

WOMEN SHOW CLASS IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Dr. Stuart Lauds Playing of Co-Ed. Athletic Aspirants

"The girls who have played in the beginners' tennis tournament so far have shown exceptional ability at the game," said Dr. Stuart this morning. Some of them scarcely knew how to throw up a ball at the first of the year, and now they can play a very good game. The handicap tournament is developing some excellent tennis material. Most of the first round matches have been played off. The second round, with the rest of the first round, and the finals, will be played this coming week. The beginners' matches played off so far have resulted as follows:

Celia Hager won from Helen Koyl, 6-2, 6-4; Alice Stoddard won from Vesta Holt, 7-5, 7-5; Miss Curtis from Fay Ball, 6-0, 6-3; Miss Allison from Miss Farnsworth, 6-4, 6-2; Miss Cutler from Esther U'Ren, 6-0, 6-0; Ethel Sharp from Neta Bartlett, 6-3, 6-2.

In the tennis club tournament, for experienced players, several matches have been played. Those reported to date are as follows: Mildred Bagley from Hattie Hyde, 6-0, 6-1; Jennie Fry from Ellen Frink; Hazel Fields from Emma Job; Frances Oberteuffer from Gladys Cartwright, 6-3, 6-2.

Mabel Schult, of Albany, Margaret Egan and Eleanor McClain, of Salem, are guests at the Kappa Alpha Theta's.

duty is to her people, and that until immigration is restricted no great reform can be made.

Miss Jessie Farris followed this by a piano solo, "Polonaise," by Whiting, which was well received.

Mr. M. S. Bullerdick, of Montana, closed the contest with "The Challenge of the Age," "All America," said Mr. Bullerdick, "is proud of her strength and of her example to other nations. But this is not the result of one generation, but of centuries and centuries."

"We too often forget those who struggled and suffered without any apparent reward, that we might enjoy the privileges which we do. Although we live in a great age, yet there are many problems to solve. And we should not scorn, as a knocker and pessimist, the man who tries to bring about reform. Duties," he said in closing, "are ours; events are God's."

The chairman of the evening was Clarence A. Steele, U. of O., '10.

Judges of composition, Professor R. W. Alden, Stanford University, Professor R. L. Lyman, University of Wisconsin, and Professor E. D. Shurter, University of Texas.

Judges of delivery, Rev. F. H. Geselbracht, Albany, Oregon, Attorney Forrest S. Fisher, Portland, Oregon, and Professor G. Mathews, Corvallis, Oregon.

INTERFLOOR MEET WILL BE STRENUOUS CONTEST

Second and Third Floors to Settle Their Disputes On the Track

The Dormitory interfloor meet, bristling with unguessable possibilities about which there are already startling rumors current, will be pulled off on Monday afternoon. In every event there will be a dark horse entered, and the possibility that many new records will be established is strong.

Socrates Myers is training faithfully, and, apparently, will have everything his own way in the high kick. Lee Sam is working like a Trojan and should be able to clip a second or so off the record in the high hurdles. He runs an undignified but startlingly fast race.

For the rest of their points the second floor depend upon the untiring Marshall and dashing Chet Downs, aided by such sprinters as Eaton and Gabriel, and such weight men as Struck and Wattenberg.

On the third floor confidence runs high, and with such men as Billy Neill, Doc Elliott and Clarence Walls in their midst they can well afford to be exuberant.

As the hours pass the excitement is becoming more pronounced. The rivalry is intense. Hourly huge wagers of deserts are being laid by the participants on either side. By Monday the feeling will have reached a white heat, and even now the best efforts of such level headed men as Powell, Brown and Rounds fail to keep order.

What the result will be in a meet in which deadly animosity enters is hard even to surmise. That records will fall is sure, and the team that wins may long point to the bitter contest with pride and gloat over the bedraggled remnants of their adversaries.

James Montgomery, of Stanford University, is visiting at the Khoda Khan house.
