

ROLLICKING GOOD TIME ON TAP FRIDAY NIGHT

INDOOR RALLY WILL BE BEST IN HISTORY OF COLLEGE

Cider, Weinies, Boxing and Wrestling Will All Combine to Rouse Old Time Oregon Spirit in Most Sluggish Student

Rich in noise, spice, beef, brawn, cider and sausage, the indoor feature rally is browned to a turn, and will be served to the Oregon rooters on the half shell, Friday night, in the Gym. The boxing and grappling bouts are bona fide and will be pulled off as advertised, the names only being fictitious. The wrestling and boxing classes have brought out a wealth of good material, and from these will be drawn the contestants. No decisions will be rendered by the famous referee, secured especially for the occasion, and each bout will be of limited duration. There are no handicap affairs, for any difference in weight will be balanced by fitting a prisoner's boot upon the lighter man and tying down one arm of the heavier one. The names of the contestants are to be kept under lock and key until eight fifteen of the night of the rally, when the famous announcer, "Maggie" Phone will introduce the principals.

The college band which has been ungoing organization will be bolstered up by the addition of several hired musicians making in all a thirty-six piece silence eliminator under the leadership of the bass drummer, though there will be at least one other soloist. The uniforms for this occasion will be mostly catch as catch can.

The evening's festivities will open with an overture by the band, the hymn "Marquis de Queensbury."

To provide rooters' hats for all, a vendor of classy head harness will be on the grounds with an unlimited stock. The management wishes to announce that all those who are unsupplied may secure a lid by bringing along a little extra change. A quantity of glasses, cups and tomato cans have been secured and will be served brim full to the dry-throated rooters by trained cider slingers.

The merchants of the town have contributed liberally to the rally fund and it is through their liberal assistance that it has been possible to complete the rather elaborate plans.

"Everything for Oregon" will be the slogan translated literally, and the management announces that any attempts at clannishness will be broken up and assayed. Oregon spirit will be instilled into two by four hearts and the man that said Oregon spirit was dead will be a candidate for the undertaking fraternity.

Mrs. Alice H. Dodd, who was last year house mother at the Kappa Alpha Theta house, is now touring the world. She sailed September 12th for the Orient, and from there she will go to India, where the greater portion of the winter will be spent. Mrs. Dodd expects to be away two years, after which she will return to her home in Salem.

PLAN RADICAL CHANGES IN PAN-HELLENIC RULES

The Pan-Hellenic Association met last Tuesday night to make some changes in the present rushing rules. An entirely new set of rules has not been decided on, but the members of the association are planning some radical changes.

Pledge day will be earlier next year, so the rushing season won't be as long as this year. If arrangements can be made for the accommodation of the guests, they will not live in the different houses. A good boarding house will be provided, over which an official chaperon will be placed. Here the girls can stay during rushing season, and then after pledging day can go to the houses.

A discussion of other rules was carried on in the last meeting, but no other changes were definitely planned.

L. H. Gregory, who started the famous "Midnight Doughnut," is attending the University of Washington this year. He is taking special work in the excellently equipped journalism department opened last year at Washington, under the direction of Professor Thorpe.

FRESHMEN LOOK GOOD

Gordon Moores Will Prepare Youngsters for Their O. A. C. Game

Rumor at this time has it that unless Fenton, Hall, Caulfield and Fiser are transferred to the Varsity squad, the freshman football team will be unusually strong.

New signals and new formations are being perfected, and the team rounded into shape for its initial game, which will be played with E. H. S next Saturday on Kincaid Field, just before the alumni game.

The classy Eugene High team, with a number of veteran players will be the "Frosh" adversary. Eugene High has always made a good record against Oregon, and will put forth a special effort Saturday.

Besides the four men mentioned above, other freshmen who are showing up well are: Cobb, Bean and Reynolds in the back field, Bradshaw and Annuson at the ends, and Grout and Ferguson in the line.

Gordon Moores will probably be given entire charge of the freshman team in the future, and will make every effort to round it into a shape that will carry the O. A. C. babes off their feet November 5.

The freshman game between the Oregon and O. A. C. freshmen will undoubtedly attract much interest this year, not only on account of the excellence of the teams, but because, as Mr. Moores says, "the outcome of the freshman game, to a large extent, predicts the future strength of the college teams."

Mrs. J. C. McAdams, of Portland, is visiting her daughter, Maurine, at the Kappa Alpha Theta house for a few days after which she will take up her residence at Professor Straub's for the winter.

Harry Swart and H. F. Clarke are sophomores in the Law Department of the University of Oregon at Portland.

ALL NORTHWEST MEN TO COMPOSE ALUMNI TEAM

OLD TIMERS WILL FIGHT TO PUT SPIRIT IN VARSITY

Team Will be Made Up Mostly of All-Northwest Men Who Are Veterans of Many Games

Manager Pinkham has, this last week, received numbers of encouraging letters from the old stars, and from present indications there will be a brilliant galaxy of them twinkling on Kincaid field next Saturday.

Numbers of them are planning to sacrifice business interests and to revisit the gridiron to show up Coach Warner's bunch.

Spectators are generally surprised at the fierceness of these games, as they are generally the hardest fought of any early season contests. The alumni invariably come up with the determination to tryout the mettle and gameness of the new fellows, and while their wind lasts, always show the Varsity a good time. It is not uncommon to see a veteran lineman deliberately rough the younger man to teach him foxiness and fight.

The alumni team will be largely composed of All-Northwest men, men who have even national reputations.

George Hug will play center. In 1906 he played against Overfield, the All-American man, who acknowledged Hug to be the strongest opponent he had ever faced.

Khaki Moulten will be back in the game doing the alumni kicking. It is a fact not sufficiently realized that Moulten holds the world's record for a place kick, having dropped the ball over from the 55-yard line against Idaho in 1908. While playing for Oregon, he made 127 points by kicking.

Jack Latourette will play quarter, and the Latourette family needs no introduction to Oregon football fans. Jack played quarter four years, and was for three years an All-Northwest selection. He has been playing club ball since graduation, and is in excellent condition. Last year it was his timely place kick that defeated the Varsity 4 to 0.

The story of the Templeton boys, Frank and Joe, is a classic in Oregon football history. Frank was one of the greatest defensive players that ever wore a suit, and any freshman that bumps into him on the field will learn a little of the old style ball.

Jack Hickson, ex-'12, will probably hold down an alumni wing, and should get away with a forward pass or two.

Louis Pinkham needs no comment. He has given the Varsity four years of excellent service, and as he is in the pink of condition, should be a valuable man for the alumni.

Altogether the alumni will be stronger than ever before, and unless the Varsity is alive, the old grads will roll a bigger score than last year's 4 to 0.

OWL CLUB WELCOMES TWENTY FRESHMEN

The Owl Club met at the Lambda Rho house last night for the first meeting of the year.

Homer Maris, '13, was elected president, as he represents the first graduating class ever put out by Washington High School. The Owl Club is composed of students from Washington, and is organized for the twofold purpose of sociability and advertising for the University. The Owls keep in touch with their prep school, and endeavor to attract students to Oregon. The success of the organization is witnessed by this year's increase in membership from 8 to 28.

The new members are: Ellise Shearer, Rose Basler, Maurine McAdam, Lucia Macklin, Norma Dobie, Marjory Rankin, Wm. Bennett, Wm. Ferguson, Henry Fowler, Charles Fowler, Byron Houck, Fred Anneson, Parks Morden, Waldo Miller, Delbert Stanard, Colton Meek. Sophomores: Aline Noren, Nettie Drew, Elizabeth Lewis, Carin Degermark, Homer Maris, Henry Bauer, Warren Cozens, Lloyd Barzee.

Y.M. ENROLLS CLASSES

Workers Will Start a Whirlwind Campaign to Fill Classes

A unique feature in securing a large enrollment for the courses of Bible Study that are presented by the Y. M. C. A. will be attempted on Thursday evening, when Walter Huntington, chairman of that department, will head a committee of forty men who will make a quick canvass of all the men in the University between the hours of seven and ten. Huntington has set his aim at securing an enrollment of two hundred men this year. He has picked out three or four of the most interesting and educative courses of study, and has secured a number of strong men from the Faculty, the students and the business men to lead these courses. The stand of the committee in asking all the men of the University to sign up for a course is that whether a man can agree with the principle of the Bible or not, his education is decidedly incomplete without some knowledge of this book, that has had such a decided influence on civilization.

The campaign will be started off by an address by Mr. Henry W. Davis, former religious work director of the San Francisco Y. M. C. A., and also of the Portland Association. The weekly Y. M. C. A. men's meeting which usually is held on Friday evening, has been changed for Thursday evening this week, in order not to interfere with the big rally. The meeting this week will begin promptly at seven, the address by Mr. Davis on the subject, "The Value of the Bible in Modern Education," short and to the point, will be given at 7:15, and the committee of forty or fifty men will begin the campaign at 7:45.

At 10:00 the committee will come together at the city building to report and enjoy a feed, together with all the men of the school who will accept the invitation to present themselves at the city building after they have been interviewed concerning enrollment in one of the courses.

EUGENE WILL AT LAST HAVE FILTERED WATER

STANDARD FILTRATION PLANT IS BEING INSTALLED

System Guarantees Water 98 or 99 Per Cent Pure. Plan Has Worked Excellently Where Tried Elsewhere

The $40,000.00 filtering plant ordered for the city of Eugene at the bonding election last spring, is well under way, and will probably be delivering water 99 per cent pure by the first of the year.

The footings and moulds for the concrete have been completed for some time, and this morning the concrete crew began to fill the moulds. This part of the work should be completed within two weeks, and the remainder, including the setting up of the filtering apparatus itself, should not require more than two months, say the members of the Eugene water committee.

The water is pumped from the river into two large settling tanks, 20 feet in diameter and 19 feet high. From these tanks it is led to the filtering units. Four of these units, each with a capacity of 500 gallons each twenty-four hours, are to be installed at once, and foundations set for two more to be installed as soon as the needs of the city warrant it. After settling through four feet of fine quartz sand, chemically treated to prevent the passage of bacteria, the water settles in a large well, from which it is pumped into the city mains. Every twenty-four hours the filters are washed thoroughly with filtered water. Frequent tests made on water passed through this process have demonstrated that it runs from 98 to 99 and in rare cases 100 per cent pure.

The pumps will be run by electric power from the municipal plant on the McKenzie.

The plant is very similar to the one which has been giving eminently satisfactory service at Oregon City. The New York Continental Jewel Filtration Company, which has installed filtration plants of a similar nature in numerous American and foreign cities, is installing the gravity units here. One of their plants, that at Alexandria, Egypt, which has a reputation for the dirtiest water on earth, is producing water with a very high purity.

The fight for pure water at Eugene has been long and varied. Now that the Springfield sewage and other impurities present in the Willamette river are to be removed from the product consumed by Eugene people and University students, there is a marked feeling of relief, not only in Eugene, but all over the state.

Yell Leader Robison and a corps of lively assistants have been busy today plastering the town with the rally posters. The posters are one of the most original things ever seen on the campus, and though replete with illiteration and nonsense, will no doubt fulfill the purpose, and attract students to the rally. Only a limited number have been printed, and those not posted will be later sold, as souvenirs.
