rooters shouted unanimously "long may she wave."

Hayward spoke of track prospects for next spring. "Only five old men have returned, and the loss of Huston and Moon will be especially severe," said he in his quiet, earnest way. "The freshmen must get out and work. If you haven't a suit, come to me and I will give you one. Every man should be out on the track next spring either training or encouraging those who are. If you do that, I will guarantee satisfactory results."

The freshman class organized Monday afternoon, electing George Jett as president. Miss Bertha Masters, vice-president; Miss Florence Brownell, secretary; Lee Morrison, treasurer, and Dean Walker, sergeant at arms.

The Junior class will elect officers on Thursday and the Sophomores Friday.

A reading room is being fitted up in the north end of the Dormitory for the use of the men boarding there. At the election Saturday night, W. C. Nicholas was elected president, and James Neill, Herman Wetterborg, Earl Marshall, and Ferdinand Struck were elected committeemen.

noons as heretofore. Professor Thurber has consented that they may use his room in the Library building and many prominent upper-classmen have volunteered to take an active part in the work. The regular evening for meeting has not yet been decided upon, but until further notice the society will come together on Wednesday at seven o'clock, the first meeting being scheduled for tomorrow night.

Oregon will enter three interstate debates this year besides the girl's contest. There will be the regular debates with Idaho and Washington and a post season debate with Utah. Whitman college has expressed a desire to open debating relations, but as Oregon, Washington and Idaho have an agreement to debate with only state universities, this contest will probably have to be given up.

Many Candidates for the Team

Four of last year's men, Robison, Nicholas, Collier and Ray, have returned to college and all are anxious to go in again to redeem last year's defeat. Besides these, there are several new men who look good to the new coach. Burleigh Cash, alternate on the negative team last year, has returned and Earl Nott, a Junior, from McMinnville college, has had intercollegiate experience. Henry Norton, leader of the Grants Pass High School team which last year won the championship from Pendleton in Villard Hall, and Harold Warner, leader of the losing team, have both entered the University and are anxious to renew hostilities.

From the material on hand Coach Buchen believes that he can develop a winning team. He comes from Wisconsin where debating is as important as football. Two years ago Oregon had a Wisconsin coach, John Brindley, and finished the year champion of eight states.

sition. John Kestly, of last year's second team, is another candidate. For the back field, Clarke, Sullivan, McKinley and Main have returned, yet many new men are contesting their places. Tillotson, a rugby player from Nevada, Walker, from Columbia University at Portland, Barzee of Portland High School, Allen of Monmouth Normal, and Oliver Houston are at present the most promising of the recruits. Under ordinary circumstances it would seem that Clarke, Taylor and Main would be fixtures in this department, but there is a growing possibility that Main will be shifted to tackle, in which case there will be a chance for a new man at half.

Coach Forbes knows each man's capabilities this year and will use them where they will work to the best advantage. They have already been drilled in the famous Yale system, mastering the essentials and leaving more time for offensive team work.

The most important game of the season will undoubtedly be that with Washington at Seattle on Thanksgiving day. This year Washington is weakened by the late opening of college and Oregon has a good chance to revenge last year's defeat. The Agricultural college is very weak in old material this year, but they have a great coach and can be depended upon to put up a game fight. Three years ago they faced the same problem yet held Oregon to a no-score game.

Training table will start at the Dormitory in about two weeks for the men who make the team.
