U. O. MONTHLY AWAKENS
Calls for Copy for First Issue In Stentorian Tones

The copy for the freshman issue of the Oregon Monthly will be placed in the hands of the printer tomorrow, and the publication will be out about the middle of the present month. The size of the first issue is to be regulated by the number of names on the subscription list. For this reason the lists that have been posted in the library, Deady and Villard Halls, will be withdrawn this week, and those who have not yet made known their intention to subscribe will have to take their chances on securing a copy of the first issue. Each issue for the coming months will contain from four to five special articles on topics of local interest, and the number of special assignments for the year will amount to about fifty or sixty. The editorial staff will be unable to handle all of these assignments personally, and for that reason wants to enlist the aid of students of the University who are interested in journalistic work and desire an opportunity for developing their talents.

FERD. HENKLE RETURNS
Made Great Success With Seattle,
Still Wears Smile

Ferd Henkle, Oregon's great south-paw, returned to Eugene Saturday evening, having finished the season with the Seattle team of the Northwest League. "Henk" made good from the start, and toward the last of the season was Dugdale's most reliable pitcher. Seattle has retained him for next year. Henkle says that his advent into professionalism was as much a surprise to himself as anyone. He received an offer from Dugdale that it would have been foolish to refuse, and signed on the spur of the moment. "Ferd" reports an excellent summer spent in the various Northwest cities, and comes back in excellent condition. Oregon people are naturally sorry that "Henk" will no longer grace an Oregon suit, but rejoice in his good fortune.

Y.W.C.A. WILL COMPLETE
BUNGALOW JANUARY 1

Y. W. C. A. girls to make this year the most successful in the history of the University. With the assistance of Mrs. Brown, as Secretary, the girls hope to carry to completion their well planned ideas. Their efforts are now bent on completing the bungalow. The contract has been let, and by January 1st is expected to be finished. The building is to be used for a rest room by the members of the Association, also for a place where social gatherings can be held. There will be a buffet kitchen, where lunches can be served for those coming to college from a distance. Mrs. Brown will have her office in the bungalow, and will spend much of her time in helping the girls in this enterprise. A number of social functions will be held during the year, and an acquaintance party for the freshman girls that join the Association is being planned for the near future. Later on in the year other social affairs will be definitely arranged for. Before the Christmas holidays a bazaar will be held to secure funds to pay for the spring expenses. So far everything looks very bright for the girls and they expect a record year.

TENNIS OUTLOOK BRIGHT
Handicap Wili' Start Immediately
After the Christmas
Holidays

"Tennis prospects for the season are bright," said Manager Newland yesterday. "All of the old players are back, insuring competition for the team. The past year was not a success financially, but because of the increased interest the present season promises to be self supporting." An interesting feature of this year's Junior Week End at Oregon will be the annual conference meet of the Northwest colleges, when several of the college teams will be seen on the Oregon courts. Manager Newland intends to have the cement court put in such a shape as to permit playing throughout the entire winter. The annual handicap events will start after the Christmas vacation. This will get everyone in condition early. Manager Newland said: "All freshmen who are interested in the game should enter this handicap meet and show what they can do, as those who get busy during their freshman year stand a much better chance of making the team later." No new courts will be constructed this season, but those started last Junior Week End will be put in shape before spring.

A. M. Geary, '10, is running his father's fruit ranch at Medford, Oregon. In spite of his rural occupation, Geary still finds time to engage in the newspaper business. He is correspondent for the Morning Oregonian.
