Khrushchev Makes Final Plea For Economic Plan

Action May Curtail Red Space Funds

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev threw the full weight of his oratory today into a final plea for a seven-year economic plan that is likely to curtail Soviet defense and space budgets.

The 69-year-old government and party leader started his windup speech before the plenary session of the Communist party's ruling Central Committee today.

Khrushchev was expected to speak for two hours, with official reports on the speech expected later tonight.

About 5,000 party experts and technicians attending the plenum heard Khrushchev expound on the urgent need of a 42 billion rubles ($46.2 billion) investment in the chemical industry during the next seven years.

The plan to revitalize the chemical industry, with particular emphasis on chemical fertilizers to boost the nation's chronically failing agricultural program, was the sole item on the agenda.

Khrushchev himself presided over the special committee which drafted a decree approving the seven-year plan.

The plenum was held in the Kremlin's Palace of Congresses.

The plenum was running an extra day, through Saturday morning, to allow the 175 voting members to give formal approval to the project for a chemical revolution that is bound to affect other parts of the Soviet budget.

Saturday's meeting, attended only by the 175 full members and 153 alternates, will allow them a private discussion on organizational and other matters.

N. K. Baibakov, chairman of the State Committee on Chemical and Oil Industries, claimed that with the advances projected in the new plan, the Soviet Union would surpass the United States in oil output by 1970.

He said the 1970 Soviet oil production would be between 350 and 390 million tons of oil as compared to an annual production now of 205 million tons.

Veniamin Dymshits, chairman of the National Economic Council, told the 6,000 delegates to the party meeting that production of machinery for new fertilizer plants will be "reached in full" by next year.

Khrushchev seeks to triple the production of chemical fertilizers in the next seven years as a means of solving the crop shortages that this year forced the Soviets to purchase up to $1 billion in grain from the West.

In addition, the chemical industry will be able to turn out more consumer goods to satisfy increasing demands.

The next step for the program is to go before the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet Parliament, which meets Monday. Khrushchev is expected to address that body, too, but Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is scheduled to make the main speech.

It will be the first foreign policy statement since the death of President Kennedy.

The entire week of party meetings has been devoted to agriculture, the sore spot in a year of general industrial growth and production successes.

Rusk Takes LBJ Report To NATO

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk flew to Paris today, bearing with him a special message from President Johnson to the NATO ministerial council meeting.

Rusk will attend the meeting, which opens Monday in the French capital, and confer with allied leaders on the next Western strategy move in the shaky cold war truce. He will be joined Saturday by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon.

Rusk's plane took off shortly before 8 a.m. EST from near Andrews Air Force Base, Md. Arrival in Paris is scheduled at 3:15 p.m. EST (9:15 p.m. Paris time). Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara leaves tonight for the meeting and will be followed Saturday by Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon.

U.S. officials said they expected the NATO session, as well as individual meetings Rusk will have with the other foreign ministers outside the formal conference, to be focused primarily on a political assessment on East-West relations.

The United States is particularly anxious to sound out its partners on the wisdom of trying to reach other tension-lowering agreements with the Russians following the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

American officials said that so far they had found Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's proposal for an East-West non-aggression pact unacceptable because it was tied to schemes such as an unverified—and unverifiable—reduction of military budgets. But the United States believes exploratory talks should continue.

Another Rusk objective, although obviously not listed on any specific agenda, is to reassert U.S. leadership of the Western alliance and emphasize that there will be no hiatus because of the change of Presidents in the United States.

Reaffirm U.S. Commitment
Johnson's message to NATO, officials said, will reaffirm the deep U.S. commitment to the defense of the non-Communist world while expressing continued willingness to consider sincere efforts to blunt some of the peril-points which threaten nuclear war.

U.S. officials acknowledged that there could be little if any discussion of NATO military structure and strategy at the Paris meeting in view of French President Charles de Gaulle's stern refusal to cooperate in nuclear matters or conventional military planning.

These items, including the controversial proposal for NATO nuclear naval fleet, will be left where they are—in the hands of special committees trying to find some way out of the snarl.

Sinatra Kidnapers Get FBI Warning Bills Are Numbered

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The FBI served notice on the kidnapers of young Frank Sinatra today that it has the serial numbers of the $240,000 in bills paid for his ransom.

The numbers were flashed around the country from FBI headquarters in Washington with a plea for anyone who received any of the bills to contact the nearest FBI office immediately.

At the same time, the FBI declined comment on reports it had taken motion pictures of the suspects with a long-range lens as the boy's famous father was being picked up.

Sources close to the FBI said agents are "now more convinced than ever" that the kidnaping was genuine, despite some published reports to the contrary.

The list of serial numbers, which are not in sequence, runs 41 pages. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the money included 700 $100 bills, 700 $50 bills, 400 $20 bills, 400 $10 bills and 300 $5 bills.

Federal Reserve Notes
With the exception of the $5 bills, all the money is in federal reserve notes, Hoover said. The $5 bills included silver certificates, United States notes and federal reserve notes.

Frank Sinatra Sr. was reported by a close friend to have seen the pictures, taken with a telescopic lens and infrared light, and recognized two of the suspects.

Military Base Closure Order Draws Protest

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department order closing 26 military bases from New York to California brought a barrage of protests today from Congress, including charges of false economy.

But Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara indicated Thursday that the closing orders were part of a new economy campaign that would gear savings to spending.

Until now, that has not always been the case. In the past because of a steady buildup in Polaris submarines and other defense programs, the Defense Department had to explain with each cost reduction why spending was increasing.

Nothing placated Congress, however. Sen. Kennedy B. Keating, R-N. Y., introduced a bill to block the base closings in economically depressed areas. Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., promised to turn the Pentagon upside down before accepting the cutbacks. New York stands to lose seven installations.

Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., said the decision to close the San Diego naval repair facility lacked logic in view of other "pump-priming" programs. Wilson said he has asked Assistant Navy Secretary Kenneth Belieu to reconsider the closure on the basis of "economic horse sense."

Under McNamara's order, a total of 33 bases would be shut down over a three and one-half year period. Twenty six of the bases were in the United States. The seven others were in three foreign countries, but were not identified until the governments concerned had been informed.

In his news conference, McNamara said the closings will result in a "net loss" of 8,500 civilian jobs. It was evident, however, that many other civilian workers at the bases will have to make long distance moves in order to keep their government jobs. In these cases, the government will pay for the moving expenses.

McNamara talked of actual reductions which will bring defense department civilian employment to the lowest level in 15 years.

The increase in military spending since McNamara took office has been from $43 billion proposed by President Eisenhower in the last budget he submitted to Congress, to an estimated $51 billion for the year ending next July 1.

Owners Abandon Stricken Vessel
ASTORIA (UPI)—Owners and underwriters of the stranded lumber freighter C. Trader decided Thursday to abandon the vessel to the U.S. Government.

C. Alan Rees, agent in Portland for the Salvage Association of London, said it became economically impossible to refloat the ship or to unload its cargo of lumber because of dangerous strong tides and eddies.

Col. Sterling K. Eisinger, Portland district Army engineer, received the abandonment letter. He said the government had refused to accept the 256-foot hulk because it was not in the channel and did not represent an emergency. He said further work was being awaited from Washington.

The C. Trader left Raymond, Wash., last Friday for Los Angeles with some 2.4 million feet of lumber. It lost its steering and began to ship water. It was towed over the Columbia River bar when the stern ran aground.

Eisenhowers Planning California Vacation
PALM DESERT, Calif. (UPI)—Gen. and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower plan an extended winter vacation again this year at this desert resort.

William R. Daughterty, manager of the Eldorado Country Club, said Thursday the former President and his wife would arrive next Wednesday and would stay through mid May at the $175,000 presidential cottage on the 11th fairway.

While in Southern California where he has spent winters in recent years, Eisenhower will serve as marshal of the Pasadena Rose Parade.

Bolivia Government Attack On Miners Believed Imminent

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI)—Rebellious miners set up armed command posts around their Catavi stronghold today to fend off the threat of apparently imminent military action by the government.

Four American and 17 other hostages being held by the rebels to force the government to release three jailed Communist labor leaders meanwhile ended their first week of captivity. Unconfirmed reports said army troops flanking Catavi were holding two unidentified American newsmen returning to La Paz from the rebel stronghold.

Mediation efforts to resolve the power clash between President Victor Paz Estenssoro, on one hand, and his vice president, Juan Lechin, on the other, moved ahead on two fronts. Neither gave much hope for success.

Roman Catholic priest Father Andrew Kennedy left Oruro for Catavi to talk to Lechin and the miners holding the hostages there. University student leaders also sought to mediate the dispute despite Paz' refusal to even discuss an exchange of the jailed Reds for the hostages.

Press dispatches from Catavi said the miners had set up armed outposts on a 25-to-40-mile perimeter around the tin mining center with Castro-type bearded sentries carrying Yugoslav-made submachine guns and sticks of dynamite—the miner's favorite weapon.

The army meanwhile moved troop reinforcements from Cochabamba in 10 trucks and two Jeeps toward the mining area. The hostages, cooped up in a

Prosecutor Says Jack Ruby Sane
DALLAS (UPI)—Dist. Atty. Henry Wade today charged that only defense lawyers have labeled Jack Ruby insane.

Ruby, charged with killing Lee Harvey Oswald, suspected assassin of President Kennedy, is represented by Melvin Belli, famed San Francisco attorney.

"He flies into Dallas, talks with Ruby and Ruby employs him," Wade said. "Belli then announces to the press that Ruby is a fine conscientious citizen; but in the next breath he pronounces Ruby insane."

The Dallas Times Herald quoted "reliable sources" Thursday who said a psychiatrist examined the strip club operator and found him sane shortly after the shooting Nov. 24.

Vets Agency Gets Title To Final Boardman Land

SEATTLE (UPI)—The last parcel in the planned 100,000-acre Boardman space age industrial park was annexed by the State of Oregon from U.S. Navy Thursday night.

A deed transferring 48,261 acres was signed here by Capt. J. J. Cassidy, director of the Northwest Division, Bureau of Yards and Docks. Presenting a check for $527,191 in final payment for the land was H. C. Saalfeld, director of the State Veterans Department. Boardman is to be administered under his agency.

Saalfeld returned to Portland immediately after the signing. He turned over papers for the Boardman tract to an aid who in turn took them to the Morrow County courthouse in Hepner to be filed.

Meanwhile, Boeing attorneys and state officials were expected to complete inspection of details on the Seattle firm's 77-year lease arrangement for the Eastern Oregon site near the Columbia River.

Boeing has until Monday to exercise its option on the site. Both parties have signed the lease.

Completion of the deal moving Boeing into the park has been held up until proof of title was supplied to the land. The special session of the legislature recently transferred Boardman from the State Land Board to the veterans agency.

Oregon Population Rises 4.9 Per Cent Since 1960

PORTLAND (UPI)—The population of Oregon went up 1.7 per cent from July 1, 1962, to July 1, 1963, and rose 4.9 per cent over the 1960 federal census, the Oregon State Board of Census said today.

The population of the state July 1 was 1,856,190. All counties of the Willamette Valley showed increases, although Yamhill County remained almost unchanged at 35,278. Jackson and Josephine Counties had substantial increases over 1962.

In eastern Oregon, Sherman and Jefferson Counties continue to increase rapidly due to construction projects.

Sherman went up 14.9 per cent during the year, and 28 per cent since the 1960 federal census. Jefferson rose 13.3 per cent during the year and 56.9 per cent from the 1960 census.

Lane County increased only 0.3 per cent over 1962, and the board said this showed a reappraisal of past trends, rather than a slowing down of the growth rate.

Eugene showed a gain of 2,725 to 58,138; Springfield was up 1,019 to 21,736; Albany up 890 to 14,578; Coos Bay up 625 to 7,769; and Medford up 607 to 26,228. Salem increased by only 230 to 50,759 due to a loss of institutional population.

The greatest gains in percentage was recorded at two so-called "ghost towns." Granite was up 200 per cent — from 1 to 3 with a new family joining the lone resident. Shaniko jumped 62.9 per cent, from 35 to 57.
