

UTAH TAKES NEGATIVE TO HOLD DEBATE HERE

A telegram was received this morning from the University of Utah, informing Manager Steele that they had selected the negative side for their debate with the University of Oregon. This makes it necessary for Oregon to defend the national incorporation of all corporations doing inter-state business.

While in Portland last week Steele looked more thoroughly into the matter of holding the contest there and decided that it would be inadvisable. Several old graduate debaters, and members of the Law and Medical Departments thus advised him. His report was accepted by the Committee of Oratory and Debate at their meeting Monday and the contest will therefore be held in Eugene on January 14th.

Fine Program Printed

The programs for the O. A. C. game were printed this morning. They are said to be the best thing in that line ever gotten out in the Northwest.

Each program contains a large half-tone cut of both teams, the coaches, captains, and trainers. A full page is also devoted to a description of each, telling where he is from, his age and what he has done. The line up of both teams is given, showing comparative age, size, experience, and weight. A diagram of the field is shown and a page reserve for keeping score, besides much other information of value to the spectator, and as souvenirs.

The program is mainly the work of W. S. Main, one of the Oregon players and assistant on the staff of the Emerald, assisted by Arthur Geary. They will be sold at the game for twenty-five cents each.

OREGON'S FATE MAY BE DECIDED

out, Main will have to be taken from his tackle position to fill the gap. Scott will go in at tackle. Johnson is a new man who is showing up well and while he may not be used Saturday, he is looked upon as a coming end.

Coach Forbes, in whose promises great reliance is always placed, says that with this week's improvement in team work his men ought to win. He says that the men worked hard against Idaho and expects them to keep up the same quality of fight against O. A. C. Gordon Moores, Captain of Oregon's team in 1907, came up from Portland yesterday and has been working with the ends.

With the cripples doubtful, Oregon's line-up will be about the same as in the last game except that Sullivan will be moved to fullback. Gilles's shoulder is again bothering him, and he will probably be replaced by Storie, who has been showing up well.

The two teams compare as follows:

Oregon	Position	O. A. C.
Michael (172)	L. E. R.	Clark (163)
Dodson (170)
Pinkham (176)	L. T. R.	Wallace (173)
Bailey (236)	L. G. R.	Brinner (175)
Mitchell (188)	C.	Dunn (175)
Kellogg (185)
Storie (186)	R. G. L.	Davis (173)
Gilles (188)
Main (175)	R. T. L.	J. Evenden (178)
Scott (192)
Hickson (160)
Latourette (157)	Q.	Reynolds (122)
Sullivan (166)	F.	Keck (176)
Clark (182)	L. H. R.	Enberg (178)
McKinley (170)
Taylor (164)	R. H. L.	Rasmusen (160)

Oregon average weight, 178; O. A. C. average weight, 170.

Officials will be — Cutts, referee; Luck, umpire; Boyd, field judge; and Archie Hohn, head linesman.

The game will be called at 2:30 sharp. Halves thirty-five minutes each.

LARGE CROWD HEARS HAWLEY AT ASSEMBLY

An exceptionally large crowd attended the student assembly this morning, where Hon. Willis C. Hawley, Oregon's Congressman from this district, gave a lecture on "How a Committee in the House of Representatives Does Its Work."

President Campbell introduced the speaker with a pleasant and complimentary speech, and as Mr. Hawley came forward upon the platform, he was greeted with a long sustained round of applause from the assembled students. The lecture was interesting in the extreme, giving a full and comprehensive view of the committee system which prevails in the lower house of Congress, and the important part it plays in the conduct of national legislation. The address was interspersed with pleasing sidelights upon the customs that hold among the members of the House, which were most entertaining.

In closing his address, Mr. Hawley spoke earnestly in refutation of the statements one hears, to the effect that the House of Representatives is inclined toward corruption, showing that in its organization no member can hope to have any influence, or to hold the respect and confidence of his fellow lawmakers, unless he is a man of tried integrity. No member of the House, he declared, ever occupies a position of importance in its organization until he has shown that he is a person of unflinching truthfulness and honor and an indefatigable worker for the public welfare.

Men Meet Thursday Night

The Men's Meeting in Deady Hall this week, will be held on Thursday night instead of Friday, and President P. L. Campbell has consented to address the young men on the subject of "Some Values of Religious Thought." President Campbell has delivered this address on a previous occasion, and it is said to be one of the best on that subject that has ever been given on the campus. A special musical number by a select quartette has been arranged for.

The meeting will be called promptly at six forty-five and will be dismissed not later than seven forty-five, so that all may be out in time for the football rally. All who attend are expected to wear their rooters' hats and arm bands and be ready to go directly from the meeting to the Dormitory.

1911 Is Champion

Why not have a junior-senior football game? This is the question that members of both classes are asking themselves, and it is rumored that the seniors will soon issue a challenge. For a purely novelty attraction, they say it would beat anything yet undertaken.

Last year 1911 defeated 1912. 1912 has beaten the freshmen, so if the seniors can win from the juniors they will be undisputed champions. The only thing in the way seems to be a lack of initiative on the part of either class. The seniors say their rivals made such a poor showing in the recent track meet that they haven't spirit enough to fight a high school team, to which the juniors retort that the elders are too dignified to put on a football suit.

The meeting of the Faculty Colloquium which was scheduled for last night was postponed until next Tuesday night on account of the reception to Representative Hawley.

Isabelle Hughes and Miss Brodie, of Portland, are visitors at the K. T. house this week.

James O'Dell, '11, was called home last Monday by the sudden death of his father.

IDAHO GAME RECALLS DEFEAT TWO YEARS AGO

Anxiety and doubt were plainly marked on the face of coach, trainer and captain when the Oregon football squad returned from Portland Sunday afternoon bruised and crippled and tired, the men went out on the field Monday and Tuesday in the poorest condition they have shown during the entire year.

It was not that the team lacked care and attention. Fate seemed against them in the Idaho game, and, while its outcome was never in doubt, it left behind a trail of wreckage that Oregon may have cause to look back upon as the most disastrous of any contest in her history.

It bears a striking resemblance to the Willamette game two years ago, which Oregon had been looking forward to as an easy preliminary scrimmage. In fact, there was much talk of advertising it as a second team game. But when the final whistle blew, four of Oregon's greatest players were on the hospital list. Clarke had a sprained ankle, Pinkham had a wrenched knee, Zacharius was absolutely unable to walk, and Arnsperger had several ribs broken. The last was unable to play in the O. A. C. game a week later, and it was doubtless due to these injuries more than any other thing that Oregon lost to her rivals, the only defeat of the season.

In the game last Saturday five of Oregon's best men were injured and two of them are very serious. Besides this, Clarke already had a foot that kept him out of that game, and it is mending so slowly that there is little prospect of his playing Saturday. Walker is also nursing a stiff leg, an injury that Hayward declares cannot be cured this season. It is almost certain that neither of these star men will be in the game against O. A. C.

The other men on the crippled list are Latourette, Gilles, Pinkham and Sullivan. The first named has an exceptionally bad shoulder which may keep him from playing. It is more probable, however, that it can be protected so that he can enter the game, but Forbes doubts whether he will be able to do his usually good work in handling punts. None of the other injuries are serious enough to keep the men out of the game provided they do not get worse. But in any case they cannot help but handicap the players.

These facts are greatly worrying the coach and trainer. One game would not be so bad—the men could stand the punishment all right—but after the first, they will be in no shape for the second. They leave for Seattle Saturday, giving no time to ascertain what shape they are left in and no time for doctoring. The trouble is that so many of the men will have to be kept out of the first game to insure their condition for the second that Oregon is in serious danger of losing both.

"Why, the Gym looks like a hospital every night," said Hayward speaking of the condition of the team today. "It will be impossible for several of the best men to play. Clarke can walk, but he is not able to kick the ball so he might just as well be saved for the next game. There may be a chance of playing him then."

Taylor has been weakened lately by an attack of tonsillitis. Tonight was his first appearance in practice but he will probably be in the game Friday.

Mrs. Young and daughter Frances entertained Saturday evening for the members of the Gamma Delta Gamma Sorority and Mrs. Dunston, Miss Maud Stinson and Mrs. DeCou. "Five hundred" was the game played in which Miss Eva Roche won the prize.

Tickets for the game Friday will be on sale at Kuykendall's drug store and Sid Smith's cigar store tomorrow afternoon and Friday morning. General admission is one dollar and the grand fifty cents.

PRESCRIPTIONS

We use knowledge and care in the selection of ingredients which go into prescriptions, and science in compounding them. Ask your doctor if there are any better drugs than Merck, Squibb and Park Davis manufacture. In case of sickness which is most important, that the prescription be filled by a "cheap" druggist or a GOOD druggist?

Bleachers for Oregon Rooters

The new bleachers finished by the students last Saturday will be reserved for the Oregon rooters in the game Friday. They have seating capacity for eight hundred and the rooters will occupy as much as they need on the west end next to the grand stand. Those rooters who wish to pay for seats in the grand stand will be given seats in the east end of it so that they can form part of the crowd in the bleachers.

The old bleachers on the north side of the field are reserved for the O. A. C. rooters. Between halves the Oregon supporters will dance the serpentine ac-ording to custom on their own field. After the game, the winning side will have the honor.

At the University of California, those rooters who appear on the bleachers without the regulation rooster hat are prevented from entering the rooster section. Each man wearing the official hat is then given a megaphone.

The "Evergreen" published at Pullman, Washington, will offer prizes of ten and six dollars for the best descriptions for the Christmas number.
