

MYSTERIES REVEALED AT LAST TO PUBLIC

EYE WITNESS GIVES VIVID
ACCOUNT OF STUNTS

April Frolic Brings to Light Histrionic Talent of Co-Eds, Heretofore Unsuspected.

Big girls and little girls, fat girls and thin girls, long girls and short girls, girls who presented pretty stunts and girls who gloried in the horror of their part. The Haba Haba Man and a pretty ballet girl; Dutch cleansers valiantly chasing dirt; a trio of naughty waifs from the bowery; a multitude of smudgy babies, all marching solemnly along together—this was the grand march at the April Frolic. There were two pretty girls as Follies, all decked with pen- nants, to lead it, and a ragged child, all dirt and meanness, brought up the rear, while in between marched the girls of the University, all trying their best to be "just something else," and all suc- ceeding marvelously.

Then came the stunts! The girls who gave the little shadow play certainly rivaled the ladies of Burgomaster fame for the stock company honors. If true ability was only more substantially recognized, probably most of us would be spending our week ends in Drain or Coburg, gazing at our friends as they climb the ladder of fame.

There were many aspirants to vaude- ville—a gypsy lady who knew all the ins and outs of a "song and dance" stunt, an illustrated song, and a truly gory impersonation of Blue Beard's Wives. I expect it will be, "Oh, you Orpheum Circuit" for some of the U. of O. damsels anon.

The Punctatums were all there, well trained and docile; indeed, their most Frenchy little mistress had no trouble at all in guiding their nimble feet.

The "Glee Club" rendered several charming selections, which were highly appreciated. And the Ruggles family all tried to be so polite from the lanky, long legged boy, to the wee stubby lit- tlest one who chewed furiously on sticky licorice all evening.

Throughout the entire program five large fire crackers stood near the stage, nobly applauding and piteously weeping at appropriate periods. After the pro- gram the most appetizing ice cream cones were served.

Then everyone danced with everyone, regardless of state, rank or color scheme. Dirt waltzed merrily with a sweet little girl, while the Haba Haba man galloped frantically with Pierrette. One solemn baby ran around all evening with a ragged, naughty person, who had just strayed in from the street.

Finally, everyone went home, resolved to begin at once to originate an entirely new stunt for next April Frolic.

Y. W. C. A. Conference Party

A Y. W. C. A. conference party is being made up and several girls have already decided to attend. The con- ference is to be held at the Breakers Hotel, The Breakers, Wash., from June 24th to July 4th—ten days by the sea- shore. Every girl who can attend should hand in her name to Edith Woodcock. The entire expense of the trip will be about $30.

Dr. Brown Will Speak

At an important meeting of the Y. M. C. A. next Friday night, Dr. Brown, of Portland, will deliver an interesting address on "Health." Because of Junior week end, no meeting was held last Friday night. A large attendance is desired this week, as the address prom- ises to be one of more than ordinary interest.

After the lecture, business of unusual importance will be considered.

JUNIOR ORATORS TELL THEIR AIMS AND IDEALS

response to an encore, she rendered charmingly a Japanese song.

The first oration was by W. M. Beals, whose subject on "Heretics," was well developed and splendidly delivered.

Charles Robinson delivered a very dramatic oration on "The Coast League," comparing the modern civilization with Grecian, and closing with an appeal as to which one the American people shall choose.

Miss Alice Stoddard's oration on "Ac- tion, the Criterion of Character," was an appeal to action, not indifference. The keynote of her speech was that great men had always made their path against all obstacles.

Miss Naomi Williamson spoke next on the subject of the "Relation of Re- ligious to the Educated and Scientific Men."

Miss Willetta Wright gave the last woman's oration. Her subject concerned the Responsibility of the College Woman Towards Life. Miss Wright's oration was delivered with more than usual presence.

The second oration on the subject of "Heretics" was delivered by F. E. Dun- ton. It dealt with the relation of think- ing men to the progress of the world and the persecution to which trend of new scientific theories of all ages have always suffered. This concluded the program for the evening.

BIG CROWD NEEDED FOR PULLMAN MEET

Financial Deficit in Track Must Be Made Up Then, Says
Manager Espy

Washington State College will go up against the Oregon bunch of record- breakers next Friday at 2:00.

Bill Hayward, the veteran Oregon trainer, says: "I consider Pullman team the hardest track squad in the North- west to beat. The team has not only many individual stars, but is very well balanced. We will have to hustle to beat them, but if the Oregon men display the same form they showed against O. A. C. I think we can do it."

Manager Espy is depending upon this meet to make up the financial deficit which track is now facing. Attend- ance at yesterday's meet did not come up to expectations. Though the girls supported it well, it was noticeable that few men were there. Espy hopes to arouse enough interest in this close con- test to have a full attendance not only of college folk, but of townspeople as well.
