MANY VARSITY PEOPLE SEE MARY MANNERING

Great Actress Gives Forcible Presentation of a "Man's World"

Eugene theater goers were given a rare opportunity Friday evening to see one of the strongest and best of modern plays interpreted by Mary Mannering, in a manner which left nothing more to be desired. "A Man's World" is the story of one woman who refuses to accept the double standard of morals—one for men and another for women. The heroine rebels against the ethical system which allows a man to do with impunity that which a woman must pay for with her life, honor, and everything which makes her life worth living. Neither will she passively accept that "this is a man's world. Man sets the standard for woman. He knows that she is better than he is, and if she isn't she has to suffer for it. Men are men."

Mary Mannering, as Frank Ware, the successful, talented and idealistic woman who lives up to and puts into practice her ideals and theories, refusing to marry the man she loves, because he does not measure up to her standards, interprets her lines with an extraordinary vividness, genuineness and charm. She is ably supported by Alphonse Ethier as Malcolm Gaskell, who insists upon the double standards and lives to make Frank look at things as he himself does. Mark Short, as Kiddie, the nameless little boy whom Frank adopted as a baby, is as natural a child actor as one could wish to see. Chas. Cryngate, as Fritz Bohn, the unsuccessful, lovable musician, and Claude Boyd as Emile Grimraux, the French artist, are both deserving of much praise.

Taken as a whole, "A Man's World" is one of the best of recent dramas and presents its lesson and problem clearly and cleanly. The audience was remarkable because of the great number of Varsity people present.

MANAGER COCKERLINE DOPING OUT SCHEDULE

In addition to the above schedule, Manager Cockerline announces that several other games will be played on the home floor. Next Saturday night the Varsity will play either the fast quintet from the Oregon School of Medicine or a team from Portage, Wisconsin, which will be through here about that time. It may be decided to play both teams. A game will be played with the Woodburn Athletic Club some time between February 7th and 17th. It is probable that several other contests will be scheduled to fill in between the conference games.

O. A. C. Needs $410,000 FOR NEXT TWO YEARS

In line with the rapid growth of educational facilities throughout the state and in conjunction with our request for a similar amount, the Oregon Agricultural College has asked the present legislature for an appropriation of $410,000, which is about one thousand more than Oregon is asking.

Among the interesting items is one for $70,000 annually for maintenance in addition to its present amount. Additional buildings, books, facilities, instructors and other necessary items are recommended.

"The cost of living's very high," the student murmured with a sigh; "when I have paid my laundry bill and nicely lined some merchant's till, and bought my "eats" and other stuff, my check book's looking pretty tough. There's something wrong, somewhere, I think, this world is surely on the "blink," and figures don't amount to shucks, when living costs so many "bucks."

The Tri Deltas entertained Mr. and Mrs. Brown and Dr. and Mrs. Clark at dinner Thursday evening.

Miss Helen Kinney, ex-'11, of Leona, Oregon, is visiting at the Tri Delta house.

PROF. DUNN PUBLISHES ARTICLE ON C. J. CAESAR

Has Made Extensive Study of Deification of Roman Emperors

Professor F. S. Dunn is the recipient of considerable honor in the recent publication of a scholarly paper of his in the proceedings of the American Philological Association. The paper deals with the "Deification of Julius Caesar," and is the result of an extensive study by him of the life and work of Caesar. The paper opens with a brief resume of the general causes which led up to Caesar worship, and then takes up in detail a rehearsal of the actual events which led to Caesar's deification by the Romans. Its discussion is chiefly confined to the incidents which preceded or immediately followed his assassination.

The article closes with the aggressive measures of the Consuls, Antony and Dolabella, in suppressing the worship of Caesar.

Professor Dunn has written a number of tracts dealing with classical subjects, many of which have been recorded honorable recognition.

The Juniors put up the poorest game of basketball that they have played this year, and the Sophs the best. There is a rumor afloat that the Sophs enticed some of the Junior players down to the bean feed, and thus rendered them groggy for the consummation of the Laraway cup series.

EDITOR OF CORNELL DAILY SUN IN EUGENE

Mr. S. Griffiths, Cornell, '10, dropped into the Emerald office today and inspected the workings of the elaborate plant. Mr. Griffiths was editor of the Cornell Daily Sun, and accompanied Mr. Taft on his Western tour as reporter. He is now connected with the English Department at O. A. C. and runs a Rogue river apple ranch as a side issue.

Friday night he served as one of the judges for the Cottage Grove High School debate, and leaves Eugene this evening for Corvallis.

Good intentions won't pave any streets in Eugene.
