Dear Abby! He's Frightened! — By ABIGAIL VANBUREN — DEAR ABBY: In plain words, how does a woman get a full-grown baby (her husband) to a dentist? I would hate to tell you how long I have been fighting this problem without success.

Radio & TV Programs

Table listing radio and TV programs for KPIC-TV (Ch. 4), KBES-TV (Ch. 5), KOIN-TV (Ch. 6), and KEZI-TV (Ch. 9). Includes program names, times, and days.

DEAR STUMPED: Your husband (like thousands of other "full-grown" babies) is terrified of the dentist's chair, but he's ashamed to admit it. You could make an appointment for "yourself" for a general check-up. Tell your husband you want him to go along and hold your hand for moral support. Once there, you could ask your dentist if he had a few moments to look at your husband's teeth. In this way the anticipation, which is 99 per cent of all "suffering" endured in connection with dentistry, is reduced. You'll need the cooperation of your dentist, of course, but it's worth a try.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married four years and have a year-old son. We go to a dance every Saturday night. It usually winds up in an argument after the dance because I happen to have mentioned that we are married, or I make some remark about the baby. He claims it ruins his chances to dance with some of the women because they don't want to make me jealous. After last Saturday night he said a couple of girls refused to dance with him when they found out he was married. I am thinking seriously of letting him go alone in the future. Would it be wise?

DEAR CONFUSED: No. It would be otherwise. A married man who poses as a bachelor usually wishes he were one, or is acting like one.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who has been sitting regularly for a woman who lives in our neighborhood. Her husband is on the road a lot and she likes to go out in the evenings. She never tells me where I can reach her in case of emergency. She says she will call me during the evening to see how things are, but she never has. She has two children. One had an asthma attack once when the mother was gone and I had to call the doctor. I was frightened to death. I'm afraid if I told my mother and asked her advice she wouldn't let me sit for this woman any more, that's why I'm asking you, Abby. Should I continue to sit for this woman?

WEAR WELL PAID: You could just as well have asked your mother. My answer is the same as hers.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "RED:" A man is not likely to look under the bed unless he's hidden under one himself.

Communist Practices Topic At Lookingglass

The Lookingglass PTA will feature a tape recording for its program at the regular meeting on Monday at 8 p.m. at the school.

The recording is the report of an Army major reporting on the treatment of prisoners during the Korean War in which the practice of "brain washing" prisoners was carried on by the Communists in an effort to induct prisoners into the party, according to Hazel Marsh, correspondent.

Open discussion of the principles and practices of the Communist Party will be held following the showing of the recording.

A display of the work of the fourth graders under the teaching of Mrs. Osborne will be shown and the third grade mothers from Mrs. Bond's room will furnish refreshments. The meeting will be held in the cafeteria. All patrons and parents are urged to attend.
