

U. OF O. EXPECTS TO WIN FROM MULTNOMAH CLUB

SAP LATOURETTE WILL NOT BE IN GAME THURSDAY

Club Team Will Contain Many of Her Old Stars—Not the Same Bunch Willamette Met.

The overwhelming score by which Willamette University defeated Multnomah might seem to boost Oregon's chances against the club men by several points, but it must be taken into consideration that it was practically a second team that went down before the Methodists. This does not mean that the Salem contingent does not possess some good men, for Rader, Cummins, and a few others, would make good on most of the conference teams. Yet the "Salemites" would not be considered formidable opponents to the Varsity aggregation.

The real winged "M" stars, however, were out of Thursday's game, and the lineup that confronts Oregon on Thanksgiving Day will be noticeably different. Dudley Clark and Carl Wolff, conceded to be two of the greatest punters who have ever performed in the Northwest, will be in the lineup. Carlson will also parade a red jersey, as well as Jack Hickson and Jack Latourette. Even the veterans, Stott and Lonergan, may join the squad to assist by advice, if not by actual gridiron service.

"Sap" Latourette will, more than likely, be out of the game, which will detract from Oregon's back field speed. Again, Oregon is, for the first time this year, to face a heavier forward line than her own.

Prominent dopsters all agree that Oregon is to bump into a sturdy team before their turkey luncheon, but concede the lemon yellow a shade the better of the paper argument.

ELEVEN O'CLOCK CLASSES AT TEN WEDNESDAY

All eleven o'clock classes will come at ten Wednesday, at the regular assembly hour. Many students wish to take the noon train north, and it is to accommodate these that the faculty has dispensed with assembly and agreed to dismiss all classes for the Thanksgiving recess at eleven instead of twelve Wednesday.

Petitions for social functions should be filed with Professor Glen before the first and third Wednesdays of every month.

Friday evening a few friends who happened in enjoyed informal dancing at the Lambda Rho house.

MR. WASHBURNE TALKS

Thursday evening Mr. Chester W. Washburne, of the class of 1905, gave an address on "Petroleum Fields," under the auspices of the Department of Geology. He has made a special study of this subject in connection with his work with the Geological Survey, and was able to give the results of considerable personal research work. He attacked his subject from a professional standpoint, discussing theories for the origin and accumulation of petroleum, with pertinent illustrations from his observations in American oil fields. A number of townspeople attended the lecture.

Classes in resting for the benefit of nervous girls have been introduced in the gymnasium at Wisconsin.

HAVE YOU SEEN CARL FENTON'S BRIGHT EYE?

No, It Wasn't an Agric Rooter, But Merely Ben, that Did It

"Old Roman" Ben Grout bears a dented cranium, and Carl Fenton wears a coy, Cyclopean expression as the result of a misunderstood signal.

It occurred at Thursday's practice. An end run was called. Fenton started one way just as Ben came steaming by headed in the opposite direction. The seismic instruments at Portland oscillated violently. It was a graphic illustration of the old problem of the irresistible force and the immovable body. Both were annihilated, or at least put out for the count. However, Fenton's brilliantly variegated and enlarged eye appears to be the only serious effect.

THESPIANS SELECT CAST

William Beals, Will Play Lead In Clever Sketch

At the Dramatic Club meeting Thursday, the cast was chosen for a lively two-act sketch to be presented on the third Thursday in December.

The six parts in the cast are to be filled by William Beals, Janet Young, Pearl Wilbur, Alma Noon, Madge Hambell and Rachel Applegate. The sketch is short, but it is expected to be quite successful.

This will be the first of a series of plays to be given during the year. There will be one heavy production at the Eugene theater on the Thursday night of Junior Week End.

At this meeting, it was also decided to hold a tryout for the Dramatic Club for men alone on December 5. All men with any talent are urged to tryout.

There are 765 women enrolled at the University of Washington.

LEAGUE GETTING BUSY

Freshmen Have Chosen Fenton Captain—Huggins Manager

The students of the University are taking a lively interest in the new inter-club and inter-class basketball leagues formed last week.

So far, however, only the Freshmen have elected their captain and manager. At a meeting Wednesday afternoon, they chose Carl Fenton for captain, and Chester Huggins for manager. Despite the prospects for a star Freshman team, the Juniors still consider themselves invincible. A prominent member of their class was heard to say, "It will be just the same walk-over for the Junior class that it has been for the past two years. All that will be heard of the other teams will be a dim and distant murmur; we are the big noise."

The games will be played under inter-collegiate rules. The schedule for the inter-club league will be arranged Monday by the committee in charge, and will be announced in these columns.

The rivalry in this league is expected to eclipse that displayed in the baseball race for the famous Doughnut cup. Although none of the clubs or fraternities have announced the lineup of their teams, judging from the material available, the strength of most of the organizations should be about equal, promising keen competition.

The Gamma Delta Gammas and a few of their friends enjoyed a little informal dancing in their new house Friday evening.

BOTH FACULTIES BUSY INVESTIGATING RUMPUS

VARSITY FACULTY IS TAKING VOLUMINOUS TESTIMONY

O. A. C. Also Testifying to Prof. Heltzel a sto Share Agric Took In Late Unpleasantness.

The investigation of Saturday's affair at Corvallis has been instituted by the University faculty committee, consisting of Professor Howe, chairman, and Professors Straub and DeCou.

The examination is being conducted thoroughly and systematically, with the purpose of bringing out every bit of evidence capable of throwing any light on the affair. A large number of witnesses has been examined, in the two days the committee has been working. The purpose of the investigation is to satisfy the faculty of the exact part taken in the fracas by Oregon students, and also to obtain testimony for a conference, which will probably occur between the committees from the two college faculties. Just when or where this conference will take place is as yet undecided.

The O. A. C. faculty is conducting a similar investigation in Corvallis, with a view to throwing light on the part the Agric students took. In the absence at Washington of President Kerr Professor Heltzel, of the College English Department, is taking testimony and has requested in the "Barometer," that all testimony be submitted.

Meanwhile, the Varsity investigation goes merrily on, and Bert Prescott, secretary to the committee, is busy taking volumes of evidence of witnesses to the different affairs.

IDAHO PLAYS CLASS FOOTBALL GAMES

University of Idaho, Nov. 14—(Special news letter.)—In a hard fought game, Saturday, November 12, the Freshmen held the Sophomores to a 0 to 0 game of football. The game was played most of the time in the territory of the Sophomores. The plays were mostly individual, rather than team work. Such men as Bennett, Gray, Loux, Burns and Driscoll would be good men on a collegiate team, and could easily make the team if they would only try.

Next Saturday afternoon the law students will play the combined teams of the Freshman and Sophomore classes. A hard game is expected. The law students have a heavy team, as well as four or five fast men, and they expect to set the underclassmen to thinking. The game promises to be very exciting and is arousing much interest among the students.

NEWLAND HAS PROGRAM

The football program for the Oregon-M. A. A. C. game this year will be published by Martin Hawkins and Ralph Newland. While the program will be inferior to none published for Oregon games in the past, it is the aim to offer this year's pamphlet at a greatly reduced cost. They will be sold at ten cents per.

Cuts of the Oregon team, players, manager, coaches, trainer and Glee Club will appear; likewise the Multnomah players and team.

* Yale and Harvard played each other to a standstill today. Neither team was able to score.

SAP FINDS KNEE STILL TOO WEAK FOR GAME

Latourette Returns Thursday After Nursing Bad Injury

"Sap" Latourette, who went home on Tuesday with his knee injured from the big game, returned yesterday and immediately turned out with the team.

He discovered, however, that, though the cast is off, and he can walk fairly well, his knee is still stiff, too stiff to permit his again participating in the game, and he will not enter the Thanksgiving contest. This means that either Ben Chandler or Earl Cobb, probably both alternately, will succeed to his position at quarterback.

While in Portland, Sap officiated as usher at the wedding of his brother, Howard, who was a student here in 1903 and 1904.

STARS MAY BE DEBARRED

Jomison and Fenton May Have to Give Up Basketball

Reports are around the campus that Captain Homer Jamison and Carl Fenton will be debarred from participation in Varsity basketball this coming season, because of having played football.

There is an old faculty ruling to the effect that no student shall take part in more than two branches of athletics, especially at the same season. This ruling has been repeatedly disregarded, however, notably by baseball men, and the impression is that it had completely lapsed. Anyhow, it is urged basketball and football are not active at the same time, and participation in both does not make demands upon the student's time.

The faculty athletic committee, consisting of Professors Glen and Leonard and Trainer Hayward, are considering the application of the rule in the cases of Jamison and Fenton.

TEN DEBATERS TRY OUT

Two Men Will Represent Oregon at Salt Lake

The first tryout for the Utah debate was held last night in Villard Hall. Ten men were entered, six of whom were Freshmen. Although none of the debaters showed up brilliantly, the speeches of all were effective in upholding or condemning a system of postal savings banks.

The following men are trying out: J. V. Yaden, Otto Heider, Ray, and King, on the affirmative, and Motschenbacher, Spencer, Crockett, Dunlap, Zimmerman, and Haugen, on the negative. The judges are Prof. DeCou, Dr. Gilbert and Prof. Buchen.

The tryout was the first of three which will be held before the team is finally selected. The second tryout is scheduled for next Tuesday evening at 7:15, after which all but six men will be eliminated from the contest. These six will meet each other in a final debate to be held November 29th. At this time two men will be chosen for the team which will meet the University of Utah at Salt Lake City on January 13, 1911.

Week end guests of the Kappa Alpha Thetas are: Vera Redmaw, of Portland, and Mabel Robertson, of Salem. Alberta Emerich, who has been at the Theta house, has left for her home in Medford.

Miss Helen Cake is visiting at the Chi Omega house.

The Lambda Rhos entertained with an informal dance Friday evening.

U OF O HAS STRONGEST CHAMPIONSHIP CLAIM

WASHINGTON WOULD NOT COUNT PUGET SOUND GAMES

Oregon Has Tried to Get Game With Coach Dobie's Men All Season, but W. s Refused.

Unless Washington defeats O. A. C. on Thanksgiving Day by a score much larger than did Oregon last Saturday, Oregon will have undisputed claim to the championship of the Northwest.

Every other conference college is already eliminated; Whitman by defeat by both O. A. C. and Washington; O. A. C. by last Saturday's defeat; and Idaho by losing to both Oregon and Washington by a 29 to 0 score.

In comparative scores, Washington has played three conference games, and Oregon two, with the average score slightly in favor of Washington. Both defeated Idaho by the same score, but it must be remembered that Oregon defeated them on Idaho's own field, when they were in perfect condition, while Washington met them at Seattle, and after their hard fought game with Oregon only the week before.

If the University of Puget Sound games are included in the comparison, as is only fair, since both colleges played the former institution, the average score is overwhelmingly Oregon's. Washington, however, insists that inasmuch as it was not a conference game, it should be disregarded, and Oregon's score of 114 against them, to Washington's record of 59, thrown out of the comparison.

Again, Oregon has not been scored on, while Washington lost eight points to Whitman. In any case, if Corvallis can hold Washington down to a no score game, or even to a small score, at Seattle, Oregon will prove its case easily by comparative scores.

But even if O. A. C. loses badly to the Seattle University, Oregon still has the claim to the championship by Washington's refusal to play Oregon. Ever since the first of the season, Coach Warner has been "ready to play Washington whenever they consent to meet on even terms," but Oregon's repeated challenges have been refused or entirely ignored by Washington. It has looked for some time as though Coach Dobie is afraid to meet Warner's men outside of his own dear Seattle. His repeated refusals to Oregon's challenges would indicate as much.

The football managers of Harvard and Yale expect a great rush for tickets to the annual game this year. The stands will hold but 33,000 people, and the managers say they could sell 150,000 seats if

DODSON BACK IN GAME

Ralph Dodson, '10, who is now attending Johns Hopkins University, has made the Varsity football team at that institution, and is playing left end. The fact that Johns Hopkins is not a conference college, made it possible for "Doc" to play in his first year. He is pursuing a medical course.
