considered for admission to this country without reference to their national origin.

Johnson strongly endorsed the measure as a matter of "common sense, common decency and... for the common good."

The President pointed out that current immigration standards were discriminatory in that annual quotas for such countries as Britain and West Germany are seldom used up while Italian and Greek prospective immigrants face enormous backlogs.

Sens. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., both strongly supported the President's position.

Eastland then was invited by the President to say a few words to the group assembled in the cabinet room.

"We are going into this matter very carefully and expeditiously," Eastland said, quickly turning away from the news-reel and television microphones set up for the occasion.

After the meeting, Eastland was asked if he intended to sound "as detached and cold toward this matter as it occurred to some of those present."

With a smile, the Mississippi senator, said he had not meant to give an impression of disinterest or detachment.

During the day, Johnson scheduled a number of appointments and planned to keep a close eye on the Panamanian situation.

The President planned a session with Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon and Undersecretary Henry Fowler. He also

Orthodox Church Leader Is Due For Vatican Talk

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—A high-ranking envoy of the Eastern Orthodox Church was due here today for month-long talks with the Vatican on future steps toward Christian unity.

The visit of Metropolitan Athenagoras of Thiatiron is an outcome of Pope Paul VI's pilgrimage to the Holy Land which high Vatican sources say will be followed up by trips to India and possibly the United States.

Metropolitan Athenagoras is the personal envoy of Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople, spiritual head of the Eastern Orthodox Church, who held an historic meeting with Pope Paul in Jerusalem earlier this month.

The success of the Holy Land pilgrimage apparently has encouraged the Pope to go to Bombay Nov. 28 to Dec. 10 for the Eucharistic Congress there.

The purpose of the gathering of clerics and priests is to glorify the consecrated bread and wine by public adoration and to increase devotion generally.

The sources said the Pope might also visit the United States in the "not too distant future," possibly during the World's Fair which will run April 22-Oct. 18 this year and about the same period in 1965.

Cloakes Ferry Paving Job On City Council Agenda

One of the major items on tonight's Roseburg City Council meeting will be a discussion of the results of a questionnaire involving a proposed paving project in the Cloakes Ferry Addition.

The council will not hold a public hearing on the matter tonight, but will merely go over the questionnaire, results of which will be mailed to all property owners. With this mailing the date for the public hearing will be announced.

City Manager Craig McMicken has recommended that the council declare intent to establish two assessment districts, one for 11 street-paving projects and another for sidewalks on four streets.

McMicken said 11 of the 15 streets on which questionnaires were sent to property owners showed a majority of owners were in favor of the street paving. The streets on which such majorities were shown were Carroll Court, Shenandoah, Sallida, Alamosa, Broccoli, Sharp, Cardinal, Sherwood, Bradford, Center and Hickory.

Those on which no such majority was received were Gary, Elm, Agee and Filbert.

McMicken said the sidewalk district question wasn't quite so clear-cut. Of the total number voting, 18 per cent indicated favor. But of the total number of properties, only 46 per cent were in the approval column. The three streets involved in the sidewalk district proposal are Sharp, Sherwood and Broccoli.

Bail was set by the municipal judge at $200. A complaint charging shoplifting was filed in District Court today.

Arrested also for vagrancy was Gerald Wade Colwell, 19, of Rt. 4, Box 1076, Roseburg, after he ran from the vicinity of Miller's Flying "A" Service Station on W. Harvard Ave. when police stopped to investigate a car at the scene at 1:45 a.m. Saturday.

The officer reported he gave chase on foot when he saw someone running away and finally overtook Colwell in a nearby ditch. When the officer returned to the service station, the automobile parked there was gone. Colwell was booked on the vagrancy charge and held for investigation.

The family requests no flowers and suggests that those wishing to give a remembrance made a donation to the local chapter of the American Cancer Society.

New Housing Unit Nearing Completion

The Douglas County Housing Authority is presently accepting applications for unassigned units in the new low income housing development scheduled to be ready for occupancy in Winston about Feb. 1.

Prime contractor James & Stritzke Construction Co. Roseburg has advised the housing authority the 16-unit project will be ready for final inspection Jan. 20. Housing administrator Charles Dondero said this could mean occupancy by as early as Feb. 1.

The Winston project includes two four-bedroom units, eight three-bedroom units and four two-bedroom units and two one-bedroom units. Dondero said all families applying will be given consideration, and those who qualify for the low-income housing but whose needs cannot be filled at this time will be held on file for vacancies that may occur in the future. He said there are some vacancies at this time.

Over-all construction cost for the Winston project was $221,000, including landscaping, utility systems, paved streets, sidewalks, sewers and interior furnishings of a range and refrigerator. Two of the units are individual buildings and the other 14 are one-story duplexes.

The Winston project is located on Ford Street, south of State Highway 42 and west of Highway 99 BR. The 3.3-acre site was originally undeveloped land lying between a residential and commercial area, well within walking distance to the Winston city center and major shopping areas.

The units are a basic wood frame construction with board and batten exteriors, aluminum windows and single roofs, and constructed on concrete slabs. Dondero said the housing authority called for high-grade construction throughout because it is striving for a unit life of at least 40 years. This, plus the need to keep the maintenance cost at a minimum, makes it necessary to build the units as soundly as possible, he points out.

Two of the units are being held especially for the elderly and feature special safety innovations for such tenants. Applicants for these units must comply with housing authority regulations for maximum income, and rentals are charged in accordance with income. Minimum rent fees will be $39 and maximum chargeable is $88.

Dondero said maximum income admission limits will be on this scale: One or two persons, maximum income, $3,600 per year, three or four persons, maximum income of $3,900 per year, five or more persons, maximum income of $4,200 per year.

Average rental is figured to be about $50, the administrator said. This includes payment of gas, water, sewage service and garbage collection. Tenants will pay for the electricity, directly to the power company.

Persons wishing to apply for residency in one of the new units in the Winston project are asked to contact the Douglas County Housing Authority in Roseburg.

Because of the interest shown, high school students planning to attend the university are invited to come to the meeting with their parents. The meeting will be devoted largely to a question and answer period. Refreshments will be served.
