ANNUAL INSPECTION OF CADETS IS SUCCESSFUL

Army Officers Review Various
Companies and Enjoy Brilliant Military Ball.

Corvallis, May 12—The drills and exercises attendant to the annual inspection of the O. A. C. cadets by the war department inspector of colleges, Friday, May 6, was converted into one of the most brilliant social affairs of the year.

The initial feature of the day's exercises was the inspection by Captain M. J. Lenihan, General Staff, U. S. Army. This with the various company, battalion and regimental movements, consumed the entire morning. In the afternoon regimental parade was given in honor of Colonel G. K. McGunagle, First U. S. Infantry, Commander of Vancouver Barracks, Washington, which was followed by the company competitive drills.

In the evening there were individual competitions for the various grades of privates, corporals, sergeants, first sergeants, and a free for all competition. These were held in the gymnasium, and about 9:00 o'clock the floor was cleared for dancing, which was continued until taps at 12:00 p. m.

When the old flagpole which has surmounted the Administration Building for the past twenty-three years was torn off a few weeks ago it struck the building and the brass tip was dislocated. The ball lodged among the rafters and was not removed until a few days ago, when it was opened and found to contain two copies of newspapers published late in 1887 and a "Lay sermon on the labor question" by Robt. Ingersoll.

SIX JUNIORS TO ORATE

Junior Evening Next Friday To
Be Big Event of Week
End

Six Junior orators will make their maiden speeches next Friday night on the annual occasion of the time honored custom of Junior Evening. This will be the first public exhibition of the work of the English and Public Speaking Departments since Professor Carson left, and everyone is speculating as to how it will succeed without her customary guiding hand.

The orators are:
Wm. Beals,
F. E. Dunton,
C. W. Robison,
Alice Stoddard,
Naomi Williamson,
Willette Wright.

SOPHOMORE DEBTS ARE BECOMING BURDENSOME

Every sophomore owes C. W. Walls twenty-five cents. This was decided at the sophomore meeting Friday afternoon. In order that the class may not begin their Junior year with a burden of twenty-five dollars, it will be necessary for every member to pay his or her share of the expenses. Within the next few days the treasurer intends to see every Sophomore and expects all to be ready to pay.

The student council at the University of Illinois is preparing for a musical comedy to be rendered next year.

Come out and support the track meet Friday afternoon.
