

TWO BIG TEAMS PLAY TOMORROW AFTERNOON

DATE CHANGED SO PLAYERS AND STUDENTS CAN SEE SHOW

Oregon Team, Strengthened by Addition of Walker, Will Meet One of Best Teams in West.

On account of the premier attraction billed for tomorrow night at the Eugene theatre Manager Terry has changed the time for the Oregon-Washington basketball game to four o'clock in the afternoon.

Although Washington has a speedy team, the hopes of the Oregon supporters run high, the improvement shown by the team during the last few days being remarkable.

The Washington men come to Eugene excited by a triumphal tour through the Inland Empire in which they defeated four out of the six teams they met, among the former being the great Pullman team that won from Idaho, O. A. C., and Oregon earlier in the season.

In consideration of their high average and general consistent showing, the Washington team will claim the Northwest championship for this year—a title that can only be determined approximately since no regular schedule has been followed and on one team has a clear record.

During the game Trainer Hayward expects to play the following men: Ruth, center; Elliott, Walker, Cockerline and Neil, guards; Jamison, Stine and Moore, forwards.

DELEGATES CHOSEN TO ORATORICAL CONTEST

At meetings of the different classes Monday and Tuesday the following were elected to represent Oregon at the state oratorical contest to be held at Salem March 11th: Seniors: Benj. Williams, A. M. Geary; juniors: Naomi Williamson, Percy Collier; sophomores: Walter Huntington, Jessie Bibee; freshmen: Emma Job, C. M. Spencer.

Seven of the best men on Michigan's baseball squad were disqualified by the board of control on the grounds of being professionals.

KHODA KHAN RECEIVES AT HOUSE WARMING

The University in general accepted the hospitality of the Khoda Khan Saturday evening when they threw open their beautiful new home in a reception and house warming.

The guests were welcomed at the door and shown through the different rooms of the fraternity house which were decorated tastefully in Oregon grape. Warren's string orchestra was stationed in the library behind potted plants.

Ices and wafers were served in the artistically designed dining room.

Welcoming the guests in the receiving line were Mrs. F. G. Coung, Mrs. M. E. Watson, Mrs. W. B. Mott, Mrs. R. M. Hofer.

Out of town guests were Mrs. W. B. Mott, of Salem; the Misses Campbell, of Roseburg, and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hofer, of Salem. Mr. Hofer is a Stanford man, ex-'09.

The Kloshe Tillacum girls were hostesses at a charming little dance Saturday evening after the Khoda Khan reception.

SENIOR PLAY CHANGED FIRST TOO FRIVOLOUS

The senior play has been changed from "The Private Secretary" to "Capt. Letterblair," an Irish Military comedy of three acts. This has been one of America's favorite dramas for many years and was starred in several seasons by E. H. Southern.

"The Private Secretary" was not a play suited to the dignity of the senior class, for besides being an old chestnut played by every one-horse road company, it possessed a plot hardly as deep as an ordinary musical comedy. "Capt. Letterblair," however, is a play of great dramatic possibilities and with it seniors will have ample opportunity to display their dramatic ability.

The cast includes the following seniors:

Joel Richardson, Roy K. Terry, Wm. Kiltz, Harold Bates, Clinton Shangle, Harold Rounds, Benj. Williams, Dudley Clarke, Jennie Lilly, Ruth Duniway and Frances Oberteuffer. Dudley Clarke and Frances Oberteuffer have been selected for the leading parts.

The first rehearsal was held last evening, the play was read over and parts assigned. It is not yet fully decided when the play is to be staged.

Single Taxers to Form Club

Students of the University who are in favor of the "Single Tax" ideas of Henry George will meet next Tuesday evening at seven o'clock to form a Henry George Club. Several well known men from Portland and elsewhere have consented to address the members during the year.

There are 3,921 foreign students attending the German universities, of whom 298 are Americans.

Charley Mullen, the star first base man of the University of Washington baseball team last year, left school last Friday to join the Chicago White Sox at San Francisco.

SPEAKER PAYS TRIBUTE TO LIVINGSTON'S WORK

R. BUCHANAN ADDRESSES ASSEMBLY ON WORK OF EXPLORER

Compares His Life of Helpfulness With That of Napoleon's Life of Destruction.

"As long as there is an Africa, the name of David Livingston will be known," was the remarkable tribute paid the memory of the great missionary by Dr. Buchanan, the well known African traveller, in his address, "In the Footsteps of Livingston," at Assembly this morning.

The address was extremely interesting because he has gone over the same territory travelled by Livingston and has known Stanley, the man who searched so long for the lost missionary.

He began his address by giving a brief account of Livingston's life leading up to his decision to go to Africa as a missionary, mainly emphasizing the fact that he was a man who was cut out for doing things rather than preaching them. He stated an interesting fact when he said that the ship bearing Livingston to Africa and the one bearing the dead body of Napoleon crossed the equator in the same year, the one bearing a man who was beginning a life of helpfulness, the other the body of a man who had ended a life of destruction.

His arrival in Africa, his difficulties in getting started, the opposition of the orthodox church, his marriage, his journey into the interior and his experiences with the natives are only a few of the interesting things told of by the speaker.

Perhaps the most vivid description of all the scenes which he gave, was that of the Victoria Falls. Only a man, who has had the opportunity that Dr. Buchanan has of seeing this sight, could have told it in such a realistic manner.

He then spoke of Livingston's return to England, of the honor bestowed upon him and his return again to Africa. He told how he became lost, of Stanley's remarkable search for him, and how he refused to return with Stanley.

In closing, he told how, after Livingston's death, his faithful servants carried his body a thousand miles to the sea and of his final burial in Westminster Abbey.

In speaking of talking to Stanley about the wonders of Africa, Dr. Buchanan said that he asked Stanley what he considered the most wonderful thing in Africa. The latter answered: "The character of David Livingston."

Alex Martin, '12, favored the audience with a solo entitled, "The Indifferent Mariner," before the address.

THE KLOSHE TILLACUM INVITATIONS REVOKED

The invitations that were out for the Kloshe Tillacum reception next Friday afternoon, as which Mrs. Arthur Sweetser and Mrs. Wm. Kuykendall were to be patronesses, have been recalled on account of the death of Mr. C. D. Drain, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Kuykendall and father of two of the club girls.

Y. W. C. A. ADDRESSED BY MRS. L. MILLER

The Y. W. C. A. held an interesting meeting Monday afternoon. Mrs. Lischen Miller spoke very entertainingly to the girls on Y. W. C. A. work in Paris.

"No one," she said in part, "can travel without soon recognizing the eminently practical work of the Y. W. C. A. Representatives of the Association meet strangers who come to the city; they take care of the girls and provide homes for them; they maintain an employment bureau; and the importance of their work is understood by the people of Paris. Mrs. Hof, an American woman, is the mother of Y. W. C. A. work in Paris, and, taking a great interest in the girls, keeps up a large part of the expenses of the chateau."

Mrs. Miller then answered questions asked her by the girls who were present. Juliet Cross sang a very beautiful solo.

The general Y. W. C. A. work for the new year has been outlined and the new committees have taken up their duties.

Delegates are already preparing to go to the State Conference to be held in Salem from March 12 to 15.

GREAT PREPARATIONS FOR SENIOR DANCE

One hundred and fifty couples are expected to attend the senior dance, which will be held in the new gymnasium Saturday night. The affair will be strictly informal.

The floor will be in perfect condition as a result of the cleaning and polishing, which is being done this week. The objectionable coat of oil which was first applied to the wood, and which served to counteract the effect of the wax, has been removed. In order to insure the success of the dance, no effort or expense will be spared by those in charge.

Hendershott's orchestra has been engaged, and will be stationed down stairs, thus assuring more satisfactory music. To avoid confusion in the hallway, the Grand March will form in ball room opposite the side entrance of the ladies' dressing room.

A rousing good time is assured those who attend the ball. The grand march will start promptly at eight o'clock, led by Oliver Huston, president of the senior class.

The admission, to defray the expense of the dance, will be seventy-five cents per couple.

JUNIOR CLASS CHOOSES WEEK-END CHAIRMEN

The Junior class has selected the following to act as heads of committees for Junior Week-End: General Chairman, John Kestley; Program, Fritz Dean; Dance, Cal Sweek; Painting "O", Percy Collier; Decoration, Ada Coffey, Chas. Koyle; Refreshments, Cicile Wilcox.

The Philologist Society has decided to inaugurate a new custom by running separate pictures of the members in the Oregonian instead of the usual group picture. Members must have their pictures taken for this purpose at Tollman's Studio some day this week.

In order that a greater number of students might attend and become interested in forensic work, Manager Steele has decided not to charge twenty-five cents admission as he had intended, to the Interstate Oratorical Contest tryout next Friday night. However, the same excellent program will be rendered as at the former contest, consisting of three special musical numbers besides the regular orations.

This tryout will determine who is to represent Oregon in her greatest forensic contest, against Washington, and Montana. This year it is especially important as it is held in Eugene. The University of Montana will make her first appearance and the quality of her work will be tested for the first time before a local audience.

The men trying for the place are exceptionally evenly matched, which fact being realized by the men will encourage each to do his best, and the result will be a very interesting contest. H. J. Rounds' great oration is among the list of attractions and will be given in full, just as it will be at Salem the next week. Ben Williams has also worked his oration over and will do his best to win back his lost honors.

SEASON BASKETBALL SCHEDULE COMPLETE

Manager Terry announces that the basketball schedule is now practically complete. The team will play the last game at home next Wednesday against O. A. C. On Friday they will leave to play the same team at Corvallis Friday night, and the Dallas College team on their home floor Saturday night.

The students of the University of Wisconsin are trying the plan of a "student court," which has original jurisdiction in all matters of discipline except dishonesty in class work. The court is composed of nine members, six from the senior class and three from the junior class.
