May Success Continue

Justification for the permanent retention of a special physical director for the women of the University was completely demonstrated before a large audience last Thursday evening when the first gymnasium exhibition was given by the co-eds who have been taking work under Dr. Stuart, the new instructor. It is often contended that physical culture for women is a mistake, but those who witnessed the graceful work of Dr. Stuart's pupils surely went away with no such opinion.

Nevertheless, while the importance of physical education for women as well as for men is no longer a matter of doubt, the results achieved by Dr. Stuart in her short stay with us are little short of wonderful; and show more than anything else the high rank she holds in her profession. From the first she has contended with handicaps. Lack of facilities and interest in her work have been powerful barriers, but she has persevered and won the highest regard of the co-eds. May her success continue and may she remain to see the culmination of the work she has started when the women receive the attention in her department they are entitled to.

In Explanation

In order that our readers may better understand the working of the editorial staff of the Emerald under the new provision in the constitution, we wish to make a few explanations.

Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the fact that this is no longer a one man paper. The editor-in-chief, while responsible for the general policy, style and make-up, does not have personal supervision over details, such as proof and copy reading, head writing, etc. The editorials will represent his opinions, but are not necessarily his work.

The news editor and his assistant have charge of the make-up. If your story is not on the front page, it is because, in his opinion, it did not belong there.

The city editor and his assistants have charge of gathering the news, writing headings, etc. If your story is too short, he probably did not hear of it until the day the paper comes out. If he did, it probably isn't worth any more.

President Campbell will talk at assembly next Wednesday on the work of the University for next year in connection with the publicity department. It is a question of great importance to the University, and students are requested to be present.

Ormand Bean '09, who has been taking architecture at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, expects to be in Eugene during the commencement week.

GYMNASIUM EXHIBITION ATTRACTS LARGE CROWD

Dr. Stuart Wins Favor of Eugene People by Work She Has Done

In spite of the fact that there were several counter attractions Thursday evening, the balcony of the new gymnasium was crowded for the first Women's Gymnasium Exhibition. A large number of the women of Eugene and nearly all of the faculty were in the audience.

The first number on the program, a grand march with a series of fancy figures served to establish the most cordial relations between the girls and an appreciative audience. The regular gymnasium work followed and then military marching, fancy dancing, jigs and a Hamburg drill went off without a hitch, under Dr. Stuart's direction. A very pretty feature of the exhibition was a quaint Swedish Folk Dance in which sixteen girls appeared in Swedish peasant costume. Dr. Stuart served refreshments upstairs in the gymnasium, afterwards, to all the girls who had taken part.

BOOST FOR 800 IS COMMITTEE SLOGAN

Students Will Work In Every High School For Large Enrollment Next Year

The committee of students appointed by President Williams to boost for an enrollment of 800 next year, met Thursday afternoon, with Arthur M. Geary in the chair.

Professor Alderman, the originator of the movement, outlined the plan of work. The students appointed on this committee are, he said, as nearly as possible representative of every High School in the state. These students are to organize by counties the rest of the students in the university who live in the state. These county committees, under the leadership of one or more students from the county appointed by President Williams are to keep the people of their own county and particularly the students of the preparatory schools who graduate this spring interested in the University, with the purpose of inducing them, if possible to enter here next fall. The county committees are to write articles for the local papers, dealing with the University and particularly with the work the local students are doing here. The High School publications are to be supplied with material, also.

One thing which Professor Alderman particularly urged was for the students to write personal letters immediately to the seniors of their own high school, urging them to go ahead with their education, and particularly to keep the state university in mind as a fitting place to do it.

Chairman Geary added that nothing was more effective with prospective students than personally talking to them, and urged that when the students are at home for the April vacation they visit the High School, get acquainted with the students, talk to them at assembly, and above all things to behave when at home in a manner that will not reflect in the least on the University.

The committee will meet for further discussion of plans next Wednesday afternoon. Following is the list of committeemen appointed by President Williams.

Arthur M. Geary, chairman; Glen

GYMNASIUM LOCKERS ARE BEING PUT IN

The solid steel lockers, costing in all $1200, which, with the other apparatus to be installed, will make the Oregon gymnasium the best equipped gymnasium on the coast are now being put in.

In all there are 336 lockers, supplied by the Medart Gymnasium Supply Co., of St. Louis, Missouri. Two hundred sixteen of these are 12 inches by 12 inches by 36 inches in dimensions. Fifty are 15 in. by 15 in. by 42 inches and fifty, 15 inches by 12 inches by 36 inches. Twenty which are to be installed in the room to be used by the University team are 15 inches by 15 inches by 60 inches. Those set in the main locker room are to be put up in double tiers, back to back; while those in the University room are to be put up in single tiers.

No Training Table, Perhaps

Trainer Hayward announces that, because of the excessive cost, it is doubtful if the track men have a training table this spring. The football table last fall cost $7.50 per man, and it is doubtful if the track management will be able to pay such a price.

Miss Alta Drain, ex-'13, is spending a few days at the Klosche Tillacum house.
