

Soldier's Burial At Arlington Accorded Panama Sniper Victim

WASHINGTON (UPI) — He died a soldier's death at his post and she wanted him to have a soldier's burial.

But for a time it seemed that all the impersonal forces of a vast military bureaucracy would deprive Mrs. Barbara Jimenez-Cruz of this last honor a grateful nation can offer one of its fallen sons.

Mrs. Jimenez's husband, Army Staff Sgt. Luis Jimenez-Cruz, a native of Puerto Rico, was shot down by a sniper in Panama early on the morning of Jan. 10. He was standing guard over a roadblock at the Canal Zone, armed with an enemy rifle, a bayonet and tear gas.

The Army explained that at the outset of the rioting in Panama no rifle ammunition was issued "except to the lead company" because it was thought order could be restored without gunfire. This was described as "standard riot control tactics."

"The death of Sgt. Jimenez-Cruz was a tragic consequence of the disorders in the Panama Canal Zone. He died a soldier's death at his post of duty. In recognition of his courage and sacrifice, he was awarded the Army Commendation Medal posthumously," the Army said.

Family Accompanies Body

His wife and two children, Michael, 6, and Gina Maria, 2, accompanied his body back to the United States for burial in Arlington National Cemetery.

The little family, and the casket bearing the body, arrived at Washington's Union Station at 6 a.m. Thursday. An honor guard took the casket to Arlington, but was not told Mrs. Jimenez was here until two hours later.

She and her children were rushed to the cemetery in time only to see her husband for the last time. She was charged a $25 fee to have the casket opened.

Fred L. Stewart, manager of one of the W. W. Chambers-Funeral Homes in Washington, defended the fee. He said it was standard in such cases, and the family could recover it from the Army. An Army spokesman confirmed this.

Stewart told a newsman he spent about two hours opening the casket, waiting for Mrs. Jimenez and her children—who had been first misdirected to the wrong chapel at Ft. Myer—and then restoring the casket cover. He said his contract with the cemetery did not cover such services.

Officials of the Military District of Washington, which has jurisdiction over the cemetery, said there was no public announcement of the first burial of a U.S. casualty of the Panama riots because no one had informed them the sergeant's body had arrived.

An Army spokesman later attributed the widow's difficulties to a "regrettable breakdown in communications." But her trial was not yet over.

Reservation Cancelled

When Mrs. Jimenez left the cemetery to go to an Arlington motel she found that the Army had mistakenly canceled her reservation there. She also got the impression the Army was not going to pay her expenses back to her home in Seattle, Wash.

It was then that George Cox, a Panama City, Fla., businessman staying at the motel, stepped in. He called the office of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., who directed that the Army be contacted and urged to straighten out the situation. He also reported the tragic mixup to the Army inspector general's office.

Cox and the motel manager found accommodations for Mrs. Jimenez, and the Army soon hastened to reassure her about her travel expenses.

Army Secretary Cyrus R. Vance, learning of the distraught woman's ordeal, sought to apologize but by then she had left the city.

In a letter sent to her Seattle home, he wrote:

"I want you to know how sorry I am and I deeply regret that the lack of attention on the part of the Army caused you additional suffering following the tragic death of your husband." He expressed his "deep sympathy for you and your children."

Initiative Move Seeks Fag Tax

SALEM (UPI)— Plans to initiate a 4-cent a pack cigarette tax to be voted on at the November general election were unveiled before the Interim Tax Committee here Friday.

Rep. Joe Rogers, R-Independence, said he and Rep. Morris Crothers, R-Salem, were working with a Portland resident, Neil Butler, on the initiative movement. Rogers said several other legislators also were cooperating, but he did not identify them.

Rogers said the proposed law was almost identical to the one that won approval in the House during the 1963 legislature. The measure was defeated in the Senate.

Signatures of 37,092 qualified voters would be needed to get the measure on the ballot. Deadline for filing initiative petitions for the November election is July 2.

Sales Tax Sought

Rogers spent most of his time before the committee today pleading for a sales tax which he said would raise between $70 and $74 million a year.

He called for a sales tax to offset steadily increasing property taxes.

"Unless the tax revolt of Oct. 15 is extended to the local level," Rogers said, "local property taxes will continue to rise."

He said 70 per cent of local property taxes went for education.

He said in 1952-53 there were 387,000 census children in the schools, and that in 1963-64 this had increased to 578,000.

Property Taxes Rise

He said the total property tax take for the same period had increased from $105.2 million to $238.3 million.

"We need a sales tax to give property tax relief," he said. He predicted about half of the sales tax income could be used to offset property taxes.

"I ask this committee to prepare a sales tax that can be submitted to the people for a vote while the 1965 legislature is in session."

Rogers said a sales tax was so complex that it should not be initiated.

Views Clash

This clashed with the views expressed by Rep. C. R. Hoyt, R-Corvallis, who suggested a constitutional amendment to pave the way for a sales tax.

Hoyt said it was up to the people to initiate such an amendment.

He said he believed the net receipts tax proposed by Gov. Mark Hatfield was the best way to increase revenues, but noted "It embodies tax reform that is apparently unacceptable to most of the citizens of Oregon."

He added, "I think it is important that the people of Oregon be given an opportunity to vote on a sales tax at the earliest opportunity."

The committee's hearings are scheduled to continue through Saturday.

State Forestry

Timber Is Sold

The state Forestry Department sold two tracts of timber in Douglas County this week through its Coos Bay office. Both are located in Elliott State Forest.

The largest block, called Scholfield Creek No. 2 Sale, contains 2,751,000 board feet of Douglas fir, 23,000 feet of hemlock, 4,000 feet of red cedar, 4,000 feet of spruce and 10 cords of hardwoods.

The tract, located east of Reedsport was purchased by Elkside Lumber Co. of Lake-side for the appraised price of $21.80 per thousand for No. 3 sawmill grades and better of Douglas fir.

The second tract went to Coos Head Timber Co. of Coos Bay. It is the Footlog Ridge No. 3 Sale northwest of Loom Lake. The company paid the appraised $20.25 per thousand for 1,655,000 board feet of Douglas fir. Also included in the tract are 34,000 feet of hemlock and 2,900 feet of red cedar.

Camp Fire Girls Director Sets Speaking Date Here

Gwen Harper, regional director of Camp Fire Girls Inc., will be speaker for the annual meeting of the Umpqua Council of Camp Fire Girls scheduled Jan. 27. The meeting will be held after a 7 p.m. dinner

regional director

Prior to her present position, she was regional field adviser for this area. Miss Harper has also been field director, as well as executive director and camp director of the Dayton-Miama Council of Camp Fire Girls, Dayton, Ohio.

Experienced both as a volunteer and professional staff member, Miss Harper was a Camp Fire Girl in her native city of Portland, Ore., where she earned the highest rank, Torch Bearer in Social Leadership. She received her B.A. degree in sociology and psychology from Willamette University.

In addition to Miss Harper's talk, the annual meeting will feature a review of the council work in 1963 and a resume of goals for 1964. All adults in the Camp Fire program as well as other interested persons, are invited to attend. Reservations for the dinner should be made through the Camp Fire office by Wednesday, Jan. 22.

Pettengill Purchases Apartments in Riddle

C. W. (Pat) Pettengill has purchased the five-unit apartments in Riddle, known locally as the Jack Markham apartments, from Wesley Harris of Myrtle Creek. He has begun the work of remodeling them into a convalescent home with three wards, one for bed patients, and two for ambulatory patients.

He hopes to have the change over completed by the middle of February.

The purchase includes the nearby four-room frame building which the Pettengills will use as living quarters. Mrs. Pettengill, a nurse, will supervise the home.

The Pettengills have one son, Charles, at home and two married sons, one living in Myrtle Creek. The family came from Southern California to Myrtle Creek last spring. Pettengill will discontinue his former occupation of breeding German Shepherd police dogs but will continue to do obedience training of dogs, reports Erma Best, Riddle correspondent.

Watchman Nets Fine

A trial jury Friday convicted Larry Fitzgerald of a charge of failure to provide a watchman in a forest logging operation Oct. 2. He was fined $95 and $5 costs by District Judge Gerald R. Hayes.

The alleged offense took place in logging of the Junction Freida Salvage Sale on the South Umpqua Watershed east of Tiller. He was alleged to have used power driven equipment and failed to provide a watchman from 8 a.m. until three hours after logging operations had been shut off.
