New Partnerships Can Go Wrong

By OSWALD JACOBY
(Written For NEA)

During the course of 1963, I played with a great many new partners. A new partnership will get along pretty well when the opponents aren't mean enough to throw curves at you. When they do, a new partnership is apt to become confused.

East's three club opening was one of those curves. All pre-diamond ruffs, two hearts and the ace of trumps for plus 500. Or partner might have made some strong heart bid. Against a heart contract arrived at this way East would probably have opened the king of clubs, whereupon my partner would have made six for plus 980 had we bid the slam or plus 480 had we played four or five.

However, I bid four spades and my partner certainly was entitled to make some strong move. He bid five clubs and East doubled. This gave me a chance to pass. Obviously I had no reason to be pleased by the fact that he held the ace of clubs.

The bid came back to him. He bid five hearts and now I made one of the worst decisions of the year. I jumped to six spades on the theory that my partner's bids showed a tremendous hand with a spade fit. The theory turned out to be wrong and the result was a flat zero score.

emptive bids are calculated to make it difficult for the opposition and this was no exception. It worked beautifully against my new partner and me.

Sitting South, I had a choice of bids against that opening. I might have doubled and had I done so this article would not be written because my partner might have passed the double. In that case a diamond opening and continuation would have given us two diamonds, two partially appealing, but I finally decided that I would accept that spade lead. Perhaps my partner would have something in the suit. The roof did not fall on me, but I surely had made the worst possible choice.

Dummy showed up with the queen of spades, but unfortunately it was a singleton. West played his ace and returned the suit and spades were established against me.

Of course, I did have 10 top tricks and proceeded to run them off, but had I barred the spade lead I would surely have made at least one trick more than I did gather and in duplicate those extra tricks are important.

While this article is on mistakes I want to point out that my partner's raise to three no-trump was the correct bid with his hand. We were playing duplicate and there was no reason for him to suggest a diamond game.
