

HOOD RIVER CLUB NOW OWNS HOME IN EUGENE

Five Bachelors Enjoy College Life On Eight Dollars Per Month

With this month's payment, the five boys of the Hood River Bachelors' Club own their little home in Gross Addition unencumbered.

The members of this club organized last year are A. B. Cash, A. D. Garbrandt, R. F. Murphy, H. L. Cash and J. E. Luckey. Clyde Pattee, who is a charter member, did not return to college this year. They do their own work and have it so organized that each man does his part.

These boys, contrary to the usual custom of bachelors, take great interest in all college activities. A. B. Cash is a debater of well known ability, Garbrandt is a promising athlete who made the Varsity track team last year, Murphy is a prominent member of the Dramatic Club and also a promising track man. Luckey is assistant baseball manager, and H. L. Cash is a reporter on the Oregon Emerald.

The boys are always happy and jovial, seeming to live as comfortably on $8.00 per month as most students do on $25.00.

Physical Measurements Taken

Most of the students enrolled in the physical education department were measured last week according to the plan outlined by Trainer Hayward for a more scientific system in his department. There is talk of a special physical director to take special charge of the gymnasium work.

Good Time Promised At Dance

Manager Terry has plans under way for the student body dance April 29th. The affair is to be informal, everyone is expected to come and make it a success, and a good time is assured. Admission will be fifty cents per couple.

Mrs. Carter, of Portland was the guest of the Gamma Phi Betas during the week end.

SENIOR PLAY IS GREAT SUCCESS IN EVERY WAY

not appear on the stage, allowed his mellifluous voice to float in from the wings with telling effect—was all that could be desired to round out the play and make it entertaining and attractive in every detail.

The actors were the recipients of a great number of beautiful bouquets of roses and carnations, in token of the appreciation of their many friends in the audience.

Oskey Is No More

Oskey, the brindle bull pup belonging to the Alpha Tau Omegas, has passed to the land from whence none return. He found some meat put out the other night by the pitiless poisoner, and now his shade awaits at the gates of purgatory the coming of his master.

Oskey was only a pup, but the A. T. O. men expected great things of him, and laid him away with deep regret. Even Parker, though matched with him for certain events, wore his tail at half mast for two days in respect of a cherished rival.

Oskey now rests, "planted" under the apple tree in the back yard of the A. T. O. house, close beside the grave of the other Oskey, who died a year ago of distemper.

The men's meeting this week will be held on Thursday instead of Friday evening, because so many of the students will be gone. One of the strongest addresses of the life work series has been kept till the last, and will be given at this meeting by Judge L. T. Harris. The subject he will speak on is "Law and Its Calling."

Ethel Graves and Kina McKelvie of Portland, are visiting in the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

The Lane County Booster Committee met this afternoon and elected C. E. Spencer, of Cottage Grove, chairman.

TWO MORE VICTORIES MAKE PENNANT LOOM

Clarke had time to return to his base. Inasmuch as Grogan did not take his men from the field until the seventh inning, the audience naturally understood that he was protesting the decision at home. His action in leaving the field precludes the possibility of an official protest, and, moreover, the two contested decisions had nothing to do with the scoring.

RHINEHART WILD

Rhinehart, one of last year's reserves, who went into the box for Oregon at the beginning of the game, lacked control, and after walking the first man up was found for a two-bagger and a home run, which netted Idaho three tallies. Word, who took his place, pitched like a veteran from the first; his speedy curves proving an unsolvable riddle for the batters who had proved themselves such capable hitters. During the remaining six innings he allowed but one hit, a Texas leaguer over second base.

With the beginning of the second inning, Coach Kelly's Hopefuls settled down to playing the brilliantly steady uphill game of which they are capable. After battling four innings with honors even, the Idaho twirler suddenly lost control of the ball, and the whole team went up in the air, allowing both Dobie and Newlands to cross the plate. The seventh inning opened with conditions unchanged, and two of Oregon's cohorts had romped around the bases before the dispute began which ended the slaughter.
