

OREGON WINS DEBATE BY UNANIMOUS VOTE

THOROUGH PREPARATION AND SPIRITED REBUTTAL DECIDE

After waiting until after ten o'clock for the arrival of two of the Idaho men, the fair sized crowd that turned out last night for the last debate of the year, was rewarded with an interesting discussion in which the Oregon team carried off the honors by a unanimous decision of the judges—the first victory against Idaho for three years.

The delay was caused by the fact that Holman and Clemens of the Idaho team missed the six o'clock train out of Moscow Wednesday, waited twenty-four hours for another train and then failed to make connections with the morning train in Portland yesterday.

The victory of the home team was due to their thorough preparation of and familiarity with the question. Their opponents succeeded in establishing most of the points of their argument but they based their hopes on a narrow interpretation of the question and wasted a good deal of time on points which the Oregon men were willing to concede. Their delivery was strong. Collier and Spencer of the Oregon team debated the same subject against Utah in January and consequently they were able to discuss the question from any point of view their opponents might introduce.

A. B. Cash, in opening the question for the affirmative, gave an outline of the argument to be produced, defined the important terms to be used, and showed that the evils of corporation influence could not be prevented by state legislation. His arguments were clear and his delivery, except for a slight period of hesitation, was convincing.

Negative Try Strategy

Ransom A. Mackie struck the key note of the negative case when he brought out the difference between production and interstate commerce, maintaining that congress has no power to regulate production. He illustrated by means of a chart and several concrete examples the fact that much the greater part of corporation capital is engaged in production. His delivery was oratorical. He announced that the negative would not depend upon constructive argument but on the failure of arguments in support of the plan of a Federal Charter.

Carlton E. Spencer in continuing the affirmative argument, admitted the main contention of his opponent, but maintained that, although a federal law could not reach a producing corporation, federal incorporation would be entirely effective by virtue of the government's right to "control a creature of its own formation." He showed how, at present, a state may give a corporation power to prey upon all the other states.

Rowe Holeman for the negative maintained that the affirmative had failed to show how the federal government can control production and argued that "between the fields of production and commerce lies the chasm in which the federal charter must be wrecked."

ALL-STAR TEAM IS OUT FOR THE DOUGHNUT CUP

Originator of Doughnut League Manages New Outsiders' Team

Still another aspirant for diamond honors loomed up on the local baseball horizon Thursday when the "All Stars" held a meeting in Villard Hall and took first steps toward the organization of a team which they declare enthusiastically is ready to meet all comers.

The personnel of the team will be made up of men not connected with any club or fraternity. Some strong players are out for places on the nine.

Wendell Barbour is captain of the "All-Stars" and L. H. Gregory, manager. The team is anxious for some good practice games.

"We can't grab the Doughnut cup, of course," said Captain Barbour yesterday, "since that is only for permanently organized clubs, but we are going to make a hard stab for the championship and think we will land it. After the cup is won, we will challenge the winner to a game or series of games. You will see some fireworks when we get into the game."

Ben Williams, president of the student body, will lead the yells and organize a bunch of rooters to back the new team.

EXERCISE TO BE GIVEN ACCORDING TO MEASURE

Physical Education Department Plans Scientific Methods Of Instruction

Trainer Hayward announces that all sophomores and freshmen in his department are to have their physical measurements taken and are to undergo various tests of strength. The measurements will be made from pictures taken of the men standing directly in front of a white cloth, stretched over a wooden frame, on which inch squares have been marked off. On this basis there will be fifty two measurements taken of each man. In this way the curves of the body can be accurately determined and judgments can be made as to how nearly the men approach correct proportions.

Besides these measurements the lung capacity will be determined and each man will be required to undergo several different strength tests.

Trainer Hayward expects, in the way, to obtain an accurate knowledge of the physical needs of each man and will be in a position to prescribe the kind of exercise best adapted to strengthen his physique.

A course for the instruction of library assistants will be offered at the University of Washington. Only upper-class men will be eligible for the course.

After a lapse of more than a hundred years Columbia again has a course in agriculture. One hundred and thirty-five students are enrolled in this department.

OREGON WINS TWO TO ONE FROM WASHINGTON

Decision Satisfies Large Audience—All Speakers Do Star Work

Seattle, Mar. 26. (Special)—In one of the best debates ever seen here, the University of Oregon won a two to one decision in the annual Triangular Interstate debate in Denny Hall last night.

Every man did star work and the contest was very close, the two to one vote just about representing the true merits of the respective sides. The rebuttal work was especially good.

Probably the largest crowd that ever gathered for a contest of this nature here was out last night. While disappointed at their loss, the general opinion was that the decision was correct.

Lecturer is Engaged

Dr. Hugh Black, elsewhere mentioned in this issue, will lecture to the students and faculty of the University and citizens of Eugene, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, March 30 and 31, at 8 o'clock in Villard Hall. The subjects of his lectures have not yet been announced, but it is safe to say that they will be timely questions and it is not presumptuous to say that they will be handled in a masterly manner.

In bringing Dr. Black here the Y. M. C. A. has taken a long step and it remains to be seen whether the student body will show its appreciation with a good attendance.

JUNIOR ORATORS TRY OUT FOR FIRST TIME

A tryout for Junior Oratoricals has become necessary for the first time in the history of the University. Twelve juniors will try for six places Thursday, April 14, at four o'clock.

They are: Varnel Beach, William Beals, Lilah Clark, Mary DeBar, Willis Dunston, Cecil Espey, Madge Hamble, Melvin Ogden, Alice Stoddard, Naomi Williamson and Willetta Wright.

The general athletic committee at Cornell University has decided that no undergraduate shall be permitted to adorn the bowl of his pipe with the letter "C" unless he has won his letter on some athletic team.

This afternoon at Midway Park Oregon won a game, filled with sensational features, from Whitman. The first six innings were scoreless: the feature of this part of the game being Clark's long drive into left field for a two-base hit in the sixth inning. In the seventh inning Whitman made their only run of the game, which was made possible by Oregon's errors. In the last half of the eighth with two men down Chandler drove a safe hit into center field. With this the Whitman team went into the air and allowed the Oregon contingent to score four runs, two of which were made on Dobie's hit.

EIGHTEEN MEN PLACED ON PRELIMINARY SQUAD

Coach Kelly Picks Baseball Team From Large List of Willing Candidates

The best eighteen from among the big squad of men who turned out for baseball practice, have been picked and they, with few probable changes, will constitute the regular squad for the rest of the season. All the men who turned out for practice are subject to recall at any time if it should be found necessary to drop any of the men now chosen.

The names of those who were told last night by Coach Kelly, to appear in uniform today follow: Gabrielson, Henkle, Jamison, Dobie, Newland, McKenzie, Clark, VanMarter, Chandler, Toomey, Word, McIntosh, Allen, Huston, Brovins, Stevens, Barker, Mount.

The engineering students of the Oregon Agricultural College will give an electrical show on April 16th and 17th under the auspices of the Student Engineer, the college engineering publication.

After spending six months in Germany delivering a course of lectures at the University of Berlin, President Wheeler, of the University of California, has again returned to Berkeley.

ONLY ONE DATE OPEN IN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Nov. 5th Left for Possibility That U. of W. and W. S. C. May Disagree

With the exception of one date, November fifth, which was left open for Washington, the football schedule for next year is complete. Since the circulation of the rumor that Washington and W. S. C. have disagreed in their arrangements for a game on November 12, there is still some slight hope of getting a game on November 5th with Washington.

Without this game the schedule will consist of the usual number of games played in past years, but will be unsatisfactory in that there is a strong possibility of it leaving the championship of the Northwest undecided.

The schedule as now arranged provides for the following games:

Willamette in Eugene on October 22. Idaho in Moscow on October 29. O. A. C. in Portland on November 12. Whitworth in Eugene on November 19.

Multnomah in Portland on November 24.

There is a vacancy in the Athletic Council owing to the fact that Louis H. Pinkham, '10, has left school. This place will be filled within the next few days.

Pinkham intends to return next year and will probably assist in the football coaching, as his four years on the team makes him ineligible for the Varsity team.

The policy of formally inaugurating new professors has been established at the University of Washington. The first professor to be thus inaugurated was Dr. Richardson who was formally placed in the chair of European History yesterday.

As a result of a recent investigation at Yale it was found that only about one fourth of the students who attend that institution graduate. There are at present 23,000 alumni of Yale, and besides these there are 6,872 students who attended, but did not receive a diploma.
