of forgery. Bail was set at $2,500.

Douglas Arthur Johnson, 25, Roseburg, has been arrested here on a Pendleton warrant charging him with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Bail is $500.

Held for Navy authorities are David Earl McCoy, 18, 747 NW Broadway, Roseburg, listed as being absent without leave, and Raymond Noble Edgar, 21, Roseburg, listed as a Navy deserter.

In Roseburg District Court Wednesday, George Enlow was found innocent of a charge of engaging as a pawn broker without a license. He allegedly made a loan to Harold Fox, taking an electric drill as security. Judge Gerald R. Hayes found he had not violated a law.

Oral notice of appeal from a District Court conviction was filed by Ralph Gene Schwab, 35, on a charge of improper passing. Judge Hayes had found him guilty and he was fined $5 and $5 costs Wednesday.

Rural Fire District Election Set Monday

Residents of the Roseburg Rural Fire District will go to the polls Monday to cast their ballots on the annexation of five areas to the district and on a new member of the board of directors.

Only candidate for the five-year term is Robert Moursund, principal of Joseph Lane Junior High School. In each case, 100 per cent of the residents in the areas to be annexed petitioned for annexation. Residents of the present district must approve the annexation.

Riddle Home Burns

The Riddle Volunteer Fire Department responded to a call from the Hans Rosengreen home Tuesday morning shortly after two o'clock when fire was discovered in the small central room in which the heating unit is located.

One wall of the room was burned before the fire was extinguished, causing damaged estimated at $200 by Kenneth Bond, Riddle fire chief. The house is insured, according to Erma Best, correspondent.

Kennedy homes overlooking Nantucket Sound pierced the rainy day. The only sound was the barking of dogs owned by the Kennedy children.

The somber family circle included Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, the President's widow, and their two children, Caroline and John. They were surrounded by reminders of a happier yesterday.

The grieving 34-year-old widow and her children flew here Thursday for a sad Thanksgiving reunion with the heartbroken Kennedy clan. The only members missing were Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, his wife Ethel and their eight children who spent the sorrowful holiday in the McLean, Va.

The traditional Thanksgiving Day reunion and dinner followed the same pattern as others—but it wasn't the same.

No Laughter
There was no laughter or joy. The celebrated touch football game was missing. And there was no ice skating party at the rink just outside the village.

Cow Is Victim Of Road Mishap

Douglas County had a quiet Thanksgiving, so far as highway accidents and criminal actions were concerned.

Only one accident was reported to police agencies, and involved an automobile's bout with a cow. The bovine got the worst of the encounter and was killed, Thomas J. Miller of 141 Currier St. reported to the Sheriff's Department. The accident occurred two miles north of Roseburg on Highway 99 BR. The car was damaged.

State police report the arrest of Carl Joseph Hill Jr., 20, Cottage Grove, booked for being a minor in possession of alcohol. With him were three girls, all under 18, from Cottage Grove. They were taken into custody at a restaurant in Curtin. The girls allegedly had been drinking and a full bottle of vodka was found in Hill's car, said state police.

Three juvenile girls were returned here as runaways and booked at the county jail for juvenile authorities.

Minnie L. Bailey

A former Roseburg and Garden Valley resident, Mrs. Minnie L. Bailey, 75, died Sunday in a Seattle, Wash., hospital after a short illness. Funeral services and interment took place Wednesday in Seattle.

Mrs. Bailey, a native of Illinois, lived here before moving to Washington in 1947.

She was the widow of George C. Bailey, who died in 1959. He was author of the novel, "Tall Trees Surrounded."

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. George Koerner, and a niece, Miss Joyce Koerner, both of Edmonds, Wash.; and numerous nieces and nephews in the east.

This quota is in addition to those set for Myrtle Creek on Dec. 4, Sutherlin, Dec. 5 and Drain Dec. 6. Roseburg hours are Dec. 2 — 1 to 5 p.m. and Dec. 3 — 4 to 8 p.m.

Roseburg area residents who have not given blood before will find the process simple and quick, Mrs. Franks said. Registration is followed by a blood check to be certain the donor is eligible as to iron content in the blood; a temperature test; and then the actual donation.

Nation's Holiday Death Toll Falls

By United Press International
The death pace on the nation's highways fell below the normal for a non-holiday weekend on the second day of the long Thanksgiving holiday today.

Since the holiday period began at 6 p.m. Wednesday, automotive deaths had been occurring at the rate of 4.1 an hour. The National Safety Council said the average death toll for a non-holiday period was approximately 4.6 an hour.

A United Press International count at 9:30 p. m. PST showed 173 traffic deaths since the holiday weekend began.

The breakdown:
Traffic 173
Fires 10
Planes 10
Miscellaneous 25
Total 218

California led the auto death count with 12, followed by Illinois and Michigan with 11 each, Texas with 10 and North Carolina with 9.

Five members of a Tennessee family en route to a Thanksgiving dinner with relatives were killed Thursday when their private plane crashed in a field about 40 miles west of Knoxville, Tenn. Four college freshmen died when their single-engine plane crashed and burned on Mt. Wachusett near Princeton, Mass., Thursday night.

The National Safety Council does not keep tabs on the Thanksgiving holiday death toll but said about 472 persons would die in traffic accidents during a normal non-holiday period from 6 p.m., Wednesday to midnight Sunday this time of year.

Johnson Gets Thumbs Up Vote From Europe

LONDON (UPI)—In its first stock-taking of President Lyndon B. Johnson, Europe has given him a thumbs up vote.

After the first shock over the assassination of President Kennedy, and even some panic, a mood of confidence that leadership of the Western alliance remains in strong hands appears to have taken hold.

Only events and the manner in which Johnson deals with them can prove the final verdict of America's allies, but a survey of European capitals by United Press International reporters shows that at the outset Johnson has made a good impression.

Many of Europe's leading statesmen were able to make their first assessment of the new President when they went to Washington for the Kennedy funeral rites. Others base their hope in Johnson on what they have seen of him on his trips as vice president, and on his statements and speeches of the past week.

Home Impressed

British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home stated his own opinion of the suddenly burdened Texan immediately on his return from Washington. The new President "greatly impressed all the visitors and observers in Washington," Douglas Home said. He expressed confidence the "finely held" checks and balances of international relations would not be disturbed by the change in American leadership.

West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, another visitor to Washington, was reported by his closest aides to have been greatly encouraged by his initial reactions to Johnson whom he found looking to the future and acutely aware of the problems of Germany and West Berlin.

In Communist-surrounded West Berlin itself, which Johnson visited on a morale-boosting mission shortly after election of the Communist wall in 1961, Mayor Willy Brandt said he knows the new President is as determined as his predecessors to stand by all commitments to the city. "Berliners can have the same confidence in Johnson they had in Kennedy," Brandt said.

Proved To Be Thorn

French President Charles de Gaulle, whose go-it-alone tactics in East-West relations and nuclear policies were a thorn in the side of the Kennedy administration, is not likely to be less a thorn for Johnson's administration. But persons close to the French leader report that in his first contact with the new President in Washington De Gaulle liked the measure of the man.

Austria's Chancellor Alfons Gorbach who saw Johnson for 15 minutes after the Kennedy funeral said "peace and freedom" were in good hands. Switzerland's Foreign Minister

F. T. Wahlen saw U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, not the President. But his impression was said to be that continued strong leadership could be expected.

Another who returned encouraged from Washington was Norway's Prime Minister Einar Gerhardsen who said he found more insecurity in Europe over the change in American leadership than he did in the United States. Denmark's Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag has not seen Johnson since he succeeded to the presidency but met him as vice president. He voiced his confidence in the new Chief Executive within hours of Kennedy's murder.

Rates Johnson Highly
Finland's President Urho Kekkonen saw a good deal of Johnson on a Washington visit in October, 1961, and again when the then vice president visited Finland less than three months ago. He gives Johnson a high rating in statesmanship. Holland's Foreign Minister J. M. H. Luns saw Johnson early this month and found him well informed on "the broad outlines" of foreign affairs. Luns is confident Johnson will continue Kennedy's program in the Western alliance.
