

TRUE COLLEGE HAS SOUL SAYS PROF. YOUNG

EDUCATION SHOULD FIT MEN FOR SOCIAL USEFULNESS

Higher Purposes Would Unite Students Without Abolishing Fraternities.

Professor Young, in his address in Assembly this morning "Has the University a Soul?" emphasized the fact that, as man is a social being, the aim of the modern American University should be toward the development of an associated life more than individual achievements, and that the process of education does not consist in courses of study that train men to do one thing for themselves, but in the assimilation of knowledge which will enable them to do great things for the world, therefore being a social process that does not stop short of transforming men. He said that the lack of these conditions is the cause of the low ebb of intellectual ideals in the university of today.

To accomplish this he said, the suggestion of President Wilson of Columbia to relegate the fraternities and other competing interests of the undergraduate to the background and bring the university together into a single university family, would be unnecessary.

After giving a brief review of the idea emphasized by President Wilson in Scribner's magazine for November, Professor Young spoke as follows:

"The problem of kindling life in university work is a problem of having life seen and felt through the university studies—normal, aspiring and achieving life. This realized, there will be no need to escape the distracting influence of the fraternities and other competing interests of the undergraduates, for all will come to the support of the then leading interest and there would be unity and subordination to the higher. This vision of life no doubt could be caught from the teachers in the intimate association advocated by President Wilson in so far as the teachers themselves possessed vision of life. But why not get direct contact? This vitalizing life can best be touched and felt through the students by bringing them up close to the actual world's needs.

"Referring particularly to state universities, why not have them set about to accomplish the purpose for which they were established? They were created to renew the life of the people of the state. Let us give vocational training but have it charged with the deepest sense of obligation to the work of social betterment.

"An institution that would frankly and fully espouse this mission would have all things added unto it. Intellectual solidarity and recognized pre-eminence of its work over all other interests would be won and those who would not, such a spirit animating an institution, respond to the fullest measure of their powers would not of course be university students. Moreover, such an institution would not have to pack its mem-

ANCIENT COINS CLASSIFIED BY PROF. DUNN

The November University of Oregon Bulletin, issued the first of the week, is entitled, "A Study in Roman Coins of the Empire," written by Professor F. S. Dunn, head of the Latin department.

About three years ago Professor Dunn was given a collection of old coins for the purpose of classification. Since then he has spent a great deal of time studying them and has found so much about them that is entertaining and instructive that he decided to publish the result of his study. This and much more about the coins is told in a general way by Professor Dunn in the introduction.

He next takes a more scientific discussion of each coin, taking them in chronological order. The first three are in the Julian-Claudian Era. The first belongs in a way to the reigns of both Augustus and Tiberius, being made by the latter in honor of the deified founder of the empire. The second was coined during the reign of Caligula in honor of the deceased Germanicus and the third in this series belongs to the reign of Nero.

The second period represented is the Flavian Dynasty, of which there are three coins, one belonging to the reign of Titus and two to that of Domitian.

The period represented by the most coins is the Antonines, of which there are eight in the reign of Trajan alone. The description of the engravings on these coins makes an interesting study.

Stag Social at Dorm Friday

A special musical and social evening has been arranged by the Y. M. C. A. as a wind up to the fall work, for Friday evening at seven o'clock. The Dormitory has been secured for this occasion and every man of the school is expected.

Among the numbers on the program that have been arranged for are a cello solo by Lyons, a violin solo by Roach, a number by a quartette, a vocal solo by Harry Ding, a duet by Beals and Geisler. Several other numbers of an interesting nature are planned but have not been definitely scheduled just yet.

Following the program, which should take about three quarters of an hour, will be a stag social, similar to the one at the first of the year at which nearly every student is present. The plans for this part of the evening include refreshments of a somewhat different nature from those usually served up at the stag affairs, but of the kind that will touch the spot in the appetites of most men.

Geisler and Beals, who are making the arrangements for this event, have put considerable time on it and will promise an interesting time.

Dolly Farmer, of Salem, is visiting the Sigma Nu fraternity. He expects to enter the University next semester.

bership together as President Wilson suggests to keep them inoculated with the proper spirit of interest. Its higher purpose would draw all into a living and effective unity. The life of the state at large impressed by its example and influenced by its prestige would be won to the same spirit and endeavor.

LOCAL CLUB IS NOW BETA THETA PI FRATERNITY

DELTA ALPHA GETS CHARTER IN NATIONAL ORGANIZATION

Festivities Follow Initiation Into Mysteries of Wooglin—Local Professors Belong.

Last Saturday night, by the magic wand of "Wooglin" the local Delta Alpha club was converted into Beta Rho chapter of Beta Theta Pi, making the fourth national fraternity at the University of Oregon. The other three in the order of formation are Sigma Nu, Phi Kappa Phi, and Acacia.

The Delta Alpha club was founded in the spring of 1906 by a group of enterprising students, whose efforts have been amply rewarded by the action of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. The local chapter resides at the corner of Twelfth and Mill streets, in their beautiful home which they constructed in 1906.

The charter members of the Delta Alpha club are, George W. Hug, Elgin; O. N. Bittner, Baker City; Guy Mount, Silverton, '07; Olen Arnsperger, Pendleton; Frank Mount, Olympia, Washington; R. D. McCarty, Pendleton; Grover Kestley, Springfield; Don Stevenson, Klamath Falls; Eberle Kuykendall, Eugene; Dan Kelley, Baker City; T. R. Townsend, Roseburg; Virgil Cooper, Baker City; Arle Hampton, Monmouth.

The Beta Theta Pi fraternity is one of the best in the field and the local members as well as the University as a whole, feel proud of the honor. It was founded at Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, by John Reilly Knox in 1839. The fraternity has seventy-two chapters and a membership of over 16000. Prof. F. G. Young and Dr. Timothy Cloran, of the Oregon faculty, are members.

Mr. N. I. Fitzhenry, of the University of Chicago, had charge of the initiation, assisted by Mr. Packard, Mr. Frater, Brous C. Beck, J. Hart Willis, Mr. Wyckoff and W. I. Hetchman.

Delta Alpha's entitled to membership beside the charter members are: G. H. Schumacher, Baker City, ex-'10; Clarence S. Whealdon, Shedd's, ex-'10; Harry J. Hildeburn, Roseburg; Herbert A. Angell, Portland, ex-'11; Merle R. Chessman, Pendleton, '19; Dean T. Goodman, Portland; Louis H. Pinkham, Spokane, '10; John Kestley, Eugene; Ralph R. Cronise, Salem; Melvin P. Ogden, Portland, '11; Edwin F. Fortmiller, Albany; Lester Means, Pendleton; F. Wilbur Schumacher, Baker City; Carl D. Gabrielson, Salem; Sims H. Bittner, Portland; Harry M. Stine, Monmouth; Lloyd O. Harding, Oregon City; E. Llewellyn McKinley, Portland; James S. ... Pendleton, George Sullivan, Oregon City; Frank Sullivan, Oregon City, and R. K. Oberteuffer, Portland.

The following pledges will be initiated by the local chapter at a later date: Harold J. Warner, Pendleton; Carl Martzloff, Portland; Harold J. Broughton, Portland; Wallace Mount, Olympia; Robert Kuykendall, Eugene,

MUST PLAY THURSDAY IF AT ALL THIS YEAR

The Dramatic Club play "A Likely Story," will be presented Thursday evening, December 16th, if the cast can get in shape by that time. Otherwise it will be postponed until after the holidays.

Ralph Moores, the new leading man, is doing well in his part and the club is well satisfied. They expect to keep up the high standard set last year in their two productions under the direction of Miriam Van Waters.

The sophomores at the Gamma Delta Gamma house gave a very pleasant little dance Saturday evening. Guests from Portland were: Miss Gertrude Camp and Elsa Koerber.

Beatrice Pugh, '13, is attending classes after an illness of several days.

Chi Ofega entertained the Lambda Rho girls informally Tuesday evening. Dancing and music made the evening an enjoyable one.

Friday afternoon and evening, December 10, is the date set for the Hyacinth Fair, to be held in the basement of the Presbyterian church. There will be many beautifully decorated booths where blooming plants, needlework and candy will be on sale. Also a beautiful exhibit of pictures is being arranged. A number of amusing features will be in evidence and there will be amusement for everybody. The fair will be opened at one o'clock Friday afternoon.

The University of California championship rugby football team will take a trip to Canada during the holidays to play the British teams.

and Lloyd Barzee, Portland, all in 1913.

After the installation of the delegates and initiates repaired to Otto's Grill where a sumptuous banquet was prepared. Enthusiastic speeches were indulged in by different members, frequent references being made to the mysterious "Wooglin", and the "Dorg."

When the happy meeting was finally adjourned and the members departed for their homes, they proclaimed their assurances of a seat in heaven by the following ditty:

"You won't go to heaven when you die
If you are not a Beta Theta Pi."

SIXTEEN MEN EARN EMBLEMS AT FOOTBALL

NEW RULES WORK WELL UNDER YALE TWO- TEAM SYSTEM

Four New Men Get Letters—Nu- cleus of Twelve Veterans for Next Year—No Sweaters.

Sixteen football men played in the required number of games the past season and earned the official "O". These men will in all probability be awarded their emblems, though nothing is official in the matter until the Athletic Council meets and votes on them.

The conditions are that a man must participate in one entire conference game for in three whole halves before entitled to the "O". This is the new rule revised from last year, when almost the entire squad made their letters. Then it was only necessary to get in a game. The new rule seems to work very satisfactorily. Considering the large size of the squad under Forbes' system, the number is not large. No one made his letter that did not in fact make the team. And, except in the case where injury kept a man out, every one that really made the team earned his letter.

Under the old rule, it was felt that the requirements were not strict enough, especially under Forbes' system. In the early season games every man on the squad played. Two teams are kept during the entire year. Last year this resulted in twenty-two men being awarded their emblems.

A peculiar fact this fall is that of the sixteen men only four—Storie, Kellogg, Mitchell and Bailey—are earning the football emblem for the first time; and of these only two are freshmen. This is due to the number of new players in last year's team and to the fact that few freshmen turned out this fall.

Captain Clarke and Pinkham will each receive their fourth "O". Glenn Scott will be awarded his third football emblem while Dodson, McKinley, Sullivan, Jackson, Michael, Taylor, Latourrette and Kiltz made their letter last year.

Five of these sixteen will not be back next year, leaving a nucleus of nine of this year's emblem winners. Besides these, there will be two old men who were kept out by injuries this year—Gilles and Grout. Walker, the big freshman fullback, will also be a valuable veteran. He made the team clearly this year but was injured in the first Conference game.

The emblems will be presented in a student body assembly soon after the holidays, the exact date as yet being undetermined. It is also uncertain whether a banquet will be given for the team. The season was such a poor money maker that either sweaters or the banquet will be impossible, and the management has not yet decided which will be given. If the banquet is given, the captain for next year will be elected at that time.

A Married Students' Club was recently organized at Indiana University.
